

Brothel Manager : Unexpected Encounter with A Hidden Family Heirloom

#Chapter Chapter 116 : Cuckold (18+) - Read Brothel Manager : Unexpected Encounter with A Hidden Family Heirloom Chapter Chapter 116 : Cuckold (18+)

116 Chapter 116 : Cuckold (18+)

Note: Thank you @Someone_Or_Other for the golden ticket.

—

After coming out of the auction room, Das immediately reached the rest room to clean the sauce from his white shirt.

"I really need a new shirt..."

Das thought while cleaning the sauce marks on his pure white shirt. Just as he completed washing the sauce, someone pulled him back with sudden force.

As Das did not prepare for this sudden jerk, his body stepped back into the toilet room, and the person who pulled Das also stayed inside the toilet. Before Das realised what was happening, the girl who pulled him into the toilet room bolted the door hastily.

"Hey, what are you doing...?" Das cried out after seeing Ellen inside the toilet room.

"Nothing... I just need to talk with you." Ellen replied with a deep stare into his eyes.

"We could have talked outside. Why are you pulling me into a toilet?" Das asked with a confused face.

"Stop acting like an innocent kid. You already know why I locked this door, but what you don't know is what I want from you." Ellen spoke in a lecturing tone. She thought it would be an easy transaction... but she got annoyed after seeing the confused look on Das's face.

"Then tell me, what do you want...?" Das asked impatiently, as he did not like her lecturing tone.

"I want those limited-edition heels and necklace you bought from the auction." Ellen directly put forward her condition without beating around the bush.

"Impossible..."

"Why would I give those expensive things to you? Didn't you have a rich boyfriend for that?" Das questioned her back after listening to her unreasonable request.

"Don't mention him. He is just a dumb idiot. Tell me, would you give me those items or not?" Ellen asked with an impatient face as Das was wasting time.

Das really pitied Jethin for having a gold-digger girlfriend.

"Why are you not saying anything...?" Ellen asked again.

"See... I don't have any reason to give those things. More than that, I bought those items for a particular person." Das replied while trying to move out of the toilet.

But Ellen blocked his path with her body and slowly opened her front zip. Automatically, Das vision moved onto those mounds, which are trying hard to come out of the tight black colour brassier.

"Think carefully; you can have anything in return for those items." Ellen said with a look-down gesture. She got satisfied after seeing Das, who was staring at her naked body.

Das stared at her curved waist and petite figure with well-portioned mounds for a long time before gaining clarity as he remembered Stella.

He brought those items for Stella, who is way more beautiful than Ellen. Even though Ellen had a beautiful figure and a pretty face, she is not comparable to Stella in any way.

"Lady, I'm really sorry I can't give you those items." Das finally replied resolutely, ignoring his raised little brother. Ellen immediately kneeled down before him inside that small toilet room.

"Please, at least give me one of those items. Please, I beg you." Ellen started directly unzipping him without giving him any chance to refute her request. Even though Das tried to stop her, his little brother, who came out with a swinging action, did not let him stop Ellen's.

Ellen also understood that this is her chance, so she immediately put his flesh rod inside her mouth. As the colliding sensation started invading his nerves, Das sat on the toilet seat and let her do what she knew.

While sucking his rod, Ellen skilfully removed his pants. She started using her tongue to lick the red bulb while massaging his rod with her hands. Without giving any break, she sucked on his two pearls and continued to touch him passionately to raise more heat.

After fifteen minutes of her hard work, Das took the lead and held her head with his large palms. As he sat on the toilet seat, her head was positioned directly on top of his little kid. As she opened her mouth widely, he started controlling her head like a drilling machine.

Gawk... gawk... ahha... aha...

What can she do...? Her brain is forcing her to own those flashy items.

10:26

Note: Please vote Golden tickets if you have any left in your inventory... Thank you for reading.

The intense throat sounds filled the entire rest room. After another ten minutes, Ellen thought it was all over as she tasted a white syrup. But to her night mare, Das's little brother still stood like a ninety-degree tower.

Das directly pulled her entire dress and bent her body towards the door. She used her hands to grip the door surface, which she perfectly bent like a curved string.

Das rubbed her wet cave before inserting the fire mountain inside her water pool from the rear. He directly hit her ass with great force. Aha.. Ellen started making a loud noise as Das was hitting hard like a punching machine.

She held on to the door tightly in an arc shape while enjoying the roller coaster ride.

Thump... Tapa... Tap... Thump.

