Boss Your Wife's Asking for A Divorce Again Chapter 1481

Tina could not accept that explanation, but she had no choice but to obey it. She depended on Connor for a living, so if she dared to defy him, he would certainly take her life.

She bit her lip and looked at Sonia reluctantly. "Fine. You're lucky I can't do anything to you because you have your child as protection, but don't you get too cocky! I can still slap you whenever I want. That ought to do some damage to you." With that, she left the warehouse.

In the meantime, Xander looked at Sonia and clucked his tongue. "You're in such bad shape. I'm sure Toby would be heartbroken to see you like this." He fished out his phone and snapped a picture before leaving as well.

At that point, the dizzy and suffering Sonia deduced that she might have a slight concussion because Tina had put all her force into those slaps! A while after Xander left, she could not hold on any longer and fainted with her head tilted to the side.

Outside the warehouse, Connor was reprimanding Tina. When she almost took Sonia's life earlier, she overstepped the line as he needed Sonia to threaten Toby. How was he going to do with a dead woman?

That was why he was giving Tina the same treatment she had given Sonia earlier. The only difference was Sonia gritted her teeth and made no sound, while Tina started begging from the pain of one slap.

Xander sneered as he watched the scene and then sent the pictures he took to Toby.

On the other hand, Toby was making his way to the relevant departments to check the satellites when his phone suddenly vibrated. After taking it out and seeing the picture, he was instantly enraged and filled with murderous intent. He could hardly breathe because the picture showed Sonia tied to a chair with messy hair, swollen cheeks, and blood at the corner of her lips. It was obvious that someone had tortured her.

Looking at her appearance, Toby was loaded with anger and heartbreak. The person in the picture was the love of his life, his wife! He blamed himself for implicating her in the hatred between the Fullers and the Salzburg Family, causing her unnecessary hardship.

Also, there was an arrogant provocation attached to the picture. 'Toby Fuller, are you angry? Do you feel heartbroken? The anger and pain you're currently feeling are the same as how I felt back then.'

That was certainly not from Connor. Firstly, it was not in his nature to do something like that, and secondly, why would he feel anger and heartbreak? Therefore, that caption was likely from Tina or someone besides Connor that hated Toby.

“President Fuller, what happened?” Tom, who was driving, noticed Toby’s murderous aura and gripped the steering wheel.

Toby clutched his phone tightly without answering. Instead, he ordered, “Drive faster!” He had to get to the surveillance footage as soon as possible to find Sonia. Otherwise, something might happen to her if he were too late.

“Got it!” Although Tom did not know what had happened, he could guess it was nothing fortunate. Therefore, he immediately stomped on the accelerator and drove at full speed.

On the hill, Xander waited for a while but was disappointed when he did not receive any replies from Toby. He thought Toby would warn him not to harm Sonia, but that guy did not even respond.

Feeling disinterested, he put away his phone and went to look for Connor. When he passed by Tina, he looked at her like she was trash.

On the other hand, the satellite surveillance system proved its mighty power, for nothing escaped its surveillance. Soon, Tony located the route of Sonia’s abduction and finally locked onto a particular hill.

It was not far from Fuller Residence, so Connor might have chosen there because he thought it was a good idea to hide in plain sight.

Once they confirmed the abductors stayed put on the hill after settling Sonia, Tom asked Toby, “President Fuller, Mrs. Fuller is right there. Let’s prepare to rescue her. The police and military forces have begun operation, and the thermal imager has been brought over there too.”

Since the hill was large, the satellite surveillance system could only search above ground, so they failed to detect further. If there were any caves inside those hills, they would not be able to see inside, which would make their search even harder.

In such a situation, a professional thermal imager came in handy. The body temperature of a human was different from an animal’s, so they only had to use the machine to scan the hill to find out where Connor and the others were.

“Since we know where she is, of course, we should get started. Come on!” Toby strode out of the department.

He was going to personally rescue his wife back home. When Rose and Mary found out that he had discovered where Sonia was, they exhorted him to save Sonia. Had it not been for their old age, they would have tagged along.

Once Toby exited the relevant department and was about to hop into the car, an MPV suddenly approached them and stopped before him.

When the door opened, Charles jumped out of the car, followed by Zane, who reached inside the vehicle, seemingly helping someone to alight. The next moment, Toby saw Zane assisting Titus.

