

Bumpkin 36

Chapter 36

"Hahaha. Good. Good. I feel very good."

Tony was grinning from car to car as he looked at Matthew and said, "My laughter has been spoiled by her mother since young. Don't take what she said to heart."

"Yes, yes. She's ignorant. Young Master Matthew, don't get angry."

Daniella knew that Matthew had noble status, so she dared not call him by his first name, which was why she called him 'Young Master Matthew

"I won't."

A smile appeared on Matthew's cold face. "The doctor said that Mr. Murphy's physical indicators are normal, and he can be discharged from the hospital tomorrow."

"Hahaha. Thank you. It's all thanks to you."

"Yes, the old man is right. Young Master Matthew, if it weren't for your help, I don't even know when he would wake up."

Daniella was extremely grateful toward Matthew, and she didn't forget to tell Veronica, "We owe Young Master Matthew such a huge favor. You have to treat him to dinner tonight. Got it?"

Veronica pursed her lips and wanted to refuse, but seeing her adoptive parents' happy smiles, which she hadn't seen for a long time, she couldn't bear to refute.

She could only give them an unhappy nod. "All right."

She didn't want to see Matthew acting pretentious in front of her adoptive parents, so she turned and walked out of the ward before going straight to the nurses' station.

At the nurses' station, Veronica reported the ward number to the nurse and asked, "Nurse, can you help me check how much my dad's medical expenses are?"

"Tony Murphy, right?"

"Yes, that's right."

"You owe..." Looking at the bill, the nurse suddenly stopped talking and leaned closer to the computer screen; then she mullered, "Is there i problem with the system llow can you owe so much"

"What's the matter" Veronica asked.

ower on the screen, then said to Veronica windi certainty, million.." Veronica couleu't help exclaiming, but slie quickly covered her mouth for fear whispered, "Why's the amount so high? Can you show smoldering with indignation just now, but now you can't afford bills."

a sudden, a voice sounded back and saw Matthew looking at her with interest, already printed out the bill and was handing in to Veronica.

talking to Veronica, but she kept staring unblinkingly at Matthew. Her face had turned crimson as her heart was man is private hospital with extremely high at the overflowing bill, she physically and she paid

than 550,000 short of paying was she supposed to get the afford it..." the man leaned close to her ear and said in a deep voice.

consider compensating heat brushed against her hair. It stimulated her neck, making it feel numb. She couldn't stop the image of her being intimate with him from floating into her so even though her face was looked directly at Matthew with cold, sharp eyes. "Young Master Matthew, it's not breeding season yet. Are you on heat trace of coldness appeared on Matthew's face. "I'm waiting the man retracted his gaze, the bill and headed toward so ugly. Why are they fighting for clearly heard the nurse's statements, but she

the ward, Veronica saw her adoptive parents chatting, and she said, "Dad, Mom, congratulations on being able to be

yes. Our family can finally go back to our lying. "I... I will send you guys back first. I might get promoted, so I to find out the truth about her adoptive the car accident. If she simply

You're not

She glanced at Tony and said, "Your father and I have recovered. How can we rest assured if we leave you alone in Bloomstead? Besides, the Larson Family has no good intentions. What if they much money you make, as long