A loud hitting noise occupied the entire rest room.

Ahha, aha, slow, aha, slow, down, aha...

Ellen tried to stand up, as her ass was hurting because of the loud thumping action. But Das did not give her a chance and directly slapped her in the ass.

Instantly Ellen bent down with a loud moaning sound after receiving that tight slap from his enlarged palm.

Tick... Tik... Suddenly, someone knocked on the toilet door.

"Brother, slow down a bit. Show some mercy on that poor girl." The person who knocked on the door commented with a loud laugh before going for a pee-pee.

Ellen immediately closed her mouth with both hands. Das also paused for a bit. Because he recognised the person's voice. Ellen is also shocked to the core after hearing that sentence.

The person who knocked and commented is Jethin, her boyfriend.

Das really did not understand what to do in this situation. While he is fucking a cheating girlfriend, her fiancée is asking him to slow down. 'What type of drama is this?'

But after that brief pause, Das continued his tapa-tap action without caring about Jethin's presence. Ellen tried to stop him, but she was melted in lust as Das is stroking her wet cave rhythmically.

"Brother, the girl is really lucky." Jethin commented before leaving the restroom. But Jethin only got a thumping and loud moaning in reply.

"Finish faster; the auction is almost at its end." Ellen spoke in a hurried tone.

Even though Jethin spent several hundred crores on her, she never let Jethin touch her body. But now, for a single pair of heels, she is bitching at Jethin.

What can she do...? Her brain is forcing her to own those flashy items.

Note: Please vote Golden tickets if you have any left in your inventory... Thank you for reading.

There will be more bonus chapters and special mentions for the gifts received. So don't forget to hit that gift tab at the end of the chapter.

PeterPan :-)

Your gift is the motivation for my creation. Give me more motivation!

Brothel Manager : Unexpected Encounter with A Hidden Family Heirloom #Chapter 117 : Free Goods - Read Brothel Manager : Unexpected Encounter with A Hidden Family Heirloom Chapter 117 : Free Goods Online - All Page - Novel Bin

Chapter 117 : Free Goods

"Don't forget about our deal..." Ellen said while dressing up inside the toilet room.

"You don't need to worry about that. The heels will be yours." Das replied without turning his head away.

"Stop staring. You've already taken enough advantage of my body." Ellen commented as Das was staring at her pinky nodes.

"Haha..." Das laughed at her comment. He already juiced out those melons. Why is she complaining about staring?... Das thought with a silly look. Ellen stared at his face before leaving the restroom.

"I've already gave my word. Collect those heels before tonight's jade auction." Das replied assuringly as he understood the meaning of her long stare. With a glowing face, Ellen left the restroom with a happy smile.

By the time Das came out, the guests had started coming out of the auction room. Everyone is discussing about the auction items in an enthusiastic manner. After five more minutes, Ria also came out of the auction.

"Das, you really missed the last item. They auctioned a six-foot golden statue at the end." Ria explained the auction details while Das listened to her patiently. After that, Ria took him back to the auction room, where he needed to pay for those auctioned items.

Instead of using his ghost card, Das sent five hundred crores to the black card in Ria's hands. He doesn't want to expose his ghost card, as he already made a mistake in this Zebra organisation.

"Madam, where are you? The person you mentioned is here to receive the auction items." The subordinate girl informed Natalia.

Natalia thought of dealing with Das at the time of payment by offering the auction items for free. But ironically, she got stuck with Shadow Organisation people.

She got busy arranging things for the head of the shadow organisation, who came to check on the auction situation.

"Listen carefully, ask him to stay for the jade auction, and as for the items, do not charge a single rupee. Also, offer him door delivery of those items."

Natalia instructed the subordinate girl after thinking about what to do with Das. After disconnecting the call, the subordinate girl walked near Das.

"Sir, your bill is already processed. You can take your items, and if you want, I can also directly send these items to your hotel room." The subordinate girl explained respectfully.

Das did not understand what she was talking about. "What do you mean by 'the bill got processed?' I still need to pay for those items." Das questioned her back with a black card in his hands.

"No, sir, you don't need to pay anything. My madam instructed me not to charge a single coin from you. So, you can take these items free of charge." The subordinate girl replied while pointing towards the four items on the table.

Das took a moment to stare at the sword, wine bottle, neckless, and heels.

"These things cost more than three hundred crores; why are they giving them away for free? Am I missing something." Das thought, as he could not believe that she was offering those items for free.

"Who is your madam? Can we meet her?" Ria asked from the side, as Das was still thinking about something.