"You—" Before Toby could finish, Charles threw his fist at Toby's face.

With a tilt of his head, Toby dodged the attack and immediately grabbed Charles' wrist.

Since Charles was not as tall and strong as Toby, he naturally did not have much strength in comparison to Toby. Therefore, Toby easily won against him.

"Let go of me. Toby, you let go of me." Charles roared in anger, "You bastard. Do you remember what you said before? You said you would protect Sonny and never let her get into any kind of danger. Now, tell me. Is this how you keep your promises?"

When faced with Charles' questions, Toby felt guilty because he had indeed broken his promise.

"I will save her, and if anything happens to her, I'll go with her!" Toby looked at Charles with his dark eyes, expressing his stance in a stern tone.

Sensing the sincerity in his words, Charles snorted coldly as his anger diminished. "Why aren't you letting go?"

Toby pushed him back and released his hand before looking at Zane and Titus. "Why are you two here?"

"How can we not come over when something as huge as this happened to Sonia? We're here for the rescue!" Zane replied.

Titus nodded. "She's my daughter. Though I've never raised her and even mistreated her, I have to save her as a father since she's in a dangerous situation. I can't just wait in my ward and do nothing."

It was in a father's nature to protect his daughter. Moreover, he had done nothing for Sonia in the past, so he had to save her this time.

"Your body condition doesn't allow you to stay out for too long, and you might not make it back alive." Toby looked at Titus and told him about the possible outcome.

However, Titus laughed. "I understand that. It's also a kind of happiness to sacrifice oneself for your children. I've already realized that earlier on."

Hearing that, Toby did not argue further. "How did you know something happened to Sonia?" He looked at Zane. His intuition told him that Zane was the first to find out.

"You mobilized a large force and caused such a huge commotion, and you even came here. As a member of the dignitaries, how could I not hear about that? I only had to ask around to know what was going on, so I called Charles and President Gray. Plus, I want to help. You wouldn't reject me, right?" Zane asked with a smile.

The Final Battle

"Of course, you can." Toby smiled. One more person meant one more plan to rescue Sonia, increasing his chances of saving her. So, he naturally wouldn't reject Zane.

"That's great." Zane snapped his fingers.

Charles tidied up his clothes and approached them. "Bring Tim too. That guy's a doctor and in case Sonia..."

He didn't say the rest, but everyone knew what he meant.

With pursed lips, Toby retorted, "I don't need you to remind me. I've already notified Tim. Let's get moving."

After he was done, he pulled the car door open and got in.

They were planning on riding an elevator over there, so they wouldn't have to waste any effort climbing the hill. However, the helicopters were at the Fuller Group building's rooftop, so they would have to head there first.

Fortunately, Fuller Group wasn't far from where they were, so it only took them over ten minutes to get there.

Five helicopters were waiting on the Fuller Group building's rooftop. Three of them were for public use, while the other two were for Toby's private travels.

Once everyone boarded the helicopters, they began their journey toward the hill where Connor was.

The police and military had their helicopters, so they didn't depart from the same place as Toby and would depart from their own bases.

Meanwhile, inside the helicopter, Toby looked down at the ground, feeling down. He knew this first time of him facing Connor head-on would also be the last.

Once this was over, the grudges between the Fuller Family and Salzburg Family would disappear entirely.

They soon arrived at the hill. Connor and his men also heard the sound of helicopter propellers in the sky and looked up.

When Xander saw the scene in the sky, he paled. "Mr. Salzburg, Toby's here, and so are the military and police!"

"I know." Unexpectedly, Connor's expression was very calm, like he had expected this to happen.

"But how?" Xander couldn't quite accept the reality. "How did they find this place so quickly?"

This was a route they spent a long time planning and setting up, and though Xander knew Toby would find them in the end, he didn't expect Toby to find them within a day. Everything happened so quickly that he couldn't accept it.

"The Fullers can easily find this place by using the satellite surveillance system. Otherwise, why do you think I didn't choose an even more secluded place?" Connor eyed Xander.

That was because he knew that no matter where he hid, the satellite surveillance system would find him, so there was no need to hide in a more secluded place.

After listening to Connor's explanation, Xander gritted his teeth. "Damn it! I'll bring that woman out."

