Chapter 220

Chapter 220 Top Scholar

“You. You just wait. I will tell them that you curse Ms. Patricia to !” Amily was about to go.

Bonnie smiled. She said, “Just Go. It was you who said this. All the servants in the house can testify! If you want to talk about it, it is you who cursed Ms. Paige first! So, I will just argue with you! I am right!”

“You..

You came up with this idea. What can I do?”

Amily was angry. She said, “Enough! Do you think I can’t do anything to you?”

“I want to know, what are you going to do? Are you trying to frame me? Or are you going to make trouble for Ms. Paige? Don’t forget that Ms. Paige still has the video that you make Ms. Paige fall!”

When this matter was mentioned, Amily suddenly felt a little guilty. She did not dare to say anything.

“I will ask Ms. Paige to send me the video later. In the future, if you dare to mock Ms. Paige in front of so many people and her, I will send the video to Mr. Lusk and Mrs. Lusk. Then, just see who will be driven out of this house first!”

Amily was extremely angry. It was Amily who had recruited Bonnie, so Amily treated Bonnie as her subordinate. But now, Amily didn’t expect that Bonnie would treat her like this for Paige.

Amily thought, was Bonnie rebelling?

Paige must have given this a lot of benefits!

“Did you hear that?” After B*nnie threatened Amily, she left with satisfaction.

Amily stared at Bonnie’s back and was furious!

Danica arrived at the door. She exuded a noble temperament. Her every move revealed the elegance of a noble lady.

Before the door was opened, a of reporters squeezed in front of the carved railings and asked desperately through the door

“Mrs. Lusk, I heard that the student who scored the highest on SAT came from your family. Can you tell me how high a score she got this time?”

“I heard that the professors of the University of Chicago and Stanford University have come to visit her What conditions have they given? Which university did she choose in the end?”

“In Larsen Villa, only your family’s children are in the third year of high school. May I ask if Ms. Patr*cia took first place?”

“May I ask if we can meet her?”

“We want to take a photo of her Can you open the door?”

Danica reached out her hand to signal them to be quiet She smiled and said, “Thank you for your concern.

The student who took first place indeed comes from my family. Her name is Paige Lusk. She got full marks in this exam. I just learned from the professor at the University of Chicago that she took first place in the country!”

As soon as this was said, everyone was shocked. They took photos and records.

“Apart from the name and results, I hope everyone does not release any other unrelated content, such as family background, photos, and other things. Paige is low-key and does not like to attract attention.”

Everyone was shocked. They did not expect the richest person in the country to have a humble daughter called Paige. In the past, they always thought that the richest person only had one daughter called Patricia. Although they did not see Paige, with such a powerful background, they thought Paige must be looking good!

“She must be beautiful and talented!”

“Thank you, Mrs. Lusk, for revealing it. Mrs. Lusk is really lucky. She has such an excellent daughter like Ms. Patricia and a top scholar.”

Although it was the first time everyone heard the name Paige, they could understand it. Because rich people often hid their children from being reported.

For example, some rich people would send their children abroad to study, and they would only bring their children back when they grew up...

Some rich people would raise their children somewhere in the country. For the sake of the child’s safety, they would only announce the child’s identity when the time was right.

Although everyone had only heard of Patricia, they thought that it was very likely that Paige had been studying abroad and just returned for SAT. So, they thought that it was very normal that they had not heard.

of Paige!

Since Danica asked reporters not to reveal Paige’s family background and other things, the reporters could only simply put up a topic with Paige’s name.

Very soon, the topic of Paige became very hot.

When Paige returned to her room, she found that there were many unread messages on her phone. She first replied to Martin.

“Professor of the University of Chicago came just now, but I chose the University of Illinois at Chicago.”

Martin quickly called Paige. His tone carried a trace of surprise and indulgence. Martin said, “The student who got full marks is you?”

Paige raised her eyebrows. She didn’t expect that it would be reported so quickly.

It had only been less than ten minutes since the group of reporters left, and the news had already spread.

“You are my good girl.” Martin praised sincerely.

“You are not bad either,” Paige said.

Martin was a little surprised. He didn’t expect that Paige would know that he was the top scorer seven years ago. Martin wondered if Paige investigated it or noticed him seven years ago.

“University of Illinois at Chicago is very good and is close to me. I would like to see you save people. You are very serious and beautiful.” Martin smiled.

“I don’t usually look good?”

“You look good usually, but when you save people, you are particularly attractive.”

“If I choose a foreign school, what will you do? Paige smiled and asked.

“Then I will move abroad to work. Where you are is my home.”

“You will be tired.” Paige knew that if Martin went abroad to work, although he could order his employees online if there was any problem, he still had to fly back to deal with it. In this way, the time spent on the road was countless

“I have to be *and considerate. Otherwise, if you see other energetic and handsome boys in college. and want to break up with me, what can I do?”

Hearing this, Paige laughed.

“I don’t want to lose such a cute, beautiful, and talented fiancée just because of distance.

“Those boys in the university are too young.

To Paige, they were too immature, just like looking at a group of younger brothers. Paige wouldn’t like that kind of boy.

“It’s good to be mature,” Paige said with a smile.

“Then, is your fiancé mature?” Martin asked.

“He is quite mature, but sometimes he is a little childish,” Paige said without thinking.

Childish?

“You mean when I am pestering you?”

“Yes”

“Because I like you. I am happy when I stay with you. So, I wanted to be with you all the time.”

Paige felt it was so sweet. But she still said, “I have to reply to Hernan. He is still waiting for me.”

“Then I will call you later”

Paige said, “OK. Bye.”

After hanging up the phone, Paige told Hernan the good news. Then, Paige opened Line and replied to Cason.

There was also a congratulatory message from Anna on Line. After Paige replied, she opened the next unread message.

It was sent by Paige’s teacher.

“Paige, I saw the news. I am so proud of you!”