"My madam is a little busy now. She said she would meet this young master after the jade auction." The subordinate girl replied in a respectful tone.

n()0ve1&In

"What should we do now? Are you ready to take advantage of this free offer?" Ria questioned him while placing her hand on his shoulder.

"I will accept these items after meeting your madam. Until then, keep these items in your care." Das said this after thinking for a long time.

"As you wish, young master." The subordinate girl replied with a slight grin.

"By the way, I'm taking these heels for now. If you want, I can pay you now." Das said as he picked up the black wooden box in which the limited-edition heels were placed safely.

"No need, sir. You can keep them." The subordinate girl denied him hurriedly. After a few more minutes of chitchat, Das and Ria came out.

"There is still plenty of time for the jade auction. Do you have any other work?" Das asked Ria with a loud yawning.

"First, we need to buy new clothes for you. Let's go for shopping!" Ria replied with a cheerful voice. Das also did not deny her, as his white shirt really changed colours because of the sauce.

"Das, the heels—why did you take them early...?" Ria asked after hopping inside the car.

"Someone offered me a good deal in exchange for these heels." Das replied while hiding his sly smile.

—

After finishing the horse ride with Das, Ellen directly reached Jethin and asked him for the fifty crores of rupees.

"Why do you need fifty crores?" Jethin asked with a confused face.

"First, give me those fifty crores, and you will see results by tonight." Ellen requested him with a puppy face.

"Ellen, my father won't give me any more money if we spend it now. Think about it." Jethin tried to deny her request, as she did not give reasons for asking for that money.

"Jethin, stop talking like that. It's just fifty crores. Why are you acting like a miser? Do you not love me?" Ellen asked with a crying face. But Jethin still tried to calm her down without giving her money.

Ellen increased her crying volume to grab the attention of all the guests.

"Stop... Ellen... I will give you that money. Please stop..." Jethin pampered her as he couldn't handle the situation.

"That's my boy... Give me the money." Ellen asked with a happy face after achieving her goal.

"First, tell me why you need fifty crores." Jethin asked while taking out the bank card from his pocket.

"Soon, you will see why I asked for fifty crores. First, trust me with this money." Ellen directly grabbed the bank card from Jethin's hand and left him in a flash.

—

Chapter 118 [Bonus chapter]Chapter 118 : One more Round/Tax

Note: On the occasion of golden tickets and premium chapters... I'm releasing two bonus chapters consecutively. The power stone bonus will be released as usual. Don't forget to support the book with golden tickets and gifts.

—

Das and Ria came back to the auction building after finishing their shopping. Das changed into a brand-new suit, and Ria also brought a few sets from the modern collection.

Das took her directly to the second floor to have a good meal before the jade auction. Ellen, who was already waiting for him at the entrance, followed Das from a distance.

She is eager to own those heels as soon as possible. But she waited patiently, as Ria was accompanying Das. She tried to signal Das in different ways, but he is still focused on his food.

After finishing his big meal, Das noticed the gaze of Ellen, who was signalling with an impatient look. She is feeling a lot of tension as the next auction is also going to start soon.

Later, Ria took him to the eighteenth floor to attend the auction. Ellen also followed them in the same elevator. She is poking Das while Ria is talking about the jade auction. Das did not understand why Ellen was behaving like a stalker. n@ve-1b-1n

"Ria, you go first. I will join you shortly." Das said before pushing the seventeenth-floor button.

"Come fast," Ria said without asking any more questions. Ria's entire focus is on the jade auction; she did not think about where he was leaving.

"Where are the heels...?" Ellen asked immediately after the elevator door closed.

"Stop hurrying me; they are inside the car."

"Let's go... You can have them now." Das said as he pushed the lift button.

Ellen calmed down after hearing his reply. Her excitement started to rise while she was walking towards the car in the parking lot. After reaching the car, Das opened the door and invited Ellen inside.

"You can pass me the heels; why do I need to enter inside?" Ellen asked with a confused face, as she did not understand his intentions.

"One session is too low for these expensive heels." Das said with a sly smile while changing the seat angle.

"What do you mean?... You already promised me those heels." Ellen said in a complaining tone.

"Of course, these heels will be yours... but you need to pay some tax before the delivery." Das said while opening the lid of the wooden box and flashing the shiny heels towards Ellen.

"What if you don't give me those heels even after enjoying my body?" Ellen asked in an aggrieved tone.

