

CEO's Mysterious Fiancee

CEO's Mysterious Fiancée By Piper Dunlap Chapter 13

• • •

Chapter 13

His Boss Is the Richest Man's Daughter

Get Boglas Patricia gave a happy smile.

When she came to the g arden, she saw her parents holding a girl's hand and saying something intimately. The girl was tall and ha d a slender waist. Her skin was naturally fair, unlike Patricia who achieved it through medical treatment an d skin care products. Patricia never had to do anything about it. As they approached,

Patricia found the gir

I was dressed in ordinary clothes, but her facial features were extremely outstanding. She had a fair little face which was somewhat similar to her mother's. A gust of wind blew, and the girl's hair danced with it. Her temperament was otherworldly. She was pure and beautiful. How could there be such a guest at home??

Patricia's heart surged with doubts. It seemed her parents cared about that girl very much. "Paige, how is the surprise of this garden? Are you surprised? Do you like it?" Donald had not finished speaking when he suddenly noticed Patricia in front of him. He froze before asking, "Patricia? Shouldn't you be back tomorrow afternoon? Why are you here today?" Realizing the garden surprise was prepared for that girl, Patricia was a little surprised and puzzled. She did not understand why her parents valued a girl they had never met so much. However, with a guest at home, Patricia smiled gracefully and said gently, "Dad, M*m, I came back early on my best friend's plane. Who is this?" Donald did not expect that Patricia would suddenly be home. He quickly smiled, "You came at the right time. Let me introduce you to Paige, your sister!" Sister? What sister? Could it be a distant relative? The girl was dressed in ordinary clothes and did not look like a close relative. All of Patricia's close relatives were rich, noble, and powerful. A distant relative dressed in plain clothes like the girl was probably here to make connections and borrow money, right? Donald naturally did not know what Patricia was thinking. He turned his head and said, "Paige, this is Patricia. I mentioned her to you. She just finished her examinations and summer vacation. She will live at home then." Paige understood and spoke out of courtesy, "Hello." Patricia nodded slightly and gave her signature fake smile, gently greeting, "Hello." Patricia did not take Paige seriously at all. She only thought she was a poor relative. Get Boguc "Mr. and Ms. Lusk, the clothes and shoes you ordered have arrived. It was personally sent by the manager of the brand. It is inside." "So fast?" Danica was overjoyed. She took Paige's hand and said, "Go in and see if you like them. Patricia, I have something to tell you later." Patricia was shocked. The bea utiful clothes and shoes inside prepared for Paige? Who was Paige? How could she get so much attention from Patricia's parents? Accompanied by Donald and Danica, Paige walked to the main hall. The brand head was already standing there respectfully. "Mr. and Mrs. Lusk, good afternoon. I am the person in charge of PQ Fashion. My name is Jaylen Terrell. You can just call me Jaylen. These clothes and shoes are the latest works of our brand founder, Paine. I heard you ordered them for your daughter?" "Yes." Danica looked at these beautiful clothes and shoes, nodding with satisfaction, "Paine's new work is indeed extraordinary. Paige, quickly come and see if you like them." Jaylen looked over, and the smile on his face instantly f roze. The girl had a beautiful face and clear eyes. The point was that she looked the same as his Boss! Jaylen was stupefied for a long time. He sized up Paige over and over again. She was like a clone of his boss! How could it be...? Three years ago, Paige created PQ Fashion with the name "Paine Quinn", and every piece of clothing was designed by her. Its style was unique, and the models looked perfect in it. However, each piece of clothing only had one copy.... Soon, it became famous in the upperclass circle and was sought after by many socialites, noble young ladies, and celebrities. Then, Paige launched the shoes and bags she designed, shocking the entire fashion industry. Her works won many interna tional awards, and in just three years, PQ Fashion rose from an obscure brand to an international top brand. Countless highend brands wanted to poach Paine, the designer, and even wanted to buy the PQ Fashion brand, but they were mercilessly rejected. “Paige, tell me if you are dissatisfied. You can ask Jaylen to make changes. He is in charge of the brand,” Danica said lovingly. Because the founder of PQ Fashion never showed her face and was focused on the creation, Jaylen was in charge of the operation. Jaylen suppressed his shock and bowed respectfully. “Miss, how should I address you?” Cet Borrás “My name is Paige.” Jaylen saw her raising her eyebrows and this voice... It was his boss! Who could tell him what was going on? How was hi s boss the daughter of the richest man in the country? If she was already so rich, why did she develop a brand of her own? No. Didn't the richest man in the country only have one daughter? It was Patricia... Was Paige an illegitimate child who needed to be kept a secret from the public? But if Paige wasn't supposed to exist, how would Danica allow her to stay in this house and dote on her so much?

• • •