

Brothel Manager : Unexpected Encounter with A Hidden Family Heirloom

Chapter 96 : Meeting (2)

"Miss Ember, I'm discussing a confidential information with the patriarch. How do you expect me to announce it to everyone?" Das asked while trying his control his anger to not spank her butt.

"Haha... stop talking nonsense. These are all the supporters of the Reddy family. They deserve to know about it as the also wish for welfare and well-being of Reddy family." Ember said loudly so that she can gather major support from guests.

"My dear daughter-in-law, it is a crucial information related to tomorrow's peace meeting... we can't rule out the danger of spies. That's why we are not announcing this information." The patriarch explained trying to calm her down as Das is feeling annoyed with her brainless behaviour.

"Father-in-law, then why are you trusting him?... maybe he also a spy sent by Shetty family!?" Ember cried out while pointing a finger at Das.

"Miss Ember, if the patriarch thinks I'm a spy... I will leave this villa without another word." Das replied as she is blaming him with a threatening finger.

Ember looked at the patriarch for his answer. She expected that the patriarch will support her as she is an important member of his family. But the patriarch completely ignored her and stood up to announce something as the topic is going somewhere because of the Ember's intervention.

"Everyone, the meeting is over. Please have dinner before leaving." Michael announced before sitting back. But his announcement made Ember more irritated.

"Father-in-law, why are not announcing our standing tomorrow. All these people came to know about that information." Ember asked loudly as she stood up in a protest.

loudly as she stood up in a protest.

The patriarch held his forehead with indignation. The old man understood the patriarch's burden... so, he stood up slowly to say something for all the guests.

"Everybody, the Shetty family is not going offer peace tomorrow. The blood duel is inevitable. So, prepare for war." The old man announced in a moderate tone while gesturing everyone to leave the meeting hall.

After listening to the old man, everyone immediately left without saying another word. The patriarch, old man and patriarch's son and daughter stayed back. Also, Ember moved closer to the patriarch table as she also want to hear this confidential information. n-/OvelBIn

"Richard, take Ember for a walk... spend some time with her." The patriarch ordered his son as he is not feeling good with the Ember's presence.

Richard stood up without saying another word. He waited for Ember without asking her out. Even though the engagement is already happened between Ember and Richard, Ember never allowed Richard to touch her finger. That is why he is feeling moody around Ember.

"Father-in-law, I'm also part of this family. Let me here what this poor fellow is whispering." Ember made a request ignoring Richard who still stood beside her with an empty hand. As she insisted to stay, the patriarch allowed her with an annoyed face.

"Now tell me Das, who gave seven thousand crores ($850M) for the Shetty family? Is he a powerful person?" The patriarch asked with an eager look.

"A young man named Jethin from the Verma family gave that money to the Shetty family. Not only money, he supplied strong fighters and connections with the top-level fighter organisations." Das replied while drinking a glass of water.

"The Verma family is a strong force in Delhi, they mainly control the brothel business. I never thought they want to snatch the business in Mumbai." The old man commented with an angry face.

"Das, even if he supports the Shetty family, they lost their family members... I still think that they will offer peace." The patriarch replied with a moment of thought.

"Patriarch, think about the money matters. The Shetty family lost seven thousand crores, if they backdown now, they need to return that money to the Verma family."

"Do you think the Verma family will ask for money... no, they will grab the black-market business from Shetty family. So, the Shetty family did not have the option of backing down."

"More than that, till now they did not spend a single coin from their pocket." Das explained calmly ignoring the scrutinising gaze of Ember.

"Das, how do you know all this information? Are you spying on Shetty family?"

Ember asked without giving the patriarch a chance to discuss things peacefully.

"Patriarch, I already said what I know... It is your choice to believe it or not. Now, if you please excuse me, I need to go for my work." Das said as he stood up to leave. The old man immediately stooped Das from leaving.

"Das, don't take her words seriously. She is still a child... Luna, take Das for dinner." The old man asked Luna to take care of Das as he is feeling annoyed with the constant poking of Ember. Luna immediately stood up and dragged Das towards the kitchen.

