Chapter 152 The Skirt Is Torn

Linder her black and dense eyelashes were a pair of clear and bright eyes, an exquisite, delicate nose, and rosy lips

Although she looked somewhat similar to her mother, she still easily stood out in the crowd with her cold and noble aura

She was stunning

Was she Heman's sister, Paige?

She was good looking and very well-mannered.

But why would she participate in the competition as an assistant?

What was the reason?

Hernan did not understand.

The stage was in a large semi-circular shape. After the one hundred and twenty designers and assistants went on stage, they the audience with a screen in the

"Now I announce that the competition has officially begun! Please time!"

accessories to show the nobility of the dress. If we also use these, it would be boring."

The etiquette ladies lined up and presented the materials and accessories with both hands.

After the host left, all the designers began to design.

Every designer received the same gauze, and even the accessories were the same. There were pearls, rhinestones, sequins, etc... "The quality of this gauze is good..." "Paige, what do you want to design?" Mariela touched the material on the plate.

"What's your idea?"

"Looking at this gauze, I think of a wedding dress...." Mariela suddenly had an idea. "Why don't we make a wedding dress?"

It's just that the accessories..." Mariela found that there were many materials on the plate. "Many designers would use pearls, rhinestones, sequins, and other

Paige noticed the colorful embroidery thread on the plate and had an idea, "Then let's make a dress with embroidered rose patterns. You are in charge of the cutting of the gauze dress. I will use the red embroidery thread to make rose patterns. The green embroidery thread can act as the leaves of a rose." "Good idea!" Mariela was immediately overjoyed. She took a ruler and a pair of scissors and began to cut the materials.

Heman noticed that they were discussing. It should be that Paige came up with an idea so that the designer had the motivation direction of the design....

When the camera swept past Paige, she was holding a needle and was embroidering the red thread on the bodice of the gauze dress. Hernan noticed that her hand seemed to be injured.

He whispered to the walkie-talkie on his suit collar and said, "Zoom in on Assistant No. 16."

Not only Herman, but many people at this time noticed that Paige's right wrist had a red and swollen bruise.

Was her hand injured?

The backstage staff immediately zoomed in on the screen.

It seemed that her injuries were quite serious

The point was that she could embroider fast and well even though she was injured to this extent

"Who is this girl? She looks to be only in her teens.

"She probably hasn't even graduated from high school, but she can actually embroider so well... It's really impressive."

Paige embroidered the two colored threads to the bodice of the dress. The vivid and lifelike roses appeared in everyone's eyes.

In less than ten minutes, she finished them all. People were amazed at the speed.

"Ah... Oh no!"

Looking at the torn gauze dress, she was almost crying. "What should I do, Paige? I was too nervous and didn't manage to cut it properly..."

At this moment, when Mariela was cutting the material, she accidentally tore a small **...

The torn part was on the hemline of the dress. Paige took the dress and directly embroidered the big roses on it. With the cover of the roses, the just now was gone, and the roses were vivid and lifelik "Paige, you are awesome..."

After dozens of roses were embroidered on the bodice and hemline, the dress looked elegant and dignified.

"You wear it."

Paige

As they cooperated well, Paige and Mariela soon finished, and everyone's eyes fell on their work and people started to comment.

Paige also embroidered roses on the hem. This time, the *dress looked more elegant and dignified.

"No. 16 is done so quickly? Which company is she from? Her design is really

At this time, Paige whispered something in Mariela's ear, and Mariela immediately used more gauze to make a beautiful trailing

"I think that assistant is very thoughtful. Her embroidery skill is obviously above everyone." At this time, Paige noticed that the petals of one of the roses did not look good enough and she quickly adjusted it again.

Everyone was stunned and thought that they had seen it wrong "Did she use her left hand?"

"How did she do it?"

"Forty minutes' up! All contestants, please stop!" The host went up to the stage and announced, "Now, our organizers have

"Just now, she clearly used her right hand. I didn't expect that she could embroider so well with her left hand..."

It was simply amazing to be able to embroider such a beautiful rose with both hands! Hernan suddenly found that Paige was like a mysterious treasure, making people feel pleasantly surprised.

small request for the designers or assistants to put on the dresses that you designed yourself. Follow the order of the number and walk out to let the judges and audience present the score!"

When that said, everyone was stunned. "What? Wearing the dresses I designed?"

The stitches were not tight. Once the dresses were put on, they would definitely crack... "Paige, help me..." Mariela clasped her hands together and whispered, "This dress is dignified and grand. Only you look good in Many designers were afraid because in order to pursue the effect of the work, some of the dresses had very small waistbands.

The size was not for normal people to wear. Some of them had sewn a large number of pearls and sequins in order to save time.

"No, no, No one looks better than you now! Please, just wear it for a while. Please!" Mariela kept begging, acting like a spoiled child...

it.... You obviously look stronger than me."

Paige finally agreed helplessly. According to the order, everyone went on stage one by one. Paige changed her dress in the locker room and simply tied up her hair. The other designers and assistants who had changed and were waiting to go on stage were all stunned when they saw

"Paige, you are so beautiful..."

Even Mariela was stunned...

What kind of beauty was this?

It was a perfect match. On the stage, designer No. 10 came out wearing her own designed dress.

Sure enough, only Paige could wear this kind of dress. The dress also showed Paige's temperament more...