Connor didn't stop Xander from going into the warehouse. Later, Tina stumbled out, obviously flustered. "Mr. Salzburg, what's going in? Has Toby and the others arrived?"

"Just look up at the sky, and you'll know." Connor looked up and saw the helicopters that were approaching them. Gosh, there must be dozens of them. Seems like they see quite highly of me.

When Tina heard that, she looked up at the sky and saw the dense cluster of helicopters. Her complexion turned as pale as paper. "How can this be? How could they have come so quickly?"

Connor ignored her.

At that moment, someone suddenly yelled from a police helicopter, "Attention, Connor Salzburg, you have been surrounded. Please surrender immediately and release the hostage. I repeat, please surrender immediately and release the hostage!"

After listening to that warning, Tina was scared out of her wits. She had been in jail and a mental hospital before, so she was terrified while in such a situation.

"Mr. Salzburg, hurry up and do something." Tina was so anxious that she was about to cry.

However, Connor only gave a cold stare. "We're already surrounded. What do you think there is to do?"

Tina felt devastated. "What do you mean? Are you saying that there's nothing we can do? We're just going to wait here and let them apprehend us?"

"You can run if you think you can escape." Connor snickered.

Feeling her body sway as if she were about to faint, Tina argued, "This isn't what you told me before. You said you could trick Toby into coming here, and we'll deal with him together. You didn't tell me this would happen!" She pointed at the sky.

"So, I say you're dumb to have believed in my words." Connor rose to his feet and laughed.

"You—" Tina was furious.

At that moment, Xander brought Sonia over, and since Sonia was still unconscious, she was dragged over.

Meanwhile, the helicopters hovering in the sky also began to descend one by one.

Soon, both sides were standing face to face.

Connor only had about twenty to thirty people, while Toby had over a hundred. The capability of both forces was obvious at a glance—Connor was definitely going to lose. In the meantime, Toby saw Xander was holding onto Sonia. Sonia's head was slightly lowered, which made it obvious that she had fainted. So, Toby's eyebrows were scrunched tightly together while he had a solemn expression.

"What did you do to my wife?" He gnashed his teeth slightly while speaking in an icy tone.

Then, Xander smiled victoriously. "Don't worry. We didn't do anything to your wife. She's fine, and the child inside her belly is still there. The most we did was slap her a few times, but she did it, not us." He immediately exposed Tina, who shot death glares at Xander before looking at the exceptionally handsome man before her with affectionate and hateful eyes. "Toby, do you know who I am?"

Connor didn't stop Xander from going into the warehouse. Later, Tina stumbled out, obviously flustered. "Mr. Selzburg, what's going in? Has Toby and the others arrived?"

"Just look up at the sky, and you'll know." Connor looked up and saw the helicopters that were approaching them. Gosh, there must be dozens of them. Seems like they see quite highly of me.

When Tina heard that, she looked up at the sky and saw the dense cluster of helicopters. Her complexion turned as pale as paper. "How can this be? How could they have come so quickly?"

"So, I say you're dumb to have believed in my words." Connor rose to his feet and laughed.

"You—" Tine was furious.

At that moment, Xander brought Sonie over, and since Sonie was still unconscious, she was dragged over.

Meanwhile, the helicopters hovering in the sky also began to descend one by one.

Soon, both sides were standing face to face.

Connor only had about twenty to thirty people, while Toby had over a hundred. The capability of both forces was obvious at a glance—Connor was definitely going to lose.

He immediately exposed Tine, who shot death glances at Xander before looking at the exceptionally handsome man before her with affectionate and hateful eyes. "Toby, do you know who I am?"

"Tina Gray, how dare you hit my wife?" Toby had no intention of playing any games with her, so he immediately exposed her identity.

When Titus heard that name, he was shocked. "Who? Whom did you say she was?" He then turned to look at Tina. "Are you Tina?"

Tina didn't expect that Toby had already known about her identity. So, she bit her lips and admitted, "That's right. I am Tina Gray, the one daughter that you abandoned. Are you happy to see me, Dad?"

"How did you become like this?" Titus found it hard to believe what he saw.

Tina's expression twisted. "I became like this because of you. Why didn't you protect me? Why didn't you help me get rid of Sonia? If you did, I wouldn't have been locked up in jail and admitted to a mental hospital. Also, I wouldn't have changed my looks. All of this is your fault. It was you who made me into this!"