"Haha, you don't need to worry about that. Once you are inside this car, I will hand over these heels to you." Das replied with a wide grin.

Ellen, finally convinced by his reasoning and got inside the car.

The time went on... while Ellen is staring at the heels with an excited face... Das satisfied his hunger with a loud thumping noise. After half an hour, Ellen left the parking lot, walking on limited-edition black heels.

As Ellen has already cleaned his AK-47 with her sweet tongue, Das also left for the auction after locking the car door.

(Author: You guys asked for the unprincipled one, and I delivered it. Please don't blame me for ruining his character. I'm sincerely apologising for others who don't like this unfaithful drama.)

Inside the auction room, the first jade rock auction is going on at an excited pace. Jethin, who sat in the front row with his father, saw Ellen, who was walking towards the empty seat beside him.

Jethin observed that Ellen is walking a little bit differently. After closely looking at her legs, he found out that Ellen was wearing new high heels.

He thought that because of her high heels, she was walking like that. But what he doesn't know that... Ellen's ass got pounded just a few minutes before coming inside this auction room.

Ellen sat beside him, took out one of the heels, and passed it into the hands of Jethin.

"What is this?!..." Jethin asked confusedly.

"This is the one you promised to buy me. But you didn't." Ellen said with a loud smirk.

"Where did you get this? Isn't it brought by that idiot from Mumbai?" Jethin asked with a stupefied face.

"He offered me these heels for fifty crores. He said he is in urgent need of money to pay for the auction items." Ellen replied while passing the bank card back to Jethin. Of course, she already transferred those fifty crores into her account.

"Haha, what a dumb ass!... I know that he is just a pauper who likes to show off." Jethin commented with a happy face and continued to curse Das.

"You are the real dumbass." Ellen murmured while thinking about the scene in the toilet where Jethin commented to slow down the Shaka-laka-boom-boom happening to his own fiancée.

But she did not voice out her thoughts. After a little delay, Das also entered the auction house.

"Where did you go?... The auction has already started for the first stone." Ria asked with a questioning look.

Instead of answering her question, Das activated his vision and scanned the big rock on the stage. It's just a normal rock without any jade inside.

"Calm down. Didn't that old granny said to buy the fourth one? It is still the first one, so take it easy." Das said this while sipping the wine arranged for guests.

The bidding for the first stone went up to one hundred and twenty crores. After declaring the bid winner... Max gestured for a person to proceed with the rock cutting.

"Why are they cutting the stone now?" Das asked Ria, as he did not expect it.

"Of course, they will cut open the rock immediately after the auction. Look at the crowd; they are all eagerly waiting for this part." Ria replied enthusiastically without turning her face from the auctioning stage where the person who wore goggles was cutting the rock with great precision.

But even after cutting, half of the layers of that big boulder, only a normal stone remained.

Only a grey powder appeared even after cutting the entire rock. The crowd got disappointed after seeing the empty rock.

Without wasting any more time, Max announced the auction for the next rock.

Note: This second bonus chapter respecting the two golden tickets received today. For more bonus chapters... vote golden tickets and gifts. Thank you for your support.

—

"Hundred and twenty crores wasted just because of a rock. What a pity..." Das commented after seeing the sad face of the buyer.

"Das, that's common in Jade gambling. If he could find the real jade inside that rock, he could have earned triple the amount of his investment." Ria said with a stoic face.

A bald man in the first row bought the second stone for one hundred and ten crores. But sadly, that second stone is also an empty rock.

Das got interested after seeing the lavender jade inside the third rock, which is being prepared for auction.

Sixty crores, seventy crores, eighty, hundred...

The price stooped at hundred and ten crores. Das directly raised the price by twenty crores and won the bid for the third rock.

"Do not cut it; use the machine to remove the layers one by one." Das instructed the men on stage while looking at the jade shape, inside the rock.

"Sir, for that, you need to pay another five percent extra." The cutting person said with a grumpy look as layering needs more skill.

Das agreed without asking any questions. Even though Ria didn't know where Das got the money to buy all these, she kept her thoughts to herself without asking any more questions. For now, she is just enjoying his company.

Some people are giving weird looks to Das because of his request—the stone cutting is taking too much time. But before they lashed out their tongues, a beautiful lavender jade surfaced after only a few layers.

People started looking excitedly as everyone was waiting to see the first jade stone at tonight's auction. The person who is layering the stone also became alert after seeing the shiny, glass-like lavender jade inside the rock.

The people stared, making loud noises, and cheering girls started shouting with more enthusiasm.