Ember felt like she was completely ignored. With an angry look she looked at Richard who is seriously checking his phone with out caring about Ember's feelings.

She immediately stood up and left outside with an angry face. The patriarch patted Richard to follow her.

"Michael, what do you think of this matter? Should we do something?" The old man asked the patriarch to know his opinion.

"Father, I don't know how to deal with this matter. But the truth will be revealed tomorrow." The patriarch said with a serious face.

"Michael, don't worry. If the Shetty family still challenge us for a blood duel... I will personally visit the Verma family in Delhi to solve this issue." The old man said to give a moral support for the patriarch.

After coming out of the meeting hall, Luna directly took Das to her room and she personally went to kitchen to bring nice food for Das.

Das received a phone call from Ria, seventh sister of the brothel chain. Das picked up the call instantly with a happy smile.

Chapter 97 : Ria's request

"Hello Das, where are you?" Ria asked from the other side of the call.

"Why do you ask...? Are you missing me?" Das questioned in a playful voice.

"Stop sweet talking. It's an important matter. So, tell me where are you now?" Ria asked again.

"Hmmhh... I'm at Reddy family villa. what is that important matter?" Das asked as he sat on the sofa inside Luna's bed room.

"Can we meet tomorrow...?" Ria asked hesitatingly.

"Nah... tomorrow I need to attend the peace meeting between Reddy family and Shetty family. So, tell me what's the matter?" Das asked trying to guess her reason for calling.

"Do you have any other works on day after tomorrow...?" Ria asked again in a dull voice.

"First tell me the issue? Do you need any help?" Das asked in an assuring tone.

"Day after tomorrow, I'm going to New Delhi (Capital city) for attending an auction. Can you accompany me... I'm going alone." Ria asked requestingly with a sweet tone.

Das took a long time think about her request. He needs to think about the baby and Stella's safety as he won't be available in case of emergency .

"When will we return?" Das asked after a moment of thought.

"It's just a one day and one night trip. If we catch the early morning flight... we can return by next day evening." Ria explained hurriedly as she is expecting a positive response from Das.

"It's ok then... I will come with you." Das replied with a happy smile. Ria helped him, a lot of times... she is also the person who is sending the breast milk for baby. Das can't reject her request as she asked for his help for the first time.

"Haha... thank you... thank you so much." Ria said with a happy giggling.

"Ok... then, send me the boarding details... we will meet at the airport." Das said before disconnecting the call.

'Hey... hello...' Ria tried to talk for some more time. But disconnected the line.

"Who are you talking with...?" Luna asked as she entered inside the room with a food plate. n-/O17elBIn

"Ohh... she is... Ria. She is my girlfriend." Das replied with a playful smile to see Luna's reaction.

"What...? When did you have a girlfriend?... Is she beautiful?" Luna asked a series of questions with a serious look. Instead of answering her questions, Das stared at her face with a playful smile.

"Yeah... she is super cute." Das said with a sly smile as he took the food plate from her hands. But suddenly Luna pulled the plate from his hands and placed it away from him.

"What are you doing...?" Das asked with a surprising look. Luna started sobbing without answering his question. Das stood up in a flash after listening to her loud wailing.

"Stop... stop. Why are you crying?" Das asked as he held her hands. But Luna continued her sobbing.

"Tell me, why are you crying...? If you don't tell me I will leave now." Das said as he moved away from her in a threatening action. Luna directly hugged him tightly without letting him leave her room.

"Let me go... I won't stay if you cry like this." Das said trying to push her away. But Luna continued her sobbing.

As Luna is still glued to his body, Das moved from sofa and directly fell on the round bed. With a soft cry, Luna also fell on top of him. Instead of arguing with this sobbing beauty, Das hugged her more tightly as he rested his face on her petite mounds.

"Ahha...aha... leave me... leave me." Luna cried out while trying to move away from him. Das directly lifted his head and kissed her on the lips as she making more noise.

Mmm...mm... Luna tried to get away from Das. But the large size palm of the Das right hand held her small head steadily without letting her move.

Slowly, Luna started kissing him in return. But, Das abruptly stopped kissing her and looked at her sobbing face with sweet smile. Luna immediately hid her face in his embrace like a small kitten.

