Chapter 526! Have a Girlfriend

The insane behavior of the T3 Research Institute over the years had made people angry. The news went viral. Some big shots couldn't suppress it at all, so they could only find trouble with Martin and the others in private.

But Martin was already prepared. Once they came, it would be like throwing themselves into a trap, and they would only push themselves into the abyss.

In addition, Paige and Lamont's people had been manipulating, fermenting, and expanding the impact of the incident. Soon, waves of enthusiasm brought these incidents to the top.

It attracted worldwide attention.

Many big figures had been dragged into the mire and hurriedly came out to clarify; Many entrepreneurs issued statements, fidgeting anxiously; Many people wanted to come out to whitewash their reputation. But none of them could stop the spread of these things.

Danica sat on the sofa at home, watching the news. Her view of the world collapsed. "Is there such a thing? How did this world become like this? Did these things exist before??"

"Oh my god, how did this happen??" Even the servants were horrified when they saw the news on their mobile phones.

The world they lived in seemed to be completely different from the exposed world...

At this time, a servant came running and said, "Madam, Ms. Shawn is here."

"Callia?"

Danica hadn't recovered from the huge shock. When she saw Callia entering the door with a bunch. of gifts and a bright smile, she said with a smile, "Why did you bring so many things here again? I told you that you don't have to stand on ceremony."

"These fruits are grown by a distant relative of ours. They're sweet. I picked them myself. I also saw this tea at an auction. It's said it tastes particularly mellow, so I want to bring it to you."

Callia introduced the gift in her hand, and Danica took it hastily. "Kid, you're thoughtful. Lamont recently took Paige abroad. He just came back and was busy with work... You sit down first. I will give him a call."

"No need, auntie. Don't bother him... I have nothing to do. I just came to see you."

"It just so happens that I have something to look for him. I'll go upstairs to get something I bought for you today..."

Danica thought, "It's not good to always accept gifts from this child, but this child is determined not to accept my return present..."

When Danica was shopping with Patricia today, she remembered to buy something for Callia...

At this moment, Callia thought that she had won the favor of her future mother-in-law, so she was very happy.

When Lamont answered the phone, Danica hurriedly said, "Son, Callia has come to our house again. What do you mean by her? You should tell Mom clearly first. I think this kid is pretty good. Her family background, moral upbringing, appearance, and personality are all perfect. I'm very satisfied with her. Why don't you try to date her?"

At this time, Lamont was feeding Yana medicine, and he turned on the speakerphone. He didn't expect that his mother would say such a thing suddenly. Before he could refute it, Danica continued.

"This child visits us now and then and cares about us. Every time she comes, she brings a bunch of things. The last time I had a stiff neck, she even gave me a massage and it didn't take long that she cured my pain. It was amazing.

"Patricia goes to school, and there are no young people at home. She even came here to accompany me, doing beauty treatments and having afternoon tea with me.

"And when your dad had a backache before, she visited us with herbal porridge, sent us a massage chair with a physiotherapy machine, and invited a famous doctor to come to help your dad.

"Although this child grew up with a golden spoon in her mouth, she doesn't have the temper of a spoiled lady at all..."

"Mom, Mom."

At this moment, Lamont felt the eyes of Yana and Nate, and hurriedly interrupted his mother,

"Mom, I have said many times that she and I can only be brothers in this life. I have a girlfriend, and I will let you meet her someday."

As soon as Lamont finished speaking, Yana hurriedly covered his mouth, signaling him not to continue.

What Danica said on the phone just now made Yana feel the gap between her and Callia...

Lamont could feel the soft touch of the girl's fingers. He kissed her lightly. Yana was a little ashamed, and subconsciously withdrew her hand...

This scene was seen by Nate, which only made him even more furious. Lamont was still taking

"You have a girlfriend? When did it happen? Why have I never heard of it?" Danica was shocked.

Nate became even angrier that Lamont never talked to his family after dating with Yana for a year...

Why??

Why didn't Lamont tell his family??

"Is she as old as you? What does her family do? Do know her? Which family's daughter is she?"

Before Danica finished asking, Lamont felt that Yana's mood had changed, and he hurriedly. interrupted, "Anyway, don't give Callia any hope, and I will find time to talk to her later."

"Son..."

Danica wanted to ask more about his girlfriend, but her son had already hung up the phone in a hurry.

Danica thought, "This is weird. When did my son get a girlfriend. Why didn't I hear any news..."

Is it a recent relationship??"

Downstairs, Callia was looking forward to it. Seeing Danica coming downstairs, the light in her eyes became brighter.

"Callia, these are the clothes I bought for you. I don't know if they fit. I wanted to see you try them. on. But something happened, and your uncle asked me to go out. I can't stay to entertain you..."

Danica lied.

"It's okay. It's okay, Auntie. Thank you for buying me so many beautiful clothes. I'll go back and put them on, and make a video for you to watch? I won't stay here to bother you and Uncle..." Callia got up consciously and said goodbye, thanking Danica for her kindness.

Danica looked at the back of her leaving, and didn't know what kind of girlfriend Lamont had made, thinking how sad Callia would be after she knew about it...

Moon Bay.

Nate looked at Lamont with a cold face, and Yana said in time, "Nate, you go to rest first. I am sleepy too, and want to sleep."

"I'm asking you." Nate stared straight at Lamont, as if he wanted to see through him. "For more than a year, have you kept in touch with that daughter of the Shawn family? She still often visits your house? You have a good relationship? You never told your family about the existence of Yana?"

"Nate, go to rest first." Yana's eyes were full of warning, and she didn't want her brother to intervene in this matter.

But Nate said angrily, "On the surface, he says he loves you, cares about you, and looks for you. everywhere, but he still has a back-up in private."—

The point was that the back-up had already been approved by his family, and the back-up had already met Lamont's family, and his family would definitely think that the back-up was better than Yana.

"Nate, you misunderstood."

Before Lamont had time to explain, Nate said angrily, "I heard it clearly just now, your family doesn't even know that you have a girlfriend!"

After dating for a year, Lamont never told his family members, so the family members kept trying to find a partner for him.

Seeing that something was wrong, the servants outside rushed to find Paige.