If Sonia hadn't been his daughter, Titus wouldn't have gotten angry at Tina for saying that. However, Sonia was his daughter, so he couldn't accept Tina's argument.

"Shut up, you b*stard. What do you mean when you said we caused you to become this way? You're the one who is wicked and vicious. I didn't even blame you for causing harm to my daughter," Titus reprimanded.

Hearing the words “my daughter,” Tina lost her cool. “Your daughter? I am your daughter. Since you decided to take me in, you should only raise me. Why do you have to keep thinking about Rina? That’s unfair.”

Once she said that, she suddenly began laughing hysterically. “Oh, don’t you love your daughter Sonia? Would you break down if I killed her in front of your eyes? How about you, Toby?”

“Don’t you dare!” Titus barked with a solemn face.

Even though Toby said nothing, the murderous intention he released almost made others suffocate.

Zane and Charles were also staring at Tina with hatred.

“I’ll show you whether I dare to do it!” When Tina finished speaking, she grabbed Sonia from Xander and slapped her twice again.

This time, Sonia woke up and saw Toby and the others in front of her. She knew they had come to save her, so she didn’t care about the pain in her cheek and looked at them with reddened eyes. “Toby…”

“Don’t be afraid. I will save you!” Toby relaxed his frown a little while he comforted Sonia.

Titus quickly added, “Sonny, I’ll save you too.”

“Us too,” Zane and Charles also spoke up.

To tell the truth, Sonia wasn’t surprised that Zane and Charles would come to save her. She and Charles grew up together, so he wouldn’t sit there and do nothing. As for Zane, she was a civilian while he was a dignitary, so he wouldn’t be absent in such cases.

What surprised her was that Titus came as well. Is his condition... well enough for him to do such a thing? she wondered.

Sonia looked at Titus with mixed expressions, including shock, unexpected, surprise, and worry.

When Titus noticed that, he felt very comforted because his daughter cared about him.

“Hahaha! What a touching scene.” Tina laughed hysterically and broke the warm atmosphere. Then, she pulled a gun from somewhere and held it against Sonia’s temple.

Everyone on the scene was shocked at her actions.

“What do you think you’re doing?” Toby asked.

“Can’t you see? I’m going to kill her. In my entire life, I hated her the most. When I see all of you care so much for her, the more I feel like killing her so that all of you can suffer in pain. Wouldn’t that be interesting to see?” Tina chuckled while she spoke.

“Don’t you dare!” Toby had his hands clenched into fists.

“Watch me!” Once Tina said those words, she nudged the gun barrel harder against Sonia’s temple.

Feeling the pain in her temple, Sonia groaned while Tina was about to pull the trigger.

At that moment, Tina’s laugh became even happier.

“No!” When Titus and the others saw that, their pupils contracted as they quickly screamed for Tina to stop.

However, Tina looked at them and smiled even brighter. The more they screamed for her to stop, the more eager she was.

Bang! A gun was fired, and the sound startled almost all the birds inside the forest, causing them to fly away.

“No—” Titus screamed at the top of his voice and fell to the ground, thinking that Tina had killed Sonia.

Even Sonia thought so, but she felt no pain after closing her eyes and waiting for a long while.

Confused, she opened her eyes and saw Toby and the others still standing before her. What happened? Am I not dead?

While she was thinking about that, she suddenly heard something fall to the ground behind her.

The sound startled her, and she quickly turned around to look. She saw Tina on the ground with both eyes wide open and blood spurting from a hole in her chest.

If her eyelashes hadn't been moving, those who didn't know what happened might have thought she was dead. But judging by the looks of it, she might not make it.

What just happened? Sonia felt a little dizzy.

Then, Toby yelled to her, "Little Leaf, come here, quick. The police in the sky shot and killed Tina."

It was after hearing what Toby said that Sonia realized what had happened. Since Tina was about to shoot her hostage, the police were on first alert and shot Tina before she pulled the trigger.

In the meantime, the military and police that were still hovering above the ground all aimed their guns at Conner and his gang. If any one of them made a move, the military and police wouldn't hesitate to shoot them.

That was because Connor was a very dangerous criminal, so they could kill him if they couldn't apprehend him.

