Chapter 43

The Company Is Big

"This..." Issac didn't dare say it out loud.

"What are you talking about..." Tyrell was a little dissatisfied. "If you have something to say, just say it. We have worked together for many years. Do you think I will fire you because you said something wrong?"

"Mr Tate, I know you won't. But what they said is a bit unpleasant... I'm afraid that you will be unhappy if you hear it."

Issac was indeed embarrassed to pass on the message.

But the more he didn't say it, the more Tyrell wanted to ask why

Issac followed Tyrell into the elevator and entered the office. He couldn't stand the pressure and said the truth. "They called you a f*ol. They said that they had long been fed up with your *and didn't want to cooperate with you anymore. In short, they scolded a lot of strange things."

"Which company said that?"

Tyrell thought the person who said it was rude.

So he suddenly got angry. Stopping cooperation was nothing. But why did they say so many inexplicable words?

"There are three companies in total. The biggest one is the most... Issac said.

When Tyrell heard this, he had a bad feeling in his heart. The Pai Group?"

"Yes..."

The Pai Group was a famous venture capital investment company. The founder of this company, Pai, was known as a good investor. If she aimed at one project, the project would be able to make a big deal after the investment.

Many small companies were able to become big and strong because of the company investment.

In the past, no matter what Tyrell wanted to develop, as long as he told Pai, he could easily get the money.

Even if the project failed and the money was lost, Pai Group never blamed him.

Other companies saw Pai Group holding Tyrell up like this and thought that Tyrell had some background, so they were polite to Tyrell.

But what was going on?

Why did they stop cooperation with Tyrell so suddenly?

"What project did we invest in the last time we asked Pai Group for money?"

Tyrell couldn't remember

"Two months ago, you took 80 million dollars from Pai Group and said you wanted to buy IU Company."

IU Company was a high-tech clothing fitting company. As long as one stood in front of the company's mirror, they would be able to touch the electronic system on the mirror with their fingers and easily try all the clothes in the store.

The Tate family ran a fashion business and had their own clothing production company and stores. Tyrell wanted to install an atomic mirror in all the stores so that the customers could try more clothes and buy more.

"But we didn't expect that using a mirror to try on clothes would be different from trying clothes by the customers themselves.

The difference in effect is too great."

Issac felt regretful.

And the cost of maintenance of the mirror was high, and the requirements for the environment were high. If the mirror was exposed to the sunshine for a long time, it would burst and spontaneously combust. The humid place would make it fail after being installed for a long time. Sometimes, the figures would distort in the mirror...

In short, Tyrell sent people to install tens of thousands of IU Company's mirrors and then asked people to remove them....

Tyrell had spent more than 115 million dollars in total, which was much more than 80 million dollars.

"Is it because of this?" Tyrell tried to figure out the reason.

Tyrell guessed that Pai Group stopped cooperating with him because of this.

"That doesn't seem to be the case."

Issac hurriedly said, "Previously, you asked for 160 million dollars from Pai Group and said that you wanted to invest in a clothing mall. In the end, you lost everything and even lost our company's 50 million dollars. Pai Group didn't stop cooperation with us after that..."

Tyrell thought about it and agreed. If Pai Group didn't want to cooperate, they would have stopped the damage in time. They didn't have to wait until now.

"Other than scolding me, did Pai Group say anything else?"

"No."

Pai Group's founder never showed up easily. All the work was handed over to Rylan Wager, who was in charge. of the company's business in America.

"The person who called to mock you was Rylan's assistant, Abel Lawton... when Issac said this, he hesitated to speak.

"Why are you hesitating again? If there is anything else, just say it."

Tyrell had lost his patience. He pulled his tie and looked annoyed.

"Well... Pai Group stopped cooperation. It seemed that they suddenly breathed a sigh of relief. And they seemed to be in a good mood. At the end of the call, I heard them laughing."

Tyrell was puzzled. "I have to call Abel and ask him what's going on." Tyrell wanted to call the assistant of Pia Capital.

Issac hurriedly took over the telephone in the office.

Tyrell called Abel first. Usually, Abel picked up the call faster than anyone else, but now Tyrell only got a cold reminder "Sorry, the phone you dialed has been turned off."

Tyrell didn't believe it and called several times in a row. His mood became even more agitated. He was most likely blacklisted.

He undid the buttons on his collar and called Abel's supervisor, Rylan. But he didn't expect Rylan would blacklist him too...

While listening to the system's cold reminder, Tyrell was extremely agitated. He suppressed his anger and called the other two companies...

The other two companies didn't pick up his call.

After calling for an hour, Tyrell got no answer

Issac stood at the side while shivering. Suddenly, he received a text.

"Mr Tate."

"Can't you see that I'm in a bad mood? Sh*t up. Be quiet."

Tyrell was furious and irritated.

Issac couldn't speak, so he could only take the small notebook on the table and write a line of words with a pen. "The board of directors is looking for you."

Tyrell glanced at the small notebook Issac handed over, and his anger burned even more. "The board of directors is looking for me. Can't you use your mo*th to say it? Why are you writing?"

"Mr Tate, you were the one who told me to sh*t up just now.

"These old guys usually get the dividends more happily than anyone else. Now that something has happened, they immediately come to blame me."

Tyrell got up in frustration and picked up his suit jacket. "Let them wait and get me a car I want to go to Pai Group"

"Why

"I want to ask Rylan something.

On the other hand.

Paige followed the location sent by her mother and came to the door of a company

The exterior of this company was a hollow glass wall. It looked 18 or 19 floors high and was about 5 storefronts wide.

A large stone in front of the door was engraved with the company's name. It was Daybreak Medicine Research Company

But Paige remembered that it should be a small subsidiary company.

When Paige entered the building, she saw the receptionist dozing off. She softly said, "Hello."

"Hello?"

The receptionist saw that the person who came was a girl who looked like a high school student. She rubbed her sleepy eyes and said, "Did you come to the wrong place? This is a medical research and development.

company..."

"My name is Paige Tate. I'm here to work."

The receptionist heard this and was scared out of her wits. She immediately stood up. "Ms. Tate? This way please."

Donald had already instructed yesterday that someone would come to take over the company today. Because Paige's identity had not been announced, Donald only told the company's staff that Paige was sent by the company headquarters.

The receptionist led Paige into the elevator and pressed the button to the highest floor. "I will take you to the office on the 20th floor."
