Chapter 132

Chapter 132 There is a Mole

Nigel sneered, not listening to their explanation, “She can first memorize all the details in her mind, and then draw them out bit by bit every day as a disguise!”

“I didn’t.” Mariela was eager to prove her innocence that she cried. “They are my works! If there are plagiarizers, they must be them!”

When Nigel heard this, he immediately laughed, “Who are they? Elegance Couture! A famous clothing company! The one who designed these 23 new products is the famous designer, Layton Brocket! Who are you? A ***little girl who just graduated! Does he know you? How could he copy your works?”

“...” Mariela really didn’t know how to explain all the accusations put on her.

“If you are really talented in design, why didn’t! see you design such a stunning work before?”

Mariela hurriedly explained, “Before I drew these manuscripts, I received a lot of guidance from Ms. Paige. I had a steady flow of inspiration, so I created these!”

If not for Paige’s inspiration, Mariela wouldn’t have been able to move forward!

Nigel sneered, “Why does it sound like Ms. Paige taught you to copy other people’s works?”.

“No!” Mariela was angry and anxious. She wiped her tears and continued, “You can misinterpret my meaning and insult me as you will, but you can’t insult Ms. Paige! Ms. Paige is not such a person! She can’t do such a thing!”.

“You are so agitated that it is easy for others to misunderstand that you are protecting your accomplices, or you are afraid that the matter will be exposed...”

“You went too far!” Mariela clenched her fists and really wanted to punch him. He was too much of a ****!

At that moment, a cold voice sounded.

“How old is Mr. Ingram? Bullying a little girl?”

Everyone looked in the direction of the voice. It was Paige. Paige was here!

Everyone looked at Paige as if they had seen their savior.

Before Paige came, the entire department, especially Mariela, had suffered a lot!

“Ms. Paige...” When Mariela saw her, thousands of emotions welled up in her eyes. She loosened her fists and tears rolled down her face.

“Wipe off your tears.” Paige looked at Mariela and

Id gently, “Tears won’t help with your innocence. Justice comes either way.”

Mariela nodded obediently and immediately wiped away her tears.

Nigel looked at Paige, who looked like she was protecting her child, and sneered, “Such a big scandal happened in the company. I just found some clues, and Ms. Paige came to intervene. People who don’t know will think that Ms. Paige is here to steal the credit.”

Paige sneered Mr. Ingram is so eager to force people to confess. You are even more impatient than the police. People who don’t know will think that you are in a hurry to find someone to take the blame.”

When this was said, the whole department was shocked.

Nigel’s expression immediately changed, “What do you mean! This is obviously because Mariela, the young girl, copied other people’s works to win her fame and fortune!”

“Oh, are you a roundworm in her stomach? Do you know what she is thinking?”

Nigel was exasperated, “I know that you two have a good relationship, but she has made such a big mistake, and the headquarter demanded an investigation! You can’t protect her!”

“Are you in charge now?”

Paige thought, why didn’t I receive any news from the headquarter?

Nigel, a vice president, had received the instructions before me?

It’s obvious that this old man was lying! Using the headquarter to put pressure on me!

“The new product this time has produced 110 thousand pieces, worth tens of millions, and all of them are now in the warehouse! There are 23 designs suspected of plagiarism! I want to see how you’re going to hold the debut! If you have time to argue with me here, you might as well submit your resignation! If the headquarter helps, at least you can redeem some losses!

Although he said that, Nigel knew better than anyone else that under such an urgent situation, the headquarter would at most redeem some economic losses, and in terms of credit... They would probably suffer heavy losses!

There were goods in the warehouse, but they could not be sold. They had agreed on the time, but they did not hand over the goods to others. It was a big taboo for Daybreak Group!

Nigel secretly cheered in his heart, thinking, she’ll be toasted this time!

“A meeting immediately! Leaving these words behind, Paige left the Design Department first.

All the company executives rushed to the conference room. Paige sat in the main seat, still with a strong vibe of a big boss.

There was no trace of panic on her face after such a thing happened.

Everyone admired Paige’s strong psychological quality in their hearts.

‘Ms. Paige, Elegance Couture’s twenty-three pieces of clothing are exactly the same as our company in terms of color, patterns, workmanship, and length! There can’t be such a coincidence!

“They previously hired a star to endorse their products. Now, those new products are selling particularly well. Those who see the new products will definitely take the lead and think that they designed those new products first!

“At present, we have no evidence to prove that they plagiarized Mariela’s works. It looks like Mariela plagiarized them first.

“If the goods in the warehouse can’t be sold, we will lose a lot of money!

“Ms. Paige, the design drafts were drawn by Mariela. Could it be that she was really muddle-headed for a moment...”

‘No.’ Paige interrupted before the manager could finish “Mari would not do such a thing, nor would she betray the company.”

“Are you a roundworm in her stomach?” Nigel retorted with what Paige had just said, ‘Cats hide their claws...’

“I am not a roundworm in her stomach, but I am not like someone who only gets puddings in their head, and their IQ is as thin as the air on the plateau.”

“What do you mean?”

“I said you’re ***. Paige bluntly said, “Which plagiarizer will copy all of them? Can you think about it with your toes?”

“You...” Nigel temporarily suppressed the anger in his heart!

Nigel thought, Paige will soon leave the main seat. Mariela will be charged with plagiarism and the Lusk family will pursue the responsibility. Not only will Paige have to compensate for the huge loss, but she will also have to go to jail.

At that time, I will take my position back!

What she is doing now is useless!

Paige’s gaze fell on everyone. “Two main topics for the meeting. First, I firmly believe that Mari will not plagiarize. I believe in her character. Then the problem is, the design drafts were designed by her. Why would the rival company produce them ahead of us? Why did the rival company produce them in advance and make a big fuss? It feels like they’re looking at us as a joke.”

When she said this, she glanced at Nigel. Nigel turned his face away and did not have the patience to listen to her.

“Only I and the people from the Design Department have seen these 23 new designs. If it is passed to the rival company, the mole is among us.”

When Nigel heard this, he just wanted to say that the possibility of Paige was the most.

Unexpectedly, Paige added, “Of course, there is also the possibility that someone used ***tricks to betray the company...”
