Chapter 140

Chapter 140 Make

The dining table was full of vanous delicious food.

“Heman, you haven’t been home for a long time. Tonight, let’s have a drink Donald poured a glass of wine for Herman and said to the girl beside him, “Patricia, you are young. Just have some juice.”

“I also want to drink with Herman,” Patricia said adorably

“Good girl, you can drink wine when you grow up.” Donald poured himself another glass and asked Herman cheerfully. “I heard that the situation overseas has stabilized?”

“Yes, it’s almost done.” Heman had been busy there for several months and cleared many obstacles. The situation finally stabilized

Heman looked around. He only found four sets of tableware.

Other than his parents, there were only his and Patricia’s

Where was his sister’s tableware?

“Paige called me just now and said that she had some work to deal with...” Danica said at that time “Work?” Herman was a little surprised.

Herman thought, my sister is only eighteen years old.

She was bom on the same day as Patricia. Why does she go to work so quickly?

“You still don’t know, do you? Our clothing company has recently been handled by Paige, and she has made a big move. You should have received the news from her, right?”

Donald clinked glasses with Herman happily. After drinking it down, Donald said slowly. “I didn’t expect Paige to have such a high talent in business at such a young age. Paige has only been there for a few days, and she has caught many cats. She even caught the mastermind.”

Thinking of Nigel, Donald felt very distressed.

Heman remembered the recent changes in the company and subconsciously asked, “Paige?”

Hernan was a little surprised.

“Yes, Paige Lusk, your sister.”

Hearing the word “sister”, Patricia bit her lips and gave the food to Heman. “Herman, this is your favorite meat. Have a try.”

“Thank you.” Hemman had always been indifferent, but when he looked at his family, he was gentle.

Patricia felt much more comfortable. She thought, since Heman returned, that *didn’t even come to greet him, and she’s still at work

Patricia also attentively poured wine for Hernan and her parents as if she was so sweet.

After knowing that the person who recently made a big move in the clothing company was actually Paige, Heman found it interesting.

There would be new releases tomorrow. Paige didn’t go home for the meal. Herman thought she must be busy with that.

Although Herman hadn’t seen Paige before and didn’t know her conduct, he still had a good impression of Paige as she was so young.

“If Paige weren’t that young, I would really ask her to manage the other companies.” Donald trusted Paige’s business ability very much, but she was still young and had just returned to this family. Donald couldn’t bear to see her tired.

Danica was eating when she suddenly remembered something. “By the way, just now she said on the phone that she was going to participate in some design competition in two days. Time is very limited, and she won’t come back early these nights

Ever since Paige retumed home, she had devoted herself to her work, and Danica felt sorry....

At first, they asked Paige to manage the company, just to satisfy her... They didn’t expect her to make something big

But Paige was very responsible. This was beyond everyone’s expectations.

Not only did Paige manage the company well, but she could also keep her interest and make some time to participate in the competition.

“Paige is going to participate in the design competition?” Donald was very surprised.

“I heard her say so... I didn’t expect that she not only knows how to manage the company, but she can also design. Danica was really proud of such a daughter. At the same time, she felt that it was hard for Paige to be like this every day. At such a young age, Paige bore a heavy load.

Danica thought she must make more nutritious food for Paige.

Meanwhile, Danica decided to ask Paige if she liked this job at some time. If not, she would tell Page to quit and just enjoy her life.

The design competition?

Heman suddenly remembered what Frank said. Someone invited Herman to be the judge of the design competition...

But Hernan didn’t have the time and refused.

“By the way, have your other brothers contacted you recently?” Danica took a sip of the wine and continued to ask, “Did they say when they would be back? It’s been many days, but none of them called me.”

“No.” Hemman rarely contacted them, but they would occasionally send messages to him, especially Jack, who was simply a chalterbox. However, Herman replied very little and spent most of his time working.

To expand the group and seize more foreign markets, Herman had been busy abroad for the past two years. Some countries were hostile to Americans, and some local tyrants were tough, who were hard to handle.

Fortunately, with Herman’s efforts, the group had expanded more than twice as much as when Donald first handed it to him.

Other than work, Heman would usually rest alone

Herman’s family knew that his schedule was shockingly tight so they were already used to him not replying...

“I heard that our group has made new progress in research and development. This new outcome has caused forces overseas to be cautious. You have to be careful next.”

Although Donald trusted Herman’s ability, some forces must be taken seriously. It could be said that it was a competition between countries, but it was just a secret.

“I wonder how many obstacles they will make for you, how many things they will do to offend you... Donald was a little worried.

“Don’t worry will handle it.”

Hearing Herman’s words, Donald was more or less relieved. “I know that you are very capable... Since childhood, you have been the most sensible, but sometimes, don’t be too tired and have to rest...”

your “Hernan seldom comes back. Let’s not talk about work.” Danica gave Herman some food. “Enjoy the meal. This is favorite.”

Knapcoll Villa.

Paige stored the extracted Sarolian in liquid form at a low temperature of minus eight degrees.

The surrounding doctors and experts were stunned and kept praising her

“We made it. We finally made it!”

“Ms. Paige, you’re so awesome. In such a short period, you could even extract Sarolian, whose purity was so high. I do admire you.”

“We tried for more than ten days and failed all the time. Ms. Paige, I didn’t expect you to solve this problem as soon as you arrived. Hahaha, we can sleep well next.”

“But there are other medicinal herbs such as Eleuthero and Huperzia. We need to synthesize them to maximize the level of acetylcholine...”

This was much more difficult than extracting Sarolian.

“Let me give it a try.”

Paige looked at the time. It was already past eight o’clock in the evening. According to the internal structure of those medicinal herbs, she finished the design and combination by the computer, and then put it into practice to see what kind of medicinal reaction it would produce.