Connor knew that as well, so he didn't stop Sonia from heading over to Toby's side, but his expression was as dark as coal.

Knowing that she was free, Sonia quickly ran toward Toby.

However, at that moment, Xander's expression suddenly twisted wickedly. He ignored the armed forces in the sky and shot at Sonia's back.

The hatred he had for Toby was so strong that he decided that since he couldn't kill Toby, he would kill the person he cared about the most and make him suffer for the rest of his life.

Bang! Bang! Bang! There was another round of gunshots.

When Titus noticed Xander's movements, he quickly ran over and hid Sonia behind his back.

Then, with a "Pfft" sound, the bullet entered Titus' flesh.

The bullet hit Titus' chest. His eyes suddenly widened as blood spurted out of his chest, and he fell with his back against Sonia.

Everyone was shocked at what happened, especially Sonia.

She subconsciously caught Titus' falling body and fell to the ground with him in her arms. However, when she saw blood keep pouring out of his chest and mouth, her mind went blank, and she froze.

Toby approached them and looked at Titus with a complicated expression.

During that moment, he had the same thought as Titus and wanted to take the bullet for Sonia.

In fact, according to their speed, it should have been Toby who took the bullet, but in the end, it was Titus.

In that instance, Titus moved faster than Toby. Perhaps it was because he desperately wanted to save his daughter, so he suddenly had an inexplicable strength bursting out of him.

“Sonny...” Titus lay in Sonia’s arms while looking at her dazedly while smiling. “Thank God. I saved you.” Cough! Cough!

He coughed out a few mouthfuls of blood, and his breathing became faster, obviously indicating that he couldn’t last much longer.

When Sonia returned to her senses, her eyes reddened immediately. “Who asked you to save me? I didn’t ask you to save me!”

“I know, but I wanted to. You’re my daughter and the person I love the most besides your mother. I even love you more than Toby does, so how could I watch you get hurt and do nothing? These twenty or so years, I know I’ve made many wrong decisions and can’t make it up to you. But now that I’m about to die, can you forgive me for what I did?”

He raised his hand, wanting to touch Sonia’s cheek but was unable to reach her cheek.

Without hesitating, Sonia grabbed his hand and placed it on her face while she sobbed. “Don’t die. Please don’t die...”

At that moment, she didn’t want him to die. But, even if she knew he would eventually die, seeing him about to lose his life made her understand that she wasn’t as open-minded and accepting of the situation as she thought.

“It’s too late.” Titus shook his head. “I’ve done too many wrong things, so I should go and apologize to the people I wronged. Sonny, I’m happy that I was able to save you. From now on, please take care of your mother. She has never done anything wrong, so don’t blame her, okay?”

Sonia cried.

Titus looked at Toby. “Toby—”

"I know what you want to say. I will love and cherish her forever." Toby kneeled and made a promise before Titus.

Smiling, Titus said, "That's good to hear. Sony, can you call me 'Dad'? I would like to hear you call me that before I go..."

Sonia parted her lips, but she couldn't make any sound.

When Titus saw that, he sighed, and the light in his eyes slowly dimmed. His hand was also starting to slip away from Sonia's hand.

In a moment of panic, Sonia tightly grabbed Titus' hand. "No, please. Dad, no..."

She called me 'Dad.' Finally, she called me 'Dad.' In the last moments of Titus' life, his wish came true. Therefore, he was smiling when he took his last breath. He died happy because he heard his daughter acknowledge him as her father and even called him "Dad."

"Ahh—" Sonia raised her head and wailed, feeling overwhelmed with grief.

Meanwhile, Toby was holding her in his arms, silently comforting her.

Charles and Zane signed. None of them had expected things would turn into this—that Connor's assistant would suddenly disregard everything and shoot Sonia.

In the end, Sonia didn't die, but Titus did.

The two looked at Xavier, who was shot multiple times, with eyes full of disgust.

In the end, Sonia fainted from crying. Toby picked her up and handed her to Tim.

As for Titus, his body was also brought away and moved into a helicopter.

Toby looked at Connor, who had multiple guns aimed at him, and spoke coldly. "Now, you're the only one left."

Though Toby said there was only Connor left, about a dozen bodyguards were standing behind Connor.

However, they weren't a problem because they could be easily dealt with. So, Toby ignored those people and only stared at Connor.
