Chapter 137 Your Family Helps Her

After fixing Nigel's problems, Paige took out her phone and ordered, 'No one is allowed to buy the four villas and 14 shops that Tyrell sells."

"Yes, I will give the order now."

Paige narrowed her eyes. There was another surprise for them.

Frank received the news at the headquarters of Daybreak Group.

Frank knocked on Heman's office door and reported respectfully, "Mr. Lusk, the clothing company made a new move."

"Who is it this time?" Heman raised his eyes expressionlessly.

Recently, that small company took action every two or three days. Heman heard that it was a young lady who managed the company

"Nigel sent by the headquarters, Frank reported truthfully. "He started an illegal website and tempted more than ten employees into placing their bets. To earn more money, these employees dragged their friends and families into the mire and eventually lost all their money..."

The look in Heman's eyes became deeper.

"He forced many female employees to have with him and took videos to threaten them.

"He threatened and lured those employees who urgently needed money to collude with him and betray the company. Mr. Collins, Ms. Kent, Ms. Dalton, and the leaders of the fourth and fifth production lines were involved and ended up in prison.

"Just by selling the company's waste fabrics, he made a profit of 115,630 dollars a year, and he even lied about a whole year's expenses...

"He instigated the employees to sell the company's good goods. They used inferior-quality cloth to produce clothes, attacked the company's labels, and sold them to other places. Most of the money earned belonged to him...

"Recently, he sold the company's design drafts to Elegance Couture and tried to frame Mariela

"Although he is now taken to the police station for interrogation, the company is facing a problem."

"What is it?" Herman asked in a low voice.

"Of the 33 new products we are going to launch tomorrow, 23 were sold to Elegance Couture by Nigel. Elegance Couture made these 23 products and launched them today. In other words, the tens of millions of products in our warehouse cannot be sold." Frank lowered his head and felt very sorry.

Although all this was caused by Nigel, the company's losses could not be calculated with money.

"What did the company's management say?" Herman asked softly.

"They didn't know what to do, but that young lady said confidently during the meeting that she had an idea. The company won't lose money or be discredited. Instead, it will make a profit."

To be honest, Frank did not believe Paige's words, but Hernan was looking forward to it. Paige had been giving them surprises since she assumed office.

"It is said that she got in with someone's help. Is it true?" Hernan asked lightly.

Frank did not expect that Heman would care about such a small matter. He hurriedly lowered his head and answered, "Yes. Your family helped her..."

"What?"

"She was appointed by your dad..."

"Is she called Paige?"

Heman thought hard, but he could not remember anyone he knew called Paige Was that lady highly valued by Donald for her outstanding management ability, so he specially hired her?

How about her educational background?"

"She only has a high school certificate... After Frank said this, he was worried that Heman would question Paige's ability, so he humedly added, "But her ability is obvious to all, and she is dedicated to the company..."

For example, Nigel deceived his superiors and deluded his subordinates. He made false accounts to deceive the headquarters Heman was busy, so he didn't have time to manage every branch. He trusted Nigel, but he was deceived by Nigel Fortunately, Paige found out what Nigel did, or the company would lose a lot of money!

"Have you ordered the gift?" Hernan asked.

Frank bowed and said respectfully, "The other party refused to give up. All the several negotiations failed."

"Who is that?"

"PQ Fashion said that she was from the Stowe family."

The Stowe family and the Lusk family were old friends. Heman could not fall out with the Stowe family because of a necklace worth 4.8 million dollars.

Hernan could only choose another one.

Frank opened PQ Fashion's official link again. Heman selected again and finally chose a clover necklace.

The four leaves were inlaid with high-quality green diamonds, but it only needed 420 thousand dollars. It was not expensive enough.

"This one." Herman handed over the iPad to Frank. "I want to go home and have dinner with my sister tonight, so I have to finish the important work in the afternoon."

"Yes." Frank picked a few more important documents and respectfully gave them to Heman. "Oh right, many people know that you have returned and want to meet you for dinner for the next two days. When do

"Turn them down." Herman felt that he should spare more time with his sister

Nigel complained tearfully in the police station that he was wronged.

you think..."

According to Nigel, Paige forced him to say that in the recording, and the evidence was fabricated by Paige.

Nigel also requested to see Donald, saying that he was a veteran promoted by Donald, and would never let the Lusk family down!

The new police officer had never seen such a troublesome middle-aged man before, so he called Donald....

Donald and Danica's car happened to pass by. When they heard this, they angrily went to the interrogation room.

"Mr. Lusk, you finally came. I wanted to smash my head on this wall, but on second thought, the person with evil designs would be happy to see that."

Nigel suddenly knelt at Donald's feet and wailed. "You know what, the new young lady in the company wronged me and made me feel bitter. I still remember the kindness you showed me in the past. How could I do something to harm the Lusk family and you? She is bullying!"

Nigel flung his arms around Donald's leg and cried. "Mr. Lusk, you must save me! Now, except you, no one can prove my innocence...

As long as you say something, that young lady will have to come here!"

"Are you saying that my beloved daughter wronged you? Do you want her to go to jail?" Danica's face was cold. She acted like a noble lady.

Hearing what Danica said, Nigel was greatly shocked and thought he heard it wrong...

"Mrs. Lusk, you misunderstood. I was talking about the young lady in the company... It was not Patricia!"

"She is my biological daughter."

Hearing Danica's words, Nigel opened his wide. He was stunned and stopped shouting...

Wasn't that young lady called Paige?

How could she be the daughter of Donald and Danica?

Wasn't their daughter called Patricia?

It was so strange!
