"OK, great." Cassie felt glad I will tell you a secret Come here"

Perhaps she was afraid that the wall had ears...

Cassie waited for Paige to come closer before whispering, "I've written a will. If anything untoward happens, my shares, savings, houses, and cars will all be yours....."

Paige wanted to refuse Cassie

"Grandma, how can you do that?"

Cassie shushed Paige and whispered, "Listen to me... Tyrell has soft ears and always listens to Lindsey. Lindsey is mean and doesn't like you.... The two of them are just not manager material. If my legacy is handed to them, the legacy will be dissipated sooner or later."

"But you can do it. I'm willing to give it to you. Besides, all these years, I've already treated you as my granddaughter. No matter

What Cassie said was true. Tyrell and Lindsey were really bad at business skills.

"There is one more thing, Lindsey and others always b*lly you. After you get the shares, you either sell them for money or kick them out of the company directly. Don't let them destroy the Tate family's assets. In short, no need to be with them and make yourself suffer!

Paige did not expect that Cassie would even help her think of a way out. She felt like crying even more, "But those things are Paige was silent again. She knew that what Tyrell and Lindsey had done these years had completely broken Cassie's heart!

"These are mine to begin with. I will give them to anyone I want. You don't have to feel burdened. When I d*e, just take these things and treat them as a dowry I prepare Cassie hedged and smiled lovingly. "I wonder what kind of young man will be lucky to marry my outstanding granddaughter in the you a happy birthday in advance." Cassie was very happy. She did not expect that Paige would still remember her birthday. She first opened a gift box and inside it was a beautiful flower omament. This flower was made of high-quality gems and looked lifelike. It was pleasing to the eye.

Paige suddenly thought of something and took out something from his bag, "Oh right, it will be your birthday in two days. I wish

At the end of the flower, music would sound with a gentle touch. She knew this must cost a lot. "How much does it cost? You shouldn't have given this to me...".

"It's not expensive."

This was the birthday present Samuel prepared for Cassie. Paige did not point it out, but said, "Touch this and you will hear music coming out of here."

Cassie was very happy. "In this case, when I am bored, I can listen to music."

This thing was custom-made, and there were hundreds of piano pieces in it, all of which were rather pleasing.

"There are two other presents."

These two presents were prepared by Paige.

Paige had set up the phone specially for Cassie. The applications inside the phone were very simple and useful. "You can bought the jade, designed a pattern, and had this bracelet made. It was a lot more expensive than the bracelet she had given before.

Cassie was satisfied and happy. She took Paige's hand and chatted. Gradually, she felt tired and sleepy.

Cassie just needed a thing to contact people. "I must hide this and not let Lindsey and the others find it."

It was fair enough to say that this thing was priceless...

Weaning this bracelet, Cassie looked more elegant.

"There is also a bracelet that is quite suitable for you."

"You are so filial... Cassie was so touched that tears welled up in her eyes. "I like it so much. Put it on for me!" Paige gently put the bracelet on her wrist and said, "it suits you very much."

Paige held her hand and waited for her to fall asleep before gently covering her with the quilt

A few nurses who passed by couldn't help but whisper when they saw them.

"Is that the marvelous doctor who saved Mr. Stowe's life before? She and Dr. Williamson look well-matched!"

"Handsome man and beautiful woman! What a perfect couple! I also wish to see them get married now!"

Colin had been waiting outside the ward. Alter Paige came out, he took her to the office to eat

"Yes, both of them are good-looking, and they are better at medical skills than ordinary people." "I really hope they can be together!"

The two of them were both good looking, making a perfect couple

Unexpectedly, Paige suddenly asked, "Where is Amily? Why didn't I see her today?"

Paige would never make things difficult for her parents. She would agree to whatever request her parents brought up.

"Is there anything wrong with her stomach? Then, she should eat more cream mushroom soup." "What?? No, no need..." Hearing Paige's words, Patricia felt guilty and uneasy rather than happy, "Amily has already taken

Somehow, he felt that her food was delicious. She returned home at night. don't know if you are free to accompany me to Melody Theater?" Melody Theater again? Paige thought of the phone call today, and she had not given a reply... "By then, I will have to play the winning song on the stage. If I am alone, I will be a little afraid, but if you go with M*m and Dad, it will be different! Paige, can you go and cheer for me with M*m and Dad?" Patricia acted like a spoiled child, looking innocent and harmless. Donald asked with a grin, "Paige, have you been busy with work recently? If not, let's go together. After the award ceremony, we

"Yes, you have been back for more than ten days and we only went out for a meal. I feel bad for you somehow."