"Stop looking like that..." Luna murmured while covering her face against his broad chest.

"Haha... now tell me... why are you sobbing like a cry baby?" Das asked while rubbing her head in a loveable gesture.

"Are you forgetting that we had a close relationship. You even kissed me several times." Luna replied in an aggrieved tone. Das fell in a deep thought after listening to her reply. He forgot that, in the last few months, he developed relationships with several girls.

He became a complete playboy without thinking about the true love. Das felt a big headache while thinking about all the girls he had in his life.

"Luna, Sheela, Ria, Amy and also Maria..." he had a close relationship with almost all these girls.

"Am I using these people for my pleasure...?" Das thought for a long time about this issue while Luna stayed in his embrace calmly.

"Luna, I'm sorry to say this... I think I had relationships with few more girls. I'm really sorry... I shouldn't have forced you in this situation." Das said in a dull tone while trying to tell her the actual truth.

He don't want to hide the truth and take advantage of this sweet girl like a moron. He moved away from her as it is not proper to behave like this after saying that he had relations with other girls.

"What are you doing?" Luna asked with an annoyed expression as Das moved away from her.

"Aren't you angry at me? It's like I cheated on you with other girls..." Das asked in a confused look as Luna is behaving oddly.

"Stop moving... Luna pulled him back and kissed his lips. As he laid on the bed without any resistance... Luna slept on top of his body while continuing to kiss him. Das did not resist her attack... he let her do whatever she want.

Note: There is a big action scenes are loading up from Delhi city and also interesting auction scenario. So, stay tuned and remember the girl named Natalia. This is beauty is ready for some action.

Chapter 98 : Spy Camera

As Das tried to move away from Luna, she pulled him hardly and directly kissed his lips.

"Das, I already expected that you will have private relations with other girls as you are working in a brothel house. So, stop blaming yourself. I'm not worried about cheating."

"What I want to know is -are you loving me sincerely. I don't care even if you sleep with a prostitute... but you should only love me." Luna replied while holding his cheeks like sweet wife.

But the tragedy is the chief minister daughter, Ember who had a big grudge against Luna is watching all this erotic drama through the small camera which is placed secretly in Luna's room.

"Hey, stop... stop... its painful." Luna cried out as Das pinched her nipples while slurping on her petite tongue.

"Sorry, it happened unintentionally." Das replied hurriedly as he pulled back his hands from her t-shirt.

"It's ok..." Luna said with a sweet smile while moving her hands on the new packs on his stomach.

"By the way you did not answer my question? What happened to your eyes? And when did you get this body?" Luna asked, rubbing his chest in a playful manner.

"I just started training my body and as for the eyes... it's a secret." Das said as he pulled Luna closely.

"Keep your secrets safely... But I liked the previous Das who looked like a normal college student." Luna said while moving her hands inside his pants. She started rubbing his little brother.

"You will face the consequences... if you play with him." Das said with sly smile. She immediately pulled back her hands in a retreat.

"Wait... for a bit. I will bring fresh food." Luna said before leaving the room in a flash.

"Haha..."

Luna heard the sound of loud laughing from behind. Ember, who is watching this entire scene through a secret camera, felt jealous. Even though she was engaged to Richard, she never had this type of intimate romance.

But Luna is enjoying sweet romance in her own room without worrying about outsiders.

"Hmmhh... I will have my day where these two puppies will lick my foot." Ember muttered while looking her mobile screen which is displaying the scene of Luna feeding Das with her own hands.

Finally, at night nine o'clock, Das reached his villa at the film city. With two big grocery bags, Das entered inside. After playing with the baby for a long time, Das stood up leave for his room.

Strangely, the baby is feeling more comfortable in his hands. She even cried when Stella tried to take the baby from his hands.

After the baby fell asleep, Das gave the baby to Stella and decided to sleep early as he need to attend the peace meeting tomorrow morning at nine o'clock.

Ahh... ahh... Stella coughed slightly in a gesturing manner.

"What...?" Das asked as he stood at the bed room door. Stella made hand gesture while trying to ask him about his eyes.

