

Ceo's Mysterious Fiancee by Piper Dunlap

Chapter 540

Chapter 540 Blocked the Way

She looked at Paige, and saw that the girl said some words of sincere thanks without being surprised, and then gracefully left the stage...

Damn it. She must be very happy in her heart, and she merely pretended to be calm on the surface!

No wonder Patricia didn't like her. Kailyn also hated her to the extreme at this time. She was really good at pretending!

Kailyn secretly swore in her heart that someday she must defeat her!

When Paige returned to the auditorium, the people of University of Illinois at Chicago regarded her as a myth.

'Paige, you are amazing! How can you play the violin so well? How many years have you been learning it?'

'You have not only brought honor to yourself today, but also to University of Illinois at Chicago! You are so outstanding, so great!'

'Boohoo, Paige, I adore you so much. I declare that from today onwards, you are my idol!'

From the moment Paige stepped into University of Chicago, she had been earning honors for University of Illinois at Chicago, but they... were holding her back!!

'I think I can smash the violin when I go back... I feel that after practicing for so many years, I'm still not as good as one-thousandth of Paige.' Someone said in frustration.

'I hope Paige can play a wrong note to prove that she is human!'

She was just a freshman, yet she had such a high level of music, and it also brought such a shock to people...

Only in this way could higher value be realized and life would become better.

'I used to think that my piano was not good, for it was too cheap, so I didn't play the tone of the same quality as others...'

The girl who lent the violin to Paige said ashamedly, 'I didn't know it wasn't the violin's problem, it was me until I saw that violin that made me feel ashamed, glowing with new brilliance in your hands just now.'

'Paige, whoever dares to insult you on the forum in the future, I will be the first to jump out and scold them! You are obviously so approachable and outstanding. If anyone dares to talk nonsense in the future, I will be the first to disagree.'

'You not only have extremely high academic performance and musical talent, but also are so beautiful and have such a good personality. Hubba hubba...'

The crowd chattered around Paige again, and they didn't stop talking until Paige told them to calm down and prepare for the competition.

And Patricia didn't know how to describe her mood at this time.

She thought that seeing Kailyn's defeat would make her feel happy, but at this moment, a feeling of jealousy and resentment arose spontaneously, which made her unable to calm down.

How come...

How could Paige be so powerful...

Her performance actually caused Malachi to offer her to be his disciple again and again!

That was Malachi Eve!!

The president of the Violin Association!

Although she knew that Paige was very good at the piano, she didn't expect that she surpassed her by too much in the violin, too much...

She and Amily were still thinking about trapping Paige into some mistakes in order to cover up the light brought by her various identities...

But now, Paige seemed to be able to do everything. It was really hard to make her go wrong!!

Patricia clenched her fists so hard that her nails sank into her palms. She hated it! She hated that someone taught Paige so many talents!!

She was originally the least valued person in the Tate family!!

Originally lived at the bottom!!

But now, she had become an unreachable existence, which made her angry!

Where did she get her connections, and how could she learn so many skills in such a short period of time?

And Kailyn was also very angry.

She still vividly remembered a time when Paige stood up for the waiters in the clubhouse, embarrassing her and her friends in public.

And last time, when Grandma woke up, the members of the two families went to the hospital to visit her. She wanted to join hands with Paige to kick Patricia out of the Lusk family, but Paige taunted her.

Paige said, "Does Patricia spend any of your money? Does it matter to you whether she stays in this family or not? No more nonsense, or you are the first to leave the Lusk family!"

At that time, she still wanted to persuade Paige. After all, Patricia was not the biological child of the Lusk family. Instead, she and Paige were the legitimate daughters of the Lusk family. But Paige only gave her a warning look, and scorned to be with her.

Because of this, she was scolded by her mother Allison after she went back. Her mother said that with Paige's temperament, it would be impossible to join hands with her. And she was also called stupid, and she was inferior to Paige in everything...

Now, she must find a way to turn the table around!

Half an hour later.

Paige waited for the group of kids to come to the stage and finish playing, then got up and led the team away.

She had to go to another auditorium to see how Bess and Leana were doing in their professional competition.

When passing the backstage, Kailyn called her directly, "Paige, let's play chess."

This sound attracted the attention of many people around.

Could it be that Kailyn was upset after losing to No.1 scholar, and wanted to challenge her again?

Someone hastily sent a Line message and secretly ran to call someone, hoping that more people could witness this moment.

'I don't have time to play with you.' Paige's tone was a bit indifferent, and she was about to lead the team away, but was stopped by Kailyn.

'Just five minutes! The winner will be determined in five minutes.'

There was no need to go down to the last step, as long as whoever won the most in five minutes would do.

Paige knew that she was having a difficult time, and she would propose to play chess, presumably her chess skills were no worse than that of the violin.

'You don't even ask what Paige is good at, but you propose to play chess. Don't you just want to beat Paige in the field you are good at? Don't you think it's unfair to win like this?'

'Fine, then. There's no need to play. Paige's willing to give it to you.'

"You don't even know the proper way to handle a game. That's petty. Oh, I see. It must be because your teacher wants to accept Paige as his disciple, so you are envious."

'Paige, defeat her. Teach her a lesson and let her know that there are always people who are even cleverer.'

'Let's go.' Paige still didn't want to compete with her.

Kailyn once again blocked her way, "It's just a minute. Win or lose in a minute."

She had gone this far...

Paige raised her eyebrows, thinking, "Is she this eager to compete?"

The people from University of Illinois at Chicago couldn't help but scold, "Did you grow up with everyone loving you and never losing, so you can't afford to lose? Paige even said that she wasn't available, and you are still sticking at her. Haven't you heard a saying that great barkers are no biters?"

'Are you implying that Kailyn is a dog? She is the daughter of the Lusk family. If she is a dog, then you are not even as good as a dog!'

'That's right. It's your honor to have Kailyn competing with you...'

'No. 1 scholar should be able to do everything. It's just a thing of one minute, not even longer than you wasting time here.'

'Hear!
