

Chapter sixteen

Lina POV.

I woke up, looking around, seeing it sunlight trying to get past years curtains. I feel Alex's strong arms and I smile to myself. I feel so safe and good when he holds me. I don't want to wake him, so I lay still. I think about last night and everything that Alpha William told me. My parents were werewolves. I am a wolf.

I feel Alex starting to wake up, but I don't move, and he kisses the back of my neck and shoulder, his hands finding their way under the T-shirt to touch my stomach. I can feel him against my ass before I know why I feel myself tease him by wiggling my ass just a very little bit.

"Lay still baby, or I lose my control," he growls softly in my ear as he nips the skin on my neck. I giggle at him.

"Alex?"

"Yes, Beautiful?"

"I need to know more about me, about my parents." He looks at me

"We can ask my dad. He mindlinked me when they leave the room last night. To come when you're ready." I nod my head.

"I am scared."

Alex looks at me. Then smile pulling me to him.

"Why you scared baby."

"My world just changed again Alex, it's scary. I mean not what it's changing to, finding out I'm your made, saved me, that alone is more than I ever dared hope for. Now I found out I am a wolf. It's a whole new world." 3

"You are right, it is a lot, but remember you are not alone." I smile and kiss him.

We get out of bed and after I went to my room to shower and get dressed, I open the door to see Alex standing in the hall waiting, and we go to his dad's office.

"Ah, there you are. How you are feeling today, Lina." Alpha William asks.

"I am good, just really want to learn more."

"Yes of course. Come sit." We all sit on the couches

"Okay Lina, first you need to know I didn't know your mother very well. And I only met her a few times. But I can tell you about your dad, growing up he was my best friend."

"Thank you Alpha, I am just happy I will know a little bit about them." I smile.

"Lina your parents were amazing people, your dad and I always got in trouble growing up, but we always had each other's back. Then I met Elizabeth, and not long after he met your mom." 1

We talked for a while, and the stories he had about my dad made me laugh.

"When we didn't hear from them, I took my warriors and went looking for them. We found them just outside our territory. What we found haunted me for a long time. We searched for you for many days but didn't find you, and my spies told me how weren't back at their pack, so I assumed you were dead too." I nod my head.

"I wish I would have had more time with them." I leaned into Alex seeking comfort from him and he put his arms around me.

"Yes, but they loved you very much, Lina. After we found them, we brought their bodies with us home and buried them here at the graveyard, I will show you where if you like."

"Yes please, then at least I will have that. Do you know if I have any family?"

"You do, your father's parents are still alive. Your grandfather searched for you a lot longer than any of us." I feel my eyes get wet, someone had loved me so much they had refused to give up hope.

"I called your grandfather a few hours ago. They have been gone for a trip the last few weeks. But they are cutting it short after I told them we found you. And they Will make it back here in a day or two."

"I don't know what to say. Thank you." I whisper.

"Your so very much welcome Lina. We are just happy Alex found you, and that you are safe now. And it's in good time it happens. Lina, I know you say your birthday is in 10 months. However, that's not your real birthday, and you turn eighteen in three weeks, Lina."

I am shocked, I mean, I knew the day they gave me my birthday probably wasn't right. But three weeks. That was a lot sooner than I thought.

"It also means you will shift in three weeks, and your wolf will come forward. I know it's a lot to take in. But you are not alone. And we will all be here to help and guide you or answer any questions you may have.

Also, I made sure your official papers were corrected and now have the right information." Alpha William tells me. I stand up and go hug him, and he hugs me back.

"Thank you, Alpha, for everything."

"You're welcome, sweet girl. Go rest and tomorrow we will go see your parent's grave." I nod my head and look at Alex, and we leave the office.

Alex POV.

We left dad's office, and just know a little is going on, in Lina's beautiful head. So, grab her hand and lead her outside.

"Let's go for a walk" she nods her head and starts walking. We don't say anything for a long while when she asks.

"Will it hurt?"

"Will what hurt?" I ask surprised.

"Shifting." I smile a little

"The first time yes. But after that, it become just a natural thing to do." She looks at me. And I stop walking putting my arms around her. 2

"I won't lie to you baby, it does hurt, but it won't last. And when the shift is over, it will be like the pain was never there. And you won't be alone, me a hunter will be there with you all the way." 1

"Hunter, that's your wolf, right?"