"I will tell you... if you reveal your secrets." Das replied with a sly smile. Stella immediately walked inside her room and shut the door with a loud thud. Das also closed the room door and slept soundly after taking a shower.

Within one hour, his sleep was disturbed with a loud knocking from the door.

"What happened...?" Das asked with a sleepy face. Stella pointed the baby who is crying with a loud noise. Usually, the baby won't cry... but today she is crying loudly with snot all around her nose.

Das immediately took the baby from Stella. Strangely, the baby stopped crying in an instant. She happily smiled while touching his face with her tiny hands. Das touched her forehead to check the temperature.

"Did you feed her well?" Das asked after finding that the baby's condition is stable. Stella nodded her head.

"It's ok... take the baby, Das pass on the baby to Stella. But the baby started crying again as she held his shirt tightly with her small hands. n-/Ov~~e~~lBIn

"Leave it... I think she liked me more now.... tonight, I will handle the baby." Das said while closing the room door. But Stella stood in the same spot without moving.

"What happened...?" Das asked with a questioning look. Stella took out her mobile, typed a long text and showed it to Das.

"Are you sure?" Das asked with dumbfounded face as Stella requested to stay in the same room with Das. She is insisting because she don't want to leave the baby.

"Your wish... but keep in mind that I'm not a good person." Das replied with a playful laughter.

Stella gave loud smirk after hearing his words and walked inside his room. She directly slept on Das bed without any fear. Das ignored her and turned his focus onto the baby.

"Hey... why are not sleeping..." Das asked in a funny tone as the baby is playing with his face.

"You became more rowdy now a days. Stop pulling my hair." Das cried out amusingly.

"By the way what should I call you?... I think your mommy forgot put a name for you. Don't worry, I will find a nice name for you." Das said as the baby is falling asleep on his shoulders. Das continued to talk nonstop for a long before deciding to sleep.

Stella is already snoring on the bed. Das also laid on the other side while placing the sleeping baby on his stomach. He placed the pillows all around the baby before sleeping comfortably.

Das looked at the peaceful face of Stella before closing his eyes. He kept one hand onto the baby's side as she is sleeping comfortably on his stomach in an overlay position.

New Delhi, inside a big luxurious bungalow, two middle aged men sat opposite to each other while their subordinates stood on their back side.

"How is it Reynar (the head of the Zebra organisation), is everything ready for the auction?" The person who sat opposite to Reynar, asked him with a questioning look.

"You don't need to worry about it... My daughter Natalia is looking over all the arrangements." Reynar replied respectfully in a humble manner.

Note: Thank you for reading... The bonus chapter will be released tomorrow. So, wait for bit. Thank you everyone for adding power stones and comments. It means a lot.

Chapter 99 : Determination

"This is auction is pride of our both organisations... so I'm also taking extra care for it." Reynar replied with a respectful tone. The auction which Ria invited Das to attend is conducted by the partnership of Zebra organisation and Shadow organisation.

That is why the head of the Shadow organisation came to meet Reynar to ask him about the arrangements and preparation.

"It's ok Reynar... my Shadow organisation first time collaborated with you guys. I'm expecting good results and big profit. Don't disappoint me in this matter." The person who covered his face fully with a black mask said before leaving the bungalow.

"Father, how can you obey his commands?... He is literally ordering you around!..." Natalia, the girl who is after Das ghost card, said in a complaining tone.

"Nat, don't worry about him. The shadow organisation had a backer with ghost card and we are receiving a large number of important supplies from their organisation. So, he has every right to order us around." Reynar explained in a consoling manner.

"Father, we are paying three times extra for those supplements. There is no need for us to bow down before him." Natalia exclaimed annoyingly. She did not like her father bowing down to others.

"Nat, we are working in the criminal society, it is common for us to bow before the strong. For the survival and development of our family you need to do many things in future which you don't like."

"At one time, my father kneeled down before a ghost card holder for a getting a valuable medicine to save my life. I will also do the same if its for the family." Reynar explained her in a lecturing tone.

He is not angry at her daughter... but he got disappointed that his daughter is still thinking about pride.

