Chapter 512

Chapter 512 There Is Still Wound on Paige's Back

But now, the boss of a logistics company had become her life partner, which was somewhat embarrassing.

"If people know that you are the adopted daughter of the Lusk family..."

Patricia suddenly raised her eyes as if she realized something before Amily finished her word.

Patricia thought to herself, "That's right. If people know that I am just the adopted daughter of the Lusk family, how many people would love me or let me become a family member?"

Even if Declan likes me and agrees to marry me, will his parents have an objection?

Since Declan's parents dote on him so much, how could they let me in and make people laugh?

If I can't even reach the threshold of the Lusk family, then how can other families allow me in with an improper background and household?"

Realizing this, Patricia clenched her fists angrily and thought,

"It's all Paige's fault. If she doesn't return to this home, everything will be fine, like al beautiful fairy tale.

It is precisely because of Paige's arrival that this fairy tale is broken, and she will change from a high-ranking princess to a down-and-out Cinderella..."

"That's right. Madam should be going to bed at this point. You can use what happened tonight to make Madam feel sorry for you, comfort you, and take this opportunity to let Madam take you shopping tomorrow..."

When Patricia asked Lamont to reimburse her shopping expenses before, she always felt sorry as if she had deceived Lamont.

But now, she was in a fit of anger and suddenly felt that the Lusk family owed her too much.

Anyway, the Lusk family had too much money, and it was reasonable to let them use the money to pay back Patricia.

When Lamont gently wiped Yana's face with a hot towel on the other side of the room, he thought that he could finally see and touch her face that he had missed so much.

It was different from the cold touch in the dream that it was warm, soft, and real now.

Lamont no longer had to worry that dreams would be broken and Yana would disappear when she woke up.

This feeling was like that a lost treasure was regained and made people ecstatic, and then people would cherish and value her more carefully.

Lamont washed the towel again, wrung it dry, and gently wiped other places for Yana.

Lamont knew that girls were always particular about cleanness, so he wiped every inch of her skin very carefully.

The doctor also said that Yana's injury was worse than Paige's and that Yana needed to be taken care of...

Dr. Schmidt wiped Paige's face and neck. After wiping Paige so clean, Dr. Schmidt suddenly found that Paige's shoulders were a little red.

Dr. Schmidt hastily turned Paige over very softly, so that Paige could lie on her Side...

Because they were still in the living room and Lamont and Yana were on the other side...

Then Dr. Schmidt took a special look back, seeing that Lamont's attention was not on this side, and no other servants were around. So Dr. Schmidt quickly lifted the Paige's clothes to take a look.

After Dr. Schmidt just took one glance, she hurriedly covered Paige's clothes, feeling extremely heavy and unable to calm down.

Dr. Schmidt thought, "On Paige's white back, a long red bloodstain suddenly appeared..."

The boss must have been hit by something long looking from the long bloodstains.

Is it a stick, an Iron rod, or a longboard?

No, none of these things leave such a heavy mark."

The boss's fair skin was a little cracked, and blood seeped out from inside...

Dr. Schmidt thought, "When the boss came back with Yana on his back, it must be very painful for the boss at that time. And there are still marks of bullet scratches on her shin and the boss can't carry Yana back step by step..."

Dr. Schmidt's eyes became even redder after recalling that.

Perhaps hearing the slight sobbing of Dr. Schmidt, Lamont turned around and asked softly, "What's wrong?"

"Boss, boss..." Dr. Schmidt couldn't hold back tears anymore that she shed tears of distress, and then said, "Boss's back and abdomen are all injured... Those bastards don't know how to pity and cherish the boss... The attack is so heavy. They're simply not human!"

The boss was so beautiful, and how could they harm her? They were all junk.

Dr. Schmidt couldn't think about the boss's experience and would like to bear the harm for the boss even if it would take her life.

"What did you say? Both the back and the abdomen are injured? Haven't they found out just now?" Lamont threw down the towel and came over immediately.

Lamont didn't know that his sister was hurt so badly just looking at the outside.

How many more the doctor didn't find out exactly?

"I also just noticed..." Dr. Schmidt's tone was somewhat remorseful.

There were too many people just now. Since Jairo, Rylee, Mill, and their men were all here, those male doctors naturally didn't have the guts to lift the boss's clothes...

And as a female doctor, it was not easy for Dr. Schmidt to check the boss's back in front of everyone...

They thought that the blood on the boss's back belonged to Yana.

"Is it serious? Do I need to go to the hospital?" Lamont was very worried.

Thinking of the scene when the boss came back with Yana on her back, Lamont's heart ached so badly.

"Mr. Lamont, you go outside and wait first. I will give the boss some medicine," Dr.

Schmidt wiped her tears with her hand, and said sadly, "Boss must be in pain like this, and it's all my negligence that I didn't check the boss carefully..."

Just now everyone's attention was on the "head" that the boss said, and thought that the boss or Yana must have hurt her head.

Now it seemed that other parts were almost injured except for the head and face.

"Good."

Lamont glanced at Paige reluctantly and saw that her face was paler than before. And Lamont felt even more uncomfortable as an older brother.

He said in a hoarse voice, "Call me if you need anything."

"Okay."

Dr. Schmidt disinfected and applied medicine to Paige's back after Lamont's leaving.

Fortunately, the boss had developed this healing medicine a while ago. After applying the medicine, it could not only relieve pain, and accelerate recovery, but also ensure that there would be no scars...

After applying the medicine, Dr. Schmidt turned Paige over gently and saw that Paige's fair abdomen had been punched. Then Dr. Schmidt's tears welled up again.

They were all a bunch of bastards!

They hit Paige so hard...

After finally applying the medicine, Dr. Schmidt thought it over and felt that she couldn't bear it anymore. So Dr. Schmidt sent another message to Jairo.

"The back of the boss is cracked! The abdomen is also hit by a fist! When you see those bastards in a while, don't show mercy and beat them to death! The worse, the better!"

Dr. Schmidt also sent a beating image, but she felt that it was not enough to relieve her anger.

Dr. Schmidt thought, "Everyone has gone to the front to fight and avenges the boss.

What is she doing here alone?

No, she wants to go too!"

Dr. Schmidt said, "Mr. Lamont, the boss will be taken care of by you. If you have anything to do, you must call me. I will come as quickly as possible. If there is an emergency, there are other doctors in the laboratory. They will help..."

When Mr. Lamont said this, she glanced at the girl on the sofa again. Mr. Lamont said,

"She won't wake up in a short time."

"Where are you going?" Lamont asked worriedly.

Dr. Schmidt answered, "I have something to do."

Dr. Schmidt left and asked someone for a location. And Dr. Schmidt was about to fight when she suddenly found other servants in the Lusk family sneaking around behind her.
