Chapter 166 A Surprise for Her

"Last night, when I went to pay the utility bills, I heard from the property management that the owner of the house was you. It was only then that I realized that you had rented the house to us at a low price!"

In the past. Paige had always told them that her friend rented the house to them at a low price.

Manela was grateful. "If not for you on the day of my father's death anniversary, maybe my mother and I would have already."

They might commit suicide because of that.

They would have been raped.

Mariela looked down as she said. But soon she smiled. "You help me over and over again. You made me stand on the top of the mountain and see the beautiful scenery! So I decided to stay by your side and study well!*

However, Mariela knew that it was because of Paige's help that she could make such stunning works. She won the Without Paige, Mariela would not get where she was today!

"I will give you three months." Paige smiled, "Three months later, you will go back to take care of your company."

"Three, three months?"

Mariela wanted to learn from Paige for three years, five years, or even ten years...

Mariela looked at Paige gratefully. "Your salary has been confirmed. Now that you have a place to stay, I will keep the key."

"Three months is enough for you. You are very smart, and you have a lot of ideas. You will make remarkable achievements as a

"Thank you, Ms. Paige!"

"Just call me Paige privately."

During this period of time, Paige had always treated Mariela as a friend. Otherwise, she would not have helped Mariela all the Ever since she met Paige, her life had been completely different from before!

They had been busy for the whole day.

"Paige, it's good to know you!" Mariela said gratefully and happily.

After work, Martin brought Paige back to the Moon Dunes Villa

The daisies had already been planted, and it was like a sea of flowers.

Countless pink and daisies surrounded the crescent lake. Under the light of the setting sun, it was as beautiful as a fairyland. All that could be seen was the sea of pink and daisies.

Surprise?

Such a beautiful sea of flowers was already a surprise for her.

Martin held Paige from behind and whispered in her ear, "I have a surprise for you."

Was there another surprise for her?

Martin covered her eyes with one hand and held her waist with the other. He whispered the countdow charming voice

Paige looked up and saw thousands of butterflies flying in the sea of flowers.

Where did they come from?

As he counted down, he slowly released his hand

"If you like it, I will catch butterflies every day for you to see. Martin held Paige even tighter.

Otherwise, Martin could prepare more surprises for her at night and stay with her for a while longer....

"That's great." Paige was happy as she looked at the beautiful scenery. She smiled and said, "It's so beautiful."

Paige found that there was a transparent round glass room in the sea of flowers. There was a top-grade crystal piano inside. She could see that it was the internationally renowned Harmony plano, which was worth 50 million dollars.

Paige walked into the glass room and created a beautiful piano piece for him.

It was a pity that Paige could not stay for dinner for the next two days....

"You want to hear me play the piano, don't you?"

Martin looked at her beautiful face and gorgeous facial features as she played the piano, and his eyes softened.

Her slender fingers freely danced on the piano keys. Every movement and expression of her was incomparably beautiful.

After the song ended, Martin bent down to give her a kiss. He could feel her mood from this song. At this moment, she was happy.

His fingers were dancing on the piano keys. Although it was an improvisation, it did sound great! His finger movements surprised Paige. This familiar feeling reminded her of the piano genius, Star, who was famous several years ago.

Paige was a little surprised. Could he play the piano?

On the Internet, there were only three videos of Star's performance, and he would release a new video every year. Paige had watched Star's videos many times, and she was familiar with every finger movement of his plays.

Unfortunately, a few years ago, he no longer released new videos. The fans waited for a few years, and he no longer remained

Star never showed his face when playing the piano. He only revealed a pair of hands, which were slender and good-looking, and

After the song was played, Paige looked up and asked, "Are you Star?"

Martin was a little surprised. He wondered why Paige could tell who he was just by watching him play.

Martin smiled and asked, 'Is he good-looking?"

"Star's hands are very good-looking," Paige added.

Paige felt loved when Martin took good care of her.

She was so smart.

How could he ask that?

Paige's eyes became gentle.

"It doesn't matter. It makes me happy enough to hear you praise my hands." Martin kissed her lightly. "This is a song I composed for you. It's called 'Love'..."

The song was romantic and beautiful, and it told all his love for her... Paige could hear his thoughts, and he was really saying, "I love you.

the song to her mobile phone. "This is what I recorded in advance, and it is for you."

Adam could see that Paige's finger movements were not simple. Her piano skills were not inferior to that of Martin. She seemed to be Vallorie...

Adam learned that Paige was the internationally renowned pianist, Vallorie, and he thought that Paige saved Killian twice...

Adam was shocked, but at the same time, he was deeply impressed. He did not expect that Paige could not only save people

The key was that Paige was young and beautiful. He thought Martin was lucky to have her.

Martin saw that the sun was setting and that the sky had darkened slightly. He could only send her home. He heard that her big brother had returned in the past two days. She had to go home for dinner. Although Martin was reluctant, he still respected her decision In the car, Martin gently helped her apply medicine. 'Be careful when you take a shower. Don't wet your wound." "You don't need to change your dressing tonight. I will help you change it when I send you to work tomorrow."

Adam thought of the finger movements and posture of Vallorie and that of Paige... The more Adam thought about it, the more he felt that it was possible... In the end, he couldn't help but ask Rhys for