"Sorry father, I shouldn't have talked like that." Natalia said in a depressing tone.

"It's ok... What happened in Mumbai? Did you meet that person?" Reynar asked eagerly while looking at his daughter.

"No father. That person has a very fool proof background. As he did not like spying... I enquired through other channels. He grow up in that city since childhood... even after three days of intense searching I did not find a single clue about his true background." Natalia explained annoyingly while thinking about Das.

"Nat, are you sure that he had a ghost card?... I think your brother made a mistake." Reynar asked with a doubtful look as he can't imagine ghost card in the hands of a teenager without any hidden background.

"Father, I'm hundred percent sure that, he had a ghost card... I personally checked the transaction details at the Black Sheds in Mumbai port area." Natalia replied assuringly.

"Then what should we do now...? Is there any way to befriend him?" Reynar asked with a worried face.

"After completing this auction, I will personally meet him and ask for his co-operation." Natalia replied with a thoughtful look.

"Nat, I don't know what you do, but make sure to find a way to co-operate with this person. If you succeed in this, we don't need to bow before Shadow organisation and also, we can save a billions of money." Reynar said ardently while looking at his daughter's eyes.

After seeing his father's emotion, Natalia determined to do anything for getting a co-operation with Das.

Mumbai, Film city, inside a luxurious villa...

Das just woke up to the sound of baby laughing. The clock is still ticking at five o'clock and it's still dark outside.

Das activated his vision to see in the pitch-dark bed room. The baby is still trying to get down from his stomach. Das got dumbfounded after activating his vision. Not because of the baby... Stella is hugging his neck while sleeping with a loud snoring.

Her face is just a breath away from Das. Das tried to remove her hands from his neck... But she hugged him more tightly in that super sleep mode.

After ten minutes of intense struggle, Das successfully got away from Stella's embrace. He picked up the milk bottle on the table and started feeding the baby. While feeding the baby, Das thought of what will happen in today's peace meeting.

"I really want to see the face of the Shetty family patriarch after placing a twenty thousand crores bet. He will definitely regret his life." Das muttered slowly as he thought of the peace meeting.

"Oy... drink slowly, no one is going to snatch your food." Das uttered in a funny tone as the baby is munching on the milk cap with a loud noise.

'Hehe...' the baby started giggling as he touched her nose. Slowly, the morning sun started lightening up his window and Stella took the baby into her hands as Das need to go for training.

"Wait... let me handle the baby. I'm not going for training today." Das said as he opened both arms for the baby.

But before Stella decided on that, Das iPhone started ringing like a chicken. Stella laughed at him and took the baby for morning routine.

"Why would anyone call me in this time...?" With a doubtful face, Das picked up the call from an unknown number.

"Hello... who is this?" Das asked impatiently.

"It's me."

With that one word Das understood who is calling. A wide grin appeared on his face. The person who called is the head of the Patel family... Maria.

"Where are you? Are you safe now?" Das questioned in a caring tone.

"I'm safe now and everything is alright." Maria replied with a sweet smile.

"Then why did you call me? Anything important?" Das asked back.

"Nothing. Are you free now?" Maria asked in a nervous tone.

"I'm always free for you." Das replied without considering the important peace meeting at Abdullah house.

"I'm in Taj palace now. Do you have time to come here?" Maria asked doubtfully in a stuttering tone.

Note: Get ready for shaka-laka-boom-boom, Just kidding... there will be a bonus chapter tonight aside from the regular chapter. Thank you for reading...

Maria is feeling nervous to talk with him like a teenager in love. Even though she is thirty three years old women and had a teenage daughter, she is feeling more shy to talk with him. Das laughed at her stuttering tone as she used to behave like a cold, aloof family head.

"If you say that you miss me... I will definitely come. Otherwise, forget about it." Das said in a playful manner with a sweet laughter.

"I can only stay here for one hour... it's your loss, if you don't come here fast." Maria directly disconnected the call after giving that prompt.

"This brat is treating me like his little lover." Maria muttered with a sweet smile.

One single night of romance made her fall in love with him. Even though it all happened due to the happy drug... she really felt close to Das after that intense struggle. If not for Das, she could have become a puppet in the hands of the Shetty family.

