Chapter 176

Chapter 176 Who Exposed Her?

Inside the luxurious cabin.

Martin held Paige on his lap and gently stroked her soft hair with his chin. "How many identities do you have that I don't know?"

Paige looked away with a little guilty conscience. There weren't many, though she could not count....

"Is it because of Grandma's illness that you want to get the Heavenly Ginseng?" Martin lowered his eyes and looked at the girl in his arms and asked softly. "You knew that her condition had deteriorated when you checked her pulse that day, and there were only a few days left for her?"

"Yes."

"Why didn't you tell me earlier?" Martin looked into her eyes. "Or did you decide to come to the Triangle Area alone to find the Heavenly Ginseng at that time? Who told you that this thing could save Grandma's life?"

"I saw it in a medical book a long time ago...."

"As for whether it can cure the disease, it depends on her physical condition."

"The Triangle Area is too dangerous. You are a girl. If something happens to you, what should I do?" Martin did not dare to imagine.

"They'll be in trouble, not me."

Heh.

That's true.

Her marksmanship was even above Rhys'. Previously, when she was dealing with the Robins family's people, it was easy for her to deal with twenty or so of them by herself....

She wouldn't be in trouble.

"You lied to me about a meeting at the company?" Martin kissed her as punishment. "If not for the fact that we happened to bump into each other, how long would you have planned to hide it from me?"

"It was not a lie..." Paige said flatly. "I was just afraid that you would be worried."

"You hid it from me. If you're in danger, I will be even more worried." Martin lowered his head and kissed her lips. "Promise me that no matter what happens in the future, you cannot do such a risky thing."

"Okay." Although she agreed, Paige didn't plan to do what he said. She thought she should agree first. Otherwise, he would keep pestering her.

"Flame Gang was founded three years ago. How old were you three years ago? Why did you appear in the Triangle Area?" There were some doubts in Martin's mind. "Why did you become the leader of Flame Gang?"

Paige's eyes dimmed. "It was a long story."

Three years ago, Cassie's condition worsened and she urgently needed a medicinal herb. That medicinal herb grew on the mountain in the Triangle Area. At that time, several gangs were fighting over the mountain. When Paige appeared, it was the time when they fought fiercely....

Cassie's condition was in urgent need of herbs, and she needed to take them for a long time. That kind of medical herb was only used in the soil of that mountain. So, by chance, not only did Paige establish Flame Gang, she occupied the mountain and strengthened her own forces....

Although she almost died several times in the Triangle Area.....

Later, Cassie's illness was once again out of control and Paige needed other medicine to treat her

But fortunately, she saved Cassie's life, and Flame Gang was getting better and better under her lead....

Now that they had the support of Microvay Gang, their gangs would be invincible in the Triangle Area.

Martin listened to her words and felt even more upset about her experience.

At such a young age, she had suffered so much.

No wonder she always looked cold and indifferent to everything.

Since she was a child, no one had ever been her backer. No one cared for her. She could only rely on herself for everything. That was why she was so independent.

Her coldness and abilities were all exchanged with blood and tears.

Ordinary girls had not been through all these. She, however, had experienced endless darkness and suffering, and that was why she had made her current achievements.

"If I hadn't appeared, what would you use to trade with Easton today?" Martin asked in a sad voice.

500 million dollars in cash were not so easy to take out.

Paige took out a small bottle from her pocket. "This."

"What is this?" Martin asked in confusion.

"The antidote for X3 Virus. Easton was infected with X3 Virus. I thought he would agree to exchange the Heavenly Ginseng for this."

After all, everyone wanted to live....

Everyone cared about their lives...

"That was why you dared to do that?" Martin suddenly understood. He did not expect his girl to be smarter and more capable than he had imagined.

"Yes." Paige did not intend to use the money to buy the Heavenly Ginseng in the first place. She wanted to trade with something else.

"Why is there an antidote to X3 Virus?" Martin lowered his head and asked. "It was developed by yourself?"

Paige raised her eyes as if asking, "How did you know?"

"There is no medicine that Mr. Paige can't make," Martin curled his lips and smiled gently.

Mr. Paige?

Who exposed me?

"Looks like I guessed right." The corners of Martin's lips curled up in a sinister smile. "That day, the gift you gave Grandfather..."

Paige suddenly realized.

So Martin had guessed her identity from that day, but he did not say anything.

"Before we got on the plane, I had already sent someone to deliver the antidote to Microvay Gang," Paige said faintly.

She originally intended to exchange the one in her hand with Easton, but now Easton was dead....

"I wanted to throw it in your water when you were distracted..."

Hearing her words, Martin smiled even more lovingly, "Were you worried that I would be infected? You do care about me..."

"Since you know my identity, just eat it." Paige handed over the small bottle. People who were not infected would have antibodies after eating it. Even if they touched the infected later, they would not be infected.

"Feed me."

Again?

"I missed you so much these two days..." Martin kissed her ear and whispered in her ear in a charming voice.

Paige couldn't stand his whisper, opened the bottle, poured out the pill, and directly stuffed it into his **.

It was quite rude.

Martin smiled, "Mr. Paige's medicine is invaluable. There are so many subordinates of Microvay Gang. Taking so much medicine from you..."

Each pill could save a person's life...

It was indeed priceless.

"I can't take advantage of you for nothing..." Martin whispered into her ear. "The password to the safe at home is your birthday."

She opened her **.

"Take whatever you want. Mine is yours." Martin looked at her lovingly.

Paige was speechless.

"Well, there are more than seven hours left. Let's sleep for a while." Martin saw that she was tired.

"OK." Paige had been busy for a long time in order to save the infected people in the base. In addition, she had been dealing with other affairs and had not rested much....

She nestled in Martin's arms like a cute cat and soon fell asleep.

Seeing that she was sleeping soundly, Martin gently picked her up and placed her on the bed in the bedroom...

There were several bedrooms on this plane. Martin put her in the most *room. Before he covered her with a quilt, he saw her phone fall out of her pocket, vibrating...

Someone called her. It was a string of code.