"Yes, and he cares about you just as much as I do." She smiles.

"Can I meet him?" I look at her surprised, that was probably the last thing I expected.

"You can if you are sure you want to"

"Can I even speak with him?"

"Not if I shift fully if you were marked you could trough the mind-link. But I can let him take control a little so he can speak to you through me without shifting. If you are sure, you want to. I know he does." She looks at me biting her lip a little then nods her head.

I take my hand and lead her a little into the forest not far in, just enough to have privacy. We find a big rock and go sit on it.

"Remember Lina, Hunter is an animal. So, he may be a little rougher than me. But he won't hurt you, he would never hurt you. Okay?"

"Okay." She nods her head. I pull her to sit on me, so she straddles me.

"This will keep him calmer." She nods. And I close my eyes.

"Push forward buddy but remember to be gentle with her." I tell Hunter.

"I won't hurt our mate."

"I know that, just don't scare her." I let him take over and I feel myself become a bystander to my mind and body.

Lina POV.

I was straddling Alex when he closed his eyes and opened them again. His beautiful gray stormy eyes were gone and now pitch-black, but I still felt calm and like I was being sucked into them. 1

"Hello, little mate." His voice was different from Alex's, deeper but still sexy as hell.

"Hello." I whisper

"I have been wanting to talk with you since we found you."

"I am sorry, it's all been so overwhelming."

"I know, and I am not mad, just happy to finally be able to."

"Me too."

He put his nose on my neck and breathes in deeply.

"You smell so delicious, little mate. I can't wait to see our mark on you right here."

"Will it hurt? Being marked I mean."

"At first it will sting a bit. But then you will feel pleasure."

"Pleasure?"

"Yes, as if I am making you cum for me." I blush deeply but also suddenly feel warm between my legs.

"I can smell you, little mate. You would like that, wouldn't you?" I don't know what to answer.

Hunter starts moving below me, grinding up against me, and I gasp as I feel him hard against me and I feel my body responding. Hunter is purring in my ear and nibbling it.

"Mmm, I think you do." He purrs. Moving more against me.

"Hunter please sit still; I need to ask you something." He looks at me.

"Ask anything you want beautiful mate."

"Am I safe here, I mean I know Alex won't hurt me. But am I truly safe?"

"Yes, we will do anything to make you safe little mate. We would die for you if it meant you would be safe."

"I would never want you to die for me." He doesn't answer and I kiss his nose making him look funny at me.

"Thank you for talking with me."

"You're welcome, little mate." And he grinds up against me again.

"Can I get Alex back?"

"I would love more time, but yes."

"Thank you, Hunter, I will see you again soon I promise."

"I can't wait, see you soon little mate." He purrs and closes his eyes.

When they open Alex's gray eyes look into mine and he smiles at me, sniffing the air, his eyes turn big.

"Fucking Hunter, I am sorry babygirl."

"What you sorry about."

"I can smell you, Lina." I blush

"Sorry Alex, he is just a little intense to be with." Alex laughs.

"You don't give to be sorry, it's him I am annoyed with, he promised to behave. I giggle and kiss him.

He deepens the kiss right away holding me close to him. I can still. Feel his hard bugle, and without realizing I move a little, grinding him a little. He grabs my hips and makes me do it harder, making me moan as I feel him hard against me. He kisses my neck on the spot where his mark is going to be, making me moan again. Then he stops and smiles at me.

"We better stop baby. And there is something I want to do." I look at him.

"Okay?"

"What's your full name Beautiful." He smiles at me.

"Lina Miranda Blakely."

"Are you sure it's your real name?"

"Yes, because the name was written inside my jacket when I was found and handed over." He looks at me and nods.

"I should have done this long ago. But so much has happened." I look at him confused.

"Done what? He looks at me with so much love in his eyes I can't help but blush. And he speaks.

"I Alexander Mason Stone, future Alpha of the Moon Stone Pack, accept you, Lina Miranda Blakely as my mate, and my future Luna.

I look at him stunned lost for words. I know the words I heard them when his parents told their love story. Alex looks at me nervously and I smile. I know what I want, and that's him.

"I Lina Miranda Blakely, accept you, Alexander Mason Stone, as my mate and future Alpha."

A wind of power flow through me. And I feel the matebond grow stronger.