Das did not forced her that night... she accept him whole heartedly. Das put a full stop to her thirteen years of abandoned solo life which she sacrificed for the Patel family. With a exited heart she waited for Das eagerly.

After hearing that she only stay for one hour... Das got ready in ten minutes and left the villa in a flash. The Enfield raced on the busy roads of Mumbai and within twenty minutes, Das reached the Taj hotel.

Maria already messaged him about the room number... so, he directly took the elevator and knocked on her room door. In a flash, Maria pulled him inside and bolted the room door.

Hey... Das cried out as she pulled him directly.

"Did anybody followed here?" Maria asked ignoring his cries.

"No... why would I bring anyone." Das replied with a confusing look.

"That's good then... tell me how is the situation out there? Did anyone doubted you?" Maria questioned while mentioning about the massacre at Shetty family training centre.

"Nah... everything is alright. But, Why are you here? Didn't you say that you won't see me until one week?" Das questioned while sitting on the soft bed.

"Are you sad that I returned earlier than one week?" Maria questioned with her arms crossed around her chest.

"No, I'm really happy to see you. But I'm worried about you safety." Das said with a sweet smile.

"Don't worry. My family got a backer now. Because of their help, I arranged things pretty fast. I also sent my daughter and important family members to a safe spot." Maria replied while passing a water glass to Das.

"That's cool... then why did you call me?" Das asked as he placed the water glass on the table.

"Nothing... I just want to say that you don't need to worry about that massacre incident. The Shetty family won't find your involvement in this." Maria answered as she turned away from Das.

"Maria, stop joking. Do you think I'm afraid of Shetty family? Tell me the actual reason for calling me." Das asked trying to probe her motive. But Maria did not gave a reply to his question. She stayed silent while facing the mirror. Das stood up and walked near Maria.

"Why are you silent?" Das questioned as he turned her towards him by holding her shoulder.

Surprisingly Maria is crying silently with her head down... her entire face became wet because of the stream of tears.

"Why are you crying? Did anything happened?" Das asked caringly while holding her chin. But Maria resisted to lift her head and see into his eyes.

"Why all these girls are crying without saying anything." Das thought while thinking about Luna's sobbing.

"Mhm....I'm sorry... I shouldn't have called for you." Maria said in a sobbing voice.

"Stop crying... I can't understand what you are saying." Das shouted loudly.

"I'm sorry." Maria said loudly without stopping her tears.

"Why are you saying sorry..." Das asked again with a confused face.

"I'm sorry for wasting your time... please leave now. I can't control myself." Maria said in a aggrieved tone and moved away from Das.

Das took a long time to understand her odd behaviour. He immediately pulled her back and hugged her tightly.

"I'm sorry... I should done this earlier." Das said while hugging her whole heartedly.

"Leave me... we should not do this." Maria side, trying to get away from him.

"We already done everything and we did it with love and passion. Don't try to hide your feelings." Das said without letting her leave his embrace.

"No, it was an accident. You will suffer if we continue this. I also had a grown up daughter." Maria said with loud wailing noise.

"Ohh... so that's what you are afraid off. Maria, stop crying. I don't care about age or back ground. It's ok even if you had a daughter or family to take care. I already fell in love with you." Das said emotionally while caressing her beautiful face.

After listening to his loveable words, the block in Maria's heart melted and she stopped her wailing with tight hug. She understood that the feelings are mutual.

"Why are you silent... if you really want me to leave... I will leave without saying another word." Das said while kissing her on the forehead. Instead of replying she moved her hands and slowly unbuttoned his shirt with a teary face.

"What are you doing?" Das tried to hold her hands. But she gave a deep look into his eyes and continued to remove his shirt button.

After taking off his under shirt... she moved fingers onto the bite marks she made 'that' night. Most of the bite marks already disappeared from his body because of the transformation from the Aries spirit.

She caressed the deep bite left on the top of his shoulder.

"I'm sorry. I made you suffer." Maria said in a depressing tone with moist eyes.

"I won't mind if you add few more bites." Das said in a playful tone as he leaned down to kiss her lips.
