Chapter 216

Chapter 216 Patricia's Score

Patricia was surprised to find that her SAT score was 1,540!

It was higher than the top score in Chicago last year!

"Wow? Ms. Patricia is too amazing

"The highest SAT scores in other cities are mostly 1,500, 1,510, and 1,520 1,540 is the highest for now!"

"So, Ms. Patricia got the highest SAT score in the country?"

"Ms. Patricia is the top one in the country?"

Everyone was shocked Patricia could not believe it. It was a huge surprise for her!

Amily was also excited. She urged. "Ms. Patricia, what are you waiting for? Call your parents and tell them the good news!"

"You should share the good news with them now!" Amily brought Patricia her phone and said, "Call them now!"

Patricia did not expect that her score would be higher than she estimated.

Patricia was very pleased with herself. She thought, I'm going to be famous

My name will be shown in news headlines, Twitter trending, and all the famous platforms!

I'm the most excellent student in the country!

I will soon become a famous person!

When Patricia was making the call, Amily said proudly, "What's so great about being related by blood? The one who makes Mr. Lusk and Mrs. Lusk proud is still you, Ms. Patricia! The so-called real daughter should show you some respect!"

Everyone knew that Amily was ridiculing Paige, but they didn't dare to say anything. They were afraid that Amily would make things difficult for them.

After a while, Donald answered the phone. "Hi, Patricia? Has your SAT results come out?"

"Yes." Patricia tried her best to suppress her excitement and said casually, "I got a score of 1,540."

"1,540? It's the highest score in the country for now, isn't it?" Donald was happy. "What about Paige? Has her score come out?"

Patricia didn't expect that her father would ask about Paige so soon. There was a flash of displeasure in her eyes. But Patricia quickly smiled, "Paige has locked herself in her room. I don't know if she is taking a nap or in a bad mood. Dad, when will you go home? You should talk to Paige to give her some courage and confidence."

"We will be there soon. In five minutes."

"OK. Paige and I will wait for you and ****at home" Patricia ended the call appropriately. Then she couldn't help but share the good news in her group chats with her best friends, friends and rebound boys.

Her score has been forwarded to the class group chat. Many students guessed that she got the highest score nationwide this year. Patricia denied it modestly. But she was pleased in her heart.

After receiving a lot of compliments, Patricia looked at Bonnie gently and said, "Bonnie, it's getting late now You should wake Paige up. Maybe she is the top one. She needs to wash up now. It will be impolite if she is untidy when the teachers from famous universities get here"

Before Bonnie answered, Amily said, "Tsk." She sneered, "If she gets the highest score, I will kneel and polish her shoes! Ms. Patricia, be confident. The top one is definitely you!"

Because Patricia had shared her score in the group chat, many people guessed that her score was the highest in the country. As the news spread, many classmates' mothers called Danica.

When Danica entered the door, she was on the phone. "You're flattering us. We didn't urge her to study. It is all because she is very self-disciplined. It's still too early to congratulate her We don't know who got the highest score yet. Hahahaha. OK. OK. OK. If our daughter is the top one, we will definitely treat you to a meal."

Donald also received a lot of calls. He smiled and replied, "Treat you to a meal? No problem! If my daughter is the top one, we will not only treat you to a meal but also invite you to our resorts. We will pay for all the food and accommodation. Hahaha."

Patricia felt that the high score had brought her a lot of glories. She was proud and sent a Line message to Hernan to tell him the good news.

"Has Paige's score come out?"

Patricia thought, I knew that everyone in the family cared more about Paige!

Patricia said in a small voice, "Paige has locked herself in the room. I think she is in a bad mood."

As for why she was unhappy, Patricia didn't have to tell the reason. Anyone could figure it out. It was probably because she had gotten a low score.

Hernan did not reply. He sent a message to Paige instead.

Paige was still sleeping. She had muted her phone, so she didn't know that message notifications were showing on the screen one after another.

Hernan: "Has the result come out? Don't worry I will be by your side no matter what."

Martin also sent Paige a message this morning.

Martin: "How is the SAT result? Don't give yourself any pressure, I will cover you."

There were many unread messages sent before this one.

"Paige, my subordinates said that they didn't find you. I just remembered that you no longer live in the Tate's house. You are in La**en Villa, right? My people will go over now. You must apply to my school!"

When Amily saw that Danica had ended the call, she hurriedly went forward and flatter Danica "Mrs. Lusk, you are really lucky to have a smart and beautiful daughter like Ms. Patricia. You are now the mother of the country's most excellent student. There will be a lot of reporters coming to interview you!"

Danica smiled, "You have spent the most time with Patricia since she was little. If Patricia has really gotten the highest score in the country, most of the credit will go to you! Anyway, Patricia has gotten a great score. Whether she is the top one or not, everyone's salary this month will be doubled. Amily, you will get four times more."

"Thank you, Mrs. Lusk! Everyone thanked Danica. They were extremely excited.

Amily added, "Ms. Paige might not have gotten a satisfactory score, or she might not have the courage to check her results. Mr. Lusk, Mrs. Lusk, you should go and comfort her if she got a low score and wants to repeat the year, Ms. Patricia can help her. I hope she won't be too sad."

Danica was about to go upstairs when a se**ant entered in a hurry

"Mr Lusk, Mrs. Lusk, a dozen teachers from famous universities' enrollment offices have come to the door

What should we do? Should we invite them in?"

"Let me receive them." Danica quickly walked out of the main hall.

Donald followed her Patricia also followed her confidently. All the ser**nts in the house went out to watch it.

"Hello, Mrs. Lusk. We are here to see the student who has gotten the highest score.

The person was a professor from the University of Chicago. Before he finished, Amily hurriedly let Patricia stand in front of him. "She is here. This is Ms. Patricia. She got a score of 1,540!"

Patricia raised her head and waited for them to fight over her, an excellent student.

"She's great. The younger generation is really impressive, hahaha. The professor smiled kindly. The other teachers also nodded and looked at Patricia with appreciation.

They thought, a score of 1,540 is indeed impressive!