"How did you know that there was jade inside...?" Ria asked with a curious look.

"It's just gambling..." Das replied with a mysterious look.

Max, who is on stage, continued to congratulate Das on the microphone.

"Hmmhh, it's just a lavender jade, but these people are acting hysterically." Jethin commented with a scornful face.

"Jethin, stop talking like that. That young man can earn more than six hundred crores because of that lavender jade. Look at the jade; because of layering, the lavender jade will be more worthy. Learn from that young man."

Praveen Verma, Jethin's father, preached to him in a lecturing tone. Jethin was disappointed with his father's words. Sadly, his fiancée is also staring at Das with a curious gaze.

Das suddenly gave a sly wink to Ellen, which made her smile like a lolly.

"Das, you really hit the jackpot. That is the finest quality jade, but it will be more valuable if it is green jade." Ria commented while staring at the big, shining jade stone on the stage.

"What's the difference?" Das asked curiously, as he doesn't know much about Jades.

"The green jade could hold up the process of cutting and shaping. That's why most of the chains and crowns have green jades."

"Other jades, like lavender, black, and violet, won't withstand the polishing and cutting. But other jades will be used to make rings and small-scale ornaments like bracelets, etc.," Ria explained patiently.

"Ohh..." Das exclaimed after knowing the details.

"But whatever jade it is, you will earn a large sum in return." Ria added with a cheerful smile.

Soon the lavender jade was placed aside, and the auction for the fourth jade started with a bang. People continued to raise the bid as they experienced one successful event. Ria also tried to raise the bid, but Das stopped her.

"What are you doing? Old Granny said there is a jade in a fourth stone." Ria asked with a questioning look.

"How much money do you have?" Das asked in return.

"My first sister sent another fifty crores. Now I have a total of 100 crore." Ria replied honestly.

"Do you think the bidding will stop before 100 crore...?" Das asked with a deep look. Ria became silent after understanding his reason.

"Then should I ask my sister for more money?" Ria looked at Das for his reply.

"You don't need to do that. Wait for some more time. I will help you choose better jade. We will buy that one." Das replied while eating an apple brought by the servant girl.

"Why are you so confident about it? Can you see through those rocks or what?" Ria asked with a doubtful expression. Das got stupefied after listening to her question. Because he can exactly see through those rocks.

Ria laughed at his reaction, as she thought he was acting like that. Das released a sigh after seeing her laughing face.

The crowd started cheering again as green jade was found in the fourth stone. The bald buyer in the first row started making a loud noise.

"The old granny is 100 percent right." Ria commented with a disappointed face.

"Don't worry, we will find the better one. Look closely; it is not a perfect jade." Das said while pointing his finger.

Soon the commotion died down as the green jade was mixed with a lot of impure grey matter. Max immediately stopped the cutting process and moved on to auctioning the next stone.

"What about this stone? Should we buy it?" Ria asked with an eager look.

"No, it's just an empty rock." Das commented with a clown face.

As he mentioned, the fifth stone turned out to be a normal stone without any jade.

"How did you know that it was an empty rock?" Ria asked with a surprised expression.

"Instinct..."

Das replied calmly while scanning the next stone brought for auction.

"We will buy this one..." Das commented with a mysterious smile and signalled Ria to prepare for bidding.

While Das is enjoying the auction with a pretty girl, Another beauty is observing his every action from a long distance. Her eyes were longing to meet him urgently.

She is Natalia, the zero-sized beauty who is under a lot of stress because of the sudden appearance of Das.

—

PeterPan :-)

Your gift is the motivation for my creation. Give me more motivation!

PeterPan

120 Chapter 120 : Imperial Jade

Note: Thank you @Unh0mbre_Dcultura for the two cola's... thank you for giving me the first gift.

Thank you @Benjamin_Negron for the five golden tickets. Guys, tomorrow, there will an extra bonus chapter for receiving my first gift. _ "One hundred and fifty crores..."

As Das assured Ria to buy the sixth stone on the stage, Ria announced one hundred fifty crores for bidding. Most people anticipated the presence of jade inside the sixth stone; that's why its price got raised a bit more than other stones.

Finally, after pushing the price to another thirty crores, Ria won the bidding for the sixth stone. She started shaking and held Das hands tightly while staring at the layering of the sixth stone on the stage.

Das placed another hand on the top, trying to calm her nervous body. Soon the jade surfaced as the top layers were removed skillfully. Ria started celebrating with a cheerful noise.

