

Bumpkin 40

Chapter 40

Perceiving Xavier's worry, Veronica pondered for a moment and said to Xavier in a serious manner as her smile vanished, "Trust me, Xavier. What you're thinking of right now, I've thought it through already." |

"What do you mean?"

Xavier was perplexed, but following that, his eyes glistened all of a sudden. "Did you do that deliberately?"

Veronica smiled confidently and nodded. Suddenly, the phone in her pocket rang. She fished out the phone and glanced at the caller ID. "I'm going to answer the call," she said to Xavier.

Veronica walked to the side holding her phone. Then, Matthew's voice came forth from the other end of the line. "Do you think that you can run away after sending your parents back to their hometown?"

After Veronica injured Tiffany in the western restaurant the other day, Matthew carried Tiffany and left. The next day, upon knowing Veronica left with her parents, Matthew called her a couple of times but she did not pick up. It was only until today, the third day, did she answer his call. If she still did not answer his call, Matthew was seriously going to send Thomas to catch her.

"I'll go to the hospital to settle the discharge procedure later," Veronica said.

"I've already paid the outstanding medical balances for you. Show up at Twilight Club in half an hour; otherwise, I'll charge you interest according to the highest market rate."

"Ma-Beep... Beep...

Veronica still wanted to say something, but Matthew already hung up, leaving her gnashing her teeth in anger. After keeping away her phone, she turned to walk to Xavier and said apologetically, "Since you're already here, can you send me back? I still have some matters to attend to in the afternoon, but I'll buy you lunch tomorrow."

"Sure."

Xavier thought Veronica was going to handle some matters regarding the Larson Family, so he did not continue asking.
