Chapter 194 One After Another

How did Paige recover?

"This is the truth you want." Paige made the video play three times faster.

At 5:30 in the afternoon, a truck parked at the gate. Amily took several to the truck to move things.

Danica, who was sitting on the sofa, remembered that in the middle of every month, a special driver would send over spaghetti, oil, and salt to the door.

In the surveillance video, the door to the truck was opened. Several took out a lot of things from the truck and entered the house. There was spaghetti, all kinds of spices, and buckets of cooking oil....

Amily carried two buckets of oil. When she entered the door, she accidentally tripped over the threshold and fell forward. Two buckets of oil splashed all over the ground.

The who was walking in front heard the noise and wanted to come over to help, but Amily stopped her. From Amily's movements, it was easy to guess that she said there was oil on the ground. She didn't want the to come over and slip.

A pointed at Amily's clothes as if saying, "Your clothes are . Quickly go into the house to change."

Amily looked down at her clothes and called the truck driver as if asking why the two barrels of oil were not covered tightly.

After a while, Amily took a detour into the house to change clothes.

Perhaps Amily forgot to call someone to clean the ground.

It seemed this happened inadvertently, but Paige still noticed some clues.

First of all, Amily was only responsible for taking care of Patricia, so Amily didn't need to help take things.

Secondly, she waited for all the servants to bring things into the house before going to the truck alone to get the oil...

When she took it, she dawdled for a while. It took her some time to open the bottle cap with her hand. At this time, the truck door hid all her movements, and only her feet stayed there for a while.

She had been working at the house for a long time, so she knew where the surveillance cameras were directed to. Therefore, when she entered the door, she deliberately tripped over the threshold and pretended everything happened.

inadvertently...

"Mr. and Mrs. Lusk, it's all my fault! I had nothing to do, so I helped to take things. I didn't expect the two barrels of oil not to be covered tightly. Tina and the others asked me to go in and change my clothes. I had just finished changing when Ms. Patricia told me to go over and eat snacks. I didn't dare to refuse her good intentions. I forgot the oil on the ground and didn't ask someone to clean it up. It's all my fault!"

Amily said and pretended to be regretful, trying to stand up and apologize.

But her pain made her fall back into the sofa again and again.

"Why weren't the lids close?" Danica asked the others coldly, "No one cleaned the ground even when there was oil on it? Amily, when you and Patricia fell, you should have remembered this. But when I asked you why you fell, you didn't even mention it! Dalia beat around the bush and accused Paige, but you didn't speak up for Paige!"

"Mrs. Lusk, I am wrong! I fell and felt too much pain. I couldn't think straight. In addition, I am old and forget things quickly. Please punish me!"

"Mrs. Lusk, it's all my fault. Ms. Patricia was injured, so I was anxious and said the wrong thing. Please forgive me!" Dalia also apologized.

One of the quickly explained, "At that time, after we moved the things in, Ms. Patricia said we should rest and asked us to eat some snacks. As we ate, we forgot..."

When she said that, she lowered her head.

"The truck driver said before the oil was delivered, it was not checked properly. Last year, something like this also happened....

"Mrs. Lusk, it's all our fault. Please punish us!"

"Punish?" Danica looked at them condescendingly. "Of course, I will punish you! If not for Paige recovering the surveillance video, she would be wronged by you. She wouldn't clean her name!"

"I'm sorry, Ms. Paige!" The were trembling in fear and quickly knelt down. "Mrs. Lusk, Ms. Patricia, I am so sorry. It's all our fault..."

They had been tempted by the food, and Patricia had kept talking to them, so they had forgotten about the oil.

"Amily, your duty is to take care of Patricia. Although you were kind enough to help take things, when the oil was spilled, you should have at least called someone to clean it up. You said you forgot things easily at your age. I understand. Since you have taken care of Patricia for eighteen years and are injured, I will deduct a month from your salary. There will be no next tithe."

"Thank you for your kindness, Mrs. Lusk!" Amily thanked Danica and looked at Paige provocatively as if saying, "What can you do to me?"

The corners of Paige's curved slightly as if everything was within her expectations.

"The few of you forgot to clean the ground after eating snacks and caused Patricia to fall. You almost made Paige suffer injustice. I will deduct two months of your salary!"

"Thank you, Mrs. Lusk, for your kindness!" A few of the were grateful and glad they were not kicked out of the house...

One must know the Lusk family treated their well.

"And you!" Danica looked at Lauryn. "You know what you said just now!"

Lauryn quickly knelt down. "Mrs. Lusk, it's all my fault. Ms. Patricia has been very good to me all these years. I was too anxious, so I misunderstood Ms. Paige. I apologize to Ms. Paige now!"

Lauryn had just said that if she really misunderstood Paige, she would kneel down and admit her mistake!

At this time, she knelt in front of Paige. "Ms. Paige, it's all my fault for being impatient and talking nonsense. Please forgive me! I am from the countryside. I am uncultured! I beg you to let me go this time as I've worked for your family for twelve years. Please forgive me!"

Lauryn didn't get up.

In any case, it was more important to keep her job.

Paige's gaze leisurely fell on her, and Paige's lips slightly curved. "Lauryn, when you deleted the video, did you think I would be misunderstood, hated, and ostracized?"

Everyone looked at Lauryn in shock!

Was she the one who deleted the video?

Lauryn froze in shock for a few seconds. How did Paige know?

"Because this kind of high-end monitoring equipment takes pictures before the video gets deleted. You deleted that half-hour video but forgot to delete your own photos."

Lauryn was stupefied. She did not expect a small mistake would ruin her!

"Ms. Paige, I was wrong. I was not in my right mind. Please forgive me..."

Amily was anxious. The monitoring equipment did not have a camera at the front. Paige was bluffing. However, Lauryn was and got scared. She came clean.

"Aren't you going to tell us who the mastermind is?" Paige's expression was calm, and her voice was disapproving.

Lauryn was covered in a cold sweat. She looked at Amily and Patricia...

They also looked at her nervously, as if saying, "Don't say it. Don't betray us!"