The crowd started clapping after finding that the jade in the sixth stone is apple jade, which is the finest quality jade used for necklaces.

Ria directly kissed Das cheeks with a joyful smile. Das laughed merrily while touching the red lipstick on his cheeks. Das never expected this bonus from Ria.

After the sixth stone, Das spent another fifty crores to get the seventh stone which has a rare black jade inside. Because of his successive gains, people started bidding on the same rock with him.

Due to this, Das spent another thirty to forty crores extra on each stone. So he decided to ditch some imposters by bidding for an empty rock.

As soon as Max announced the fifty crore bidding price for the eighth stone, Das shouted hundred and twenty crores directly. He showed more enthusiasm and eagerness to buy that rock.

So, people immediately followed him and raised the bid exponentially.

One fifty, one sixty, one eighty... the bald man in the first row directly shouted one hundred and ninety crores without giving any chance to others.

But suddenly a young man in the front row stood up and shouted two hundred crores with a proud face.

"Jethin, what are you doing?" Praveen Verma, Jethin's father, cried out after seeing his son's brazen behaviour.

"Father, believe me. We will definitely gain fine-quality jade and earn a lot through this transaction. My instinct never goes wrong." Jethin said this with an excited face while convincing his father.

Even though Praveen Verma did not like his son's idea, he kept silent as Jethin had already announced his bid. Max immediately took this opportunity and sold the eighth stone to the Verma family.

With a gentle man's posture, Jethin ordered the stone-cutting person to use the layering device to cut the rock. Jackie's father and his girlfriend, Ellen, are watching the stone cutting with more anticipation.

But even after removing half of the layers, only a grey powder remained on the stage. Das started laughing while looking at the stressful face of Jethin, and his father is looking at Jethin's face with a helpless look as he can't beat Jethin in front of all these guests.

Das did not understand why Jethin's father allowed him to transfer seven thousand crores to Shetty family after seeing this silly situation in the Verma family. Finally, after removing the last layer, only a powder remained on the stage.

Immediately after Max's signal, the subordinates cleaned the two hundred crores worth of dirt under a minute. Jethin hid his face, as he could not dare look into his father's eyes. Instead of blaming his stupidity, Jethin thought Das was the reason for everything.

Ellen turned her face and observed Das, who was laughing merrily while playing jokes with Ria. Ellen really felt jealous after seeing the lovely pair and turned her gaze towards his fiancée, who is in a depressed state with his head down.

Soon the ninth rock was sold for one hundred and fifty crores, but it turned out to be an empty stone.

"Ladies and gentlemen, the last stone for tonight's auction is before you. It might be your lucky stone, so please don't miss this last chance." Max announced loudly with more cheerful noise.

He announced a starting bid of fifty crores. Das immediately shouted hundred crores without giving others any chance. The auction room went into a deep silence. Most people backed down from the bidding as Das raised the bidding amount in a high margin like last time.

Everyone thought it was a trap and did not try to bid against him. With a depressed face, Max declared the auction result, and Das got the last stone for the lowest amount in the entire auction.

Without even mentioning it, the cutting person started removing the layers of that small rock on the stage. As only dirt formed even after cutting half of the rock, everyone thought Das fell into his own trap.

But Das continued to look at the stone curiously. While scanning the stone, Das found out that the jade inside the tenth stone has a peculiar lustre to it, and it looked more attractive to him.

Some people from the crowd even stood up to leave the auction room as only dirt came out of every layer of stone on the stage. Ria thought Das's estimation failed this time, but before she turned her head to console Das, a green reflection appeared on the stone surface.

The person who was cutting the stone immediately stopped his action. He observed jade for a long time before changing the machine to a rubber-coated trimming machine. He scraped the stone bit by bit, carefully, without causing any damage to the green jade.

"Ria, which type of jade is this...?" Das questioned her by patting her on the shoulder. Ria, who is in a mesmerised state because of the shining green jade, took a moment to answer his question.

"I don't know!..." Ria replied with a plain face.

"Imperial Jade..."

Max announced loudly in the speaker and started explaining like a maniac about the value of Imperial Jade. I

"Imperial jade".... "it's really an imperial jade." People in the front rows started murmuring while observing the fist-sized imperial jade on the stage.

—

Note: The auction part ends here... from next chapter the action sequences will be ready to entertain.

Thank you everyone for your continuous support. Don't forget to vote power stones and Golden tickets. PeterPan :-)

Your gift is the motivation for my creation. Give me more motivation!