Ceo's Mysterious Fiancee by Piper Dunlap

Chapter 516

Chapter 516 Embrace

At this moment, Martin led two groups of people to overcome all obstacles, winning in a row. Suddenly, his phone rang, and it was the news from the little girl.

Martin thought, "She's awake!"

His eyes lit up with joy, and he said with a somewhat gentle voice, "Stop the car."

The mighty convoy stopped, just in front of the door of Blood Gang's headquarters.

This pissed Blood Gang's personnel off...

"We beg for your mercy... We Blood Gang do not bear any grudges against Microvay Gang and Flame Gang. We haven't been here long and we've only been scaring newcomers. We haven't done anything bad..."

"Yes, please be kind and show mercy..."

"And we are not familiar with Ghost Alliance... Our paths never crossed before..."

Seeing someone peeing in his pants, Jairo felt funny, lowered the car window, and said, "We won't cause you trouble. We're just passing by."

"Passing, passing by..." That person who had peed suddenly realized and almost kowtowed to show his gratitude. He said, "Thank you all. It's our honor that you are willing to rest here... Are you thirsty or tired? I'll go get you some delicious food."

Seeing the personnel of Blood Gang swarming into their headquarters to get food and drink, Jairo joked to Rylee next to him, "Do they treat us as villains who do all kinds of evil?"

"Of course. We pull off such a big move here today. Those kept in the dark will think that we are going to wipe. out all the organizations and dominate here."

"Hey, if you don't have the courage, don't hang around here. Look how scared they are."

At this point, Martin got off the car and asked Rhys to give up his driving seat to drive away first.

Jairo was in a daze and hurriedly called Rhys and asked, Where is Mr. Stowe going?"

Jairo thought, "How did he leave us here?"

"Ms. Paige has woken up, and there is only the Destruction Group left for us to handle," explained Rhys.

"Boss has woken up? No, I need to go back and take a look, too!"

After hearing about it, Rylee immediately said, "I join you. Don't know how Boss is doing. Does she feel better?"

"After I kill these brats, I'll buy Boss her favorite snacks."

"Come on. Now the one Boss only wants to see is Martin. Just give her a break."

In the living room.

Lamont looked at Paige's slightly pale face and couldn't help but feel heartbroken. He asked, "Why didn't you call me or your subordinates back then?"

Lamont thought, "At least she should have someone come over to back her up...

How dangerous is it for a girl to fight alone?"

Paige felt very confused and thought, "Lamont, did you forget something?"

At that time, she really wanted someone to come and back her up, at least to take Yana away first...

When Paige took out her phone, it showed 73 missed calls from Lamont. But the next second, the phone screen automatically dimmed, and her phone was dead,

"Was it because your phone run out of power?" Lamont remembered that those subordinates bandaged Paige's wound and charged her phone. After thinking it carefully, Lamont thought that it seemed that he had made too many phone calls to her.

He thought, "Is it for this reason that Paige's phone runs out of battery?"

"It's me..." Lamont immediately felt even more guilty and said, "I called you too many times and made your phone dead..."

Lamont thought, "How hopeless and sad Paige was at that time!"

Actually, Paige was just a bit puzzled...

After all, the phone ran out of power as soon as it was taken out... At that moment, she was a bit speechless.

"Sorry. It's my fault. I not only did not give you a hand but made your situation worse."

Seeing Lamont blaming himself, Paige said disapprovingly, "It's okay. I didn't charge it myself before going out."

"You don't need to comfort me. I know that it's because I have made so many phone calls..."

Lamont thought, "It is my fault that Paige suffered so much. She could have avoided it!

If I had known, I would have controlled myself a little bit!

I'm such an asshole!"

"Lamont, they are extraordinary. Whoever goes will get hurt."

She would rather hurt herself than let those little boys suffer like her...

One punch from them will make those little boys hurt for many days...

"It must hurt..." Lamont looked at Paige, was in agony about her, and said, "How can I help you? Change fresh dressing for your wounds, or..."

"I want to eat something."

"I go to the kitchen to get you some food." Lamont quickly got up and walked towards the kitchen.

Paige raised her eyelids and looked at Yana who was not far away. Yana was stil lying there quietly, without any new injuries.

On the way back, Paige was somewhat unconscious, afraid that she wouldn't be able to protect Yana so that Yana would get injured...

Fortunately, everything was fine.

"Here comes the food," Lamont pushed a dining car, which was filled with various delicious food, and said, "Before your little ones left, they made delicious food and placed it on the insulated table, keeping it warm all the time."

At first glance, Paige knew who made this food. With their temperament, her little boys probably took out kitchen knives and had a fight with the culprits after seeing how badly she was hurt.

"At that time, I accidentally discovered that they were going to avenge your hurt. They were probably afraid that I might stop them, so they begged me by all means, Lamont pushed the small dining car to the sofa and said with a smile," Your guys are really loyal."

They were more loyal than other subordinates he had ever seen before.

"We are David and Jonathan," Paige explained.

Moreover, in her heart, she never regarded them as subordinates...

Although they called Paige Boss, she never considered herself to be nobler than them. Instead, she got along equally with them, and she shared all benefits with them.

"There are really not many 'bosses' like you." Lamont looked at his sister gently, his eyes full of recognition.

Patricia had been living in the Lusk family for eighteen years, and he only spent a short month with Paige.

From Lamont's heart, he didn't want to compare his two sisters. But he had to admit that Paige was really more excellent than Patricia.

This kind of excellence was not only that of learning and outstanding talents but also the character of treating matters and other persons. She was as generous as the ocean accommodating all rivers on Earth.

She was bright and brave. She had lofty aspirations and a spirit that could conquer mountains and rivers.

These advantages made Paige not only particularly prominent among peers but also a unique presence in this world.

Let alone Martin, Lamont was attracted to Paige's personality.

She was really outstanding and deserved to be liked by so many people.

"Paige."

At this moment, a handsome figure quickly walked over

As soon as Paige raised her eyelids, she was held by Martin in his arms.

Martin knew she had injuries, so he was very gentle and careful when holding her.

Paige could smell the familiar aroma on his body and asked, "You have finished your jobs?"

"There is only one thing undone, and I left it to Jairo and others." Martin lowered his head and kissed her. He hugged her for a while before asking softly, "Are you hungry? Let me feed you.".

Lamont silently moved away from his position. Martin glanced at him and said, "Lamont, thank you for taking care of Paige."

"My duty..."

Paige was his sister, so he should take care of her.

"Only a few of your little boys have been injured."
