

Ceo's Mysterious Fiancee by Piper Dunlap

Chapter 46

Chapter 46

The Only Heir

Unexpectedly, one summer vacation, Cassie asked Paige to take this ring to him and ask him to teach her a skill

He was a business genius and had many powerful friends around him.

Because of Cassie, Samuel never married in his life. He treated Paige as his own granddaughter and taught her to do business.

His friends had also taught Paige medical skills. His several friends who were good at playing chess and painting also liked

Paige very much and taught her all their skills.

And Paige did live up to their expectations and even surpassed them.

Paige spent most of her winter and summer vacation time with this group of old men. These men took credit for her success today.

"When will you graduate from college? It is time to share the burden of me!"

Samuel felt that he was old. "I have no son and no daughter. In the future, you will be the only heir.."

"Don't." Paige was really busy. What was more, Donald now gave her the company. She didn't have time to do other things.

"You are the only family I have in the world. If I don't give you my property, who else can I give it to?" Samuel laughed.

"Since you miss Grandma, why don't you come back to settle down?"

In any case, his overseas career was stable. If he settled down in Chicago, they could often meet.

However, Samuel smiled bitterly. "People will gossip around."

No one knew about his past with Cassie. Even Tyrell did not know that his mother knew such a person!

"Your Grandpa passed away early, but he treated your grandmother really well. I can't get together with your grandmother after his death."

Paige was speechless.

"It's enough to know about her information from afar."

Samuel did not ask for too much. Now, what made him happy was that Paige had been trained so well. It would be a waste of talent to be his successor!

The car stopped at the entrance of Chilakey Restaurant.

Paige opened the car door and helped him get out of the car. "I told you not to work so hard when you were young, but you didn't listen.

"Look, now that you are old, you can't even walk steadily

Samuel smiled and was satisfied with her support. "When I think that after I d*e, I can still leave you a dowry, I feel these years of hard work are worth it

"You are obviously working hard for Grandma. What has it got to do with me?"

Paige supported him to walk forward slowly. "You're old now. It's time for you to take a break."

"No, no, there are still some industries. Before I d*e, I have to get them for you."

Paige was speechless.

At that time, Abbigail held Davon's hand and said in shock, "Davon, isn't that Paige?"

She came to the wedding dress shop opposite Chilakey Restaurant with Davon. Unexpectedly, just as she walked out, she saw Paige holding an old man's hand as they walked into the restaurant.

"That man is so old. Doesn't she find it disgu*ting?"

Davon frowned. He did not expect Paige would spoil herself in order to stay in Chicago! Davon immediately felt si*k.

Abbigail remembered that last night at Star Restaurant, Paige also came out of the VIP elevator with a man. Could it be that

Paige was dating different men at the same time? Or was the man last night really her brother?

In any case, she was so down and out. It was really satisfying!

Martin, who was in the car, saw Paige holding the old man's hand. Martin's eyes could not move away.

That pair of small hands that he once held, was holding the arm of another person at this time.

"Mr Stowe, that old man is a little familiar

Rhys carefully searched his brain several times, and suddenly remembered. "Now I know! His name is Samuel Plath. He is the owner of the famous venture capital firm abroad, Monany Group."

His Group was even bigger than Pai Group. In the past, he relied on a small business to make a name for himself. Later on, he had enough money and mainly developed investments. He had great insights. The projects he found promising and invested in all gained huge development. In the past few decades, he invested a lot of industries, and his personal wealth was extremely huge!

No wonder his car plate number was never seen. It turned out that he lived abroad all year round.

"Ms. Tate knows quite a lot of people," Rhys could not help but say

Not only was the director of Farwen Hospital very sure of her, but also the group of medical experts listened to her. The richest man was her father Now it seemed that she had a deep relationship with Samuel Martin was still looking at those hands. They had been supporting Samuel for so long. Why hadn't they let go?

Seeing them enter the elevator, Martin's eyes darkened. "Check which room they are eating in."

"Mr. Stowe, you want to go in and eat together?"

Just as Rhys finished speaking, he sensed displeasure of Martin. He thought for a moment and then understood.

"Mr. Stowe, I asked the person in charge of the restaurant. They said that Ms. Tate went to a private room on the south side of the second floor. There is also a restaurant on the opposite side of the south side. Why don't we go to the opposite side to have lunch? We'd better not disturb Ms. Tate and her friend."

"OK"

Martin retracted his gaze, but his mind was still thinking about that pair of soft hands.

"Here, this is for you." Paige helped Samuel enter the private room and took out a small medicine bottle.

"My birthday gift?"

Samuel looked at the small wh*te bottle without any packaging. He knew that she had been fiddling with these strange things since she was a child.

"Take it and you don't need to be supported."

Paige poured him a glass of water and put it in front of him.

"This gift is not bad! I'll accept it." Samuel chuckled.

In his old age, what he cared about the most was his image.

He wanted to leave a good impression on Cassie. He didn't want to limp out in front of her, although he didn't know if he would have the chance to meet her again.

"Mr Stowe, the dishes are all served. You can eat now."

In the private room, Rhys saw that Martin's eyes were fixed on the girl in the opposite room, and could not help but tease, "The sight here is really good!"

What Paige did inside was clearly seen.

"Just care about your food."

Martin saw Paige give the old man a gift, pour a cup of water, and place food in front of him.

Last night, he didn't even receive this kind of treatment!

"Mr. Stowe, then 1 won't wait for you."

Rhys picked up his bowl and ate with relish.

He was really hungry. He had been busy with work with Martin and had been hungry for the entire morning.

"Look at my memory. Samuel suddenly found that he forgot to bring the gift. "Your grandmother's birthday will be in half a month.

I have prepared a gift for her. Later, you come with me to the hotel to get it. It is still the same as before. You can't tell her it's from me."

"OK."

Paige placed another dish in front of him. "How many days do you plan to stay this time?" Paige asked.

'I will leave in the afternoon."

"This fast?"

"Well, I am alone...

Paige saw a trace of loneliness in his eyes, and she said lightly, "If you want to see Grandma, I can arrange it."

Samuel was a little excited, but after thinking about it, he was afraid that this was not good. There were many people in the hospital. If people gossiped around and the younger generation heard it...

He did not care about it himself, but he was afraid that Cassie's reputation would be affected, although they were innocent and had not done anything.

"I can ask Colin to take you in tonight to have a look."

"Don't worry, Grandma won't wake up at night." Paige took a sip of the soup and said lightly.

"This..." Samuel thought about it and shook his head firmly. "I'm afraid that once I go, I won't be willing to leave."

Paige was surprised and looked into his eyes.

"In fact, this is quite good... In a while, you go to the hotel with me and take your grandmother's gift."

Although he could not accompany her, there were very few things that could be by her side, making her not. lonely.