Chapter 555

Chapter 555 Just Climbed out of the Trash?

Paige took out her mobile phone and hacked into the surveillance cameras nearby. She found that the video from 15 minutes ago had been hacked. Bess Whitney and Molly must have been taken away at this time.

'Paige, what should we do? Should we call the police?' Leana Barker was very worried and she asked. "What if they are really in danger?"

The other students were also a little uneasy. After all, they couldn't find any trace of the two of them. Could it be that those bastards from the University of Chicago did it?

At this time, Paige noticed a flickering blue dot outside the window. Because of the light, the blue dot was not eye-catching.

But Paige still realized something and said to the people around her, 'Go somewhere else to look first.'

There were fewer people involved in this matter, the better.

Only by sending them all away could Paige take a look at the blue dot outside.

'Maybe Molly just forgot to take her bag after washing her hands.'

'It's also possible that Bess didn't notice that her key was missing.'

'Yes, let's go somewhere else to look first. Maybe their phones are out of battery, or the signal in the place they are staying is not good. Don't scare yourself.'

'It's also possible that they went to the auditorium to watch the competition. In short, let's look for them separately!'

They quickly decided on the route and split up to look for them.

After they left, Paige easily jumped up to the window and took off the thing stuck outside. It was a black crescent-shaped bracelet.

'Put this on and come to the top of Lorham Mountain in half an hour. Otherwise, you'll have to wait to collect the bodies of your friends.'

Paige's eyes darkened. "What's the point of kidnapping two weak people?"

'If I didn't do that, how could you have surrendered so obediently?' A cold mechanical voice came from the bracelet. "Those who meddle in other people's business have to pay the price. If you dare to ask for reinforcements, I'll cut off one of their fingers. I don't mind dismembering them into ten thousand pieces."

Paige's eyes darkened and she took out her phone. As soon as she turned on the screen, she heard Molly's scream coming from the other end of the bracelet.

'Stop!' Paige sternly reprimanded.

'As I said, you're not allowed to call for reinforcements. Are you ignoring my words?' The man's voice was a little dignified.

Only then did Paige notice that there should be a camera in the bracelet. She lied calmly, "I just want to tell everyone that there's no need to look for them. Let them go back to school first. You heard it just now. They couldn't find her and wanted to call the police."

The man obviously didn't believe Paige. "Don't play tricks. Put on this thing and come to the designated place in half an hour.'

All Paige could do was put it on first.

At this time, there was a sound at the door of the bathroom. Paige looked up and saw that it was Leana Barker, who was afraid.

'Paige, I...' When Leana Barker separated to look for her classmates, she suddenly remembered that Paige was still in the bathroom. She wanted to come back and find Paige, but she didn't expect to hear the conversation just now.

'Kill her," the man in the bracelet ordered mercilessly.

Leana Barker was even more scared. What kind of thing had Paige been involved in? It sounded terrible.

'She came just at the right time." Paige calmly replied before she continued, 'Weren't you worried that I would call for reinforcements? Then, my classmate will do it for me.'

Speaking of this, Paige looked at Leana Barker and said, "Go and tell the others not to look for them. I'll bring them back. Remember, don't say anything you shouldn't say."

'Why should I believe her?' The man in the bracelet said coldly, "Who knows if she will ask for help?"

'She's just an ordinary student. What kind of reinforcements can she ask for? Besides, she won't act rashly when it's related to my life.'

Speaking of this, Paige hugged Leana Barker and said, "Don't be afraid. I'll bring them back safely... Go back to school and wait for us there."

Leana Barker was stunned with tears in her eyes. The warm hug brought her back to reality. She nodded and said, 'I won't say anything. You must be careful...'

"Okay." Paige patted Leana on the shoulder. "Go."

'If you dare to play any tricks, everyone around you, including you, will suffer.'" The man in the bracelet warned coldly again.

"I won't tell anyone. I've always kept my word. I won't call the police, nor will I tell my classmates... Don't make things difficult for my two classmates, and don't hurt Paige," Leana Barker couldn't help saying.

'You're not qualified to negotiate with me.'" After saying that, the man in the bracelet reminded Paige, "You only have 24 minutes left.'

'You can go back first.'" After Leana Barker left, Paige walked out of the bathroom.

At this time, Patricia had changed into a new dress in the bathroom on the other side. When she saw Paige, she quickly walked towards her.

When Paige saw Patricia, she chose another path.

But Patricia still jogged to catch up with Paige and said. "I have something to tell you."

'I don't have time to listen."

Patricia couldn't help but run up to Paige and block her way when Patricia saw Paige continue to walk forward without even looking at her.

'Let me ask you, do you have two concert tickets?'

'It's none of your business.'" Paige was afraid that if she said too much, the person on the other end of the black bracelet would hear her.

If others were to find out about their relationship, it would implicate Jack and the others...

However, Patricia did not give up. 'Are you feeling guilty? You really have the concert tickets? I need them. Give me those two tickets.'

A few questions popped up in Paige's mind. "Why?"

'Because I usually give in to you in everything. If you want to go to a concert, you can do it in the future, but my friend is looking forward to this one. Just be kind and give it to me first.'

'...' Paige was speechless. She went straight ahead and didn't even look at her.

"Paige!" Patricia looked at her back and couldn't help asking, "You already have a lot. Are you not even willing to give me two tickets?"

Paige wanted to scold her, but on second thought, she knew that the person on the other end of the bracelet would definitely hear their conversation, so she ignored her and went straight ahead.

'Stop right there!' Patricia had just been bullied by Kailyn and had nowhere to vent her anger. When she saw Paige, she became even angrier.

She thought, "What right did Paige have to ignore her? She grew up in the Tate family as an inferior."

She stepped forward and tried to grab Paige's hand.

When she got closer, Paige suddenly smelled a stench. She avoided it slightly, raised her eyebrows, and asked, "Did you just crawl out of the garbage dump?'

Patricia was stunned and wondered, 'What's wrong? Is the smell so strong? I've already changed into a new dress! Is there any more smell?'

' Did you really come out of the garbage dump?"

'You, you...' Patricia lowered her head and sniffed her arm. It really did smell a little stinky... Strangely, she had just washed it...
