

Chapter 562 Curiosity

"I think it's because Paige herself is outstanding and has attracted equally outstanding Martin to approach her. Haven't you noticed? Both of them are much more outstanding than their peers." Bess expressed her opinion.

"Paige is indeed much better than us. How did she do it..." Molly couldn't help but ask curiously, "For me, it's very difficult to make a name for myself in the field of medicine, as if I can't see the end of it. Paige has already dissected herself with a scalpel in today's competition."

And it was the people from the Medical Department of the University of Chicago who deliberately provoked her. That was why Paige accepted the challenge and showed off her skills.

How many things would she have in private that others didn't know?

'Paige is talented and has a unique personality. She was outstanding when she was very young. She has put in more effort than ordinary people and spent a lot of time and energy to reach her current level. If you have any questions about medicine, you can ask her. She will teach you generously.'

Hearing what Bess said, Molly couldn't help saying, "I'm really envious of you. You can live in the same dormitory with her... The people in my dormitory are all terrible. One of them often watched variety shows with a tablet computer, and it is loud. One of them often doesn't take a shower or wash clothes, and the clothes in the bucket are moldy and smelly. The other likes to speak ill of others behind their backs..."

"Then you can ask the counselor for a change of dorm. In contrast, I think our roommates are easy to get along with. However, Paige and Anna are often not in the dormitory. Only Leana is with me. Once something happens, the four of us will be very good comrades-in-arms."

Hearing this, Molly became even more envious. "Then in the future, when Paige and Anna are not around, can I have dinner with you and attend classes together?"

"Of course!" Bess enthusiastically invited. "Even if Paige and Anna come back, you can come at any time."

At this moment, Paige knocked on the door and smiled. "Let's go down and eat something together."

"Paige, are you done?" Molly's eyes lit up when she saw Paige. "You, you, you have so many hickeys on your neck..."

Bess looked at Paige and could not help but add with a smile, "Your lips are also swollen."

"Martin is so fierce, he gnawed you to pieces in such a short time... His combat strength is amazing."

"You seem to like gossip very much?"

"It's you... It's hard not to gossip..." Molly couldn't help but step forward and hold her daughter's hand. Like a parent, she said worriedly, "Since Martin is like this, it means that he likes you to the core. I think you can get engaged first. He's Martin, what if someone else snatches him..."

"You're saying that I'm not as good as him? I have to hurry up and tie him up with the engagement?" Paige raised her eyebrows and looked interested.

"Of course not. I mean what if those little vixens take a fancy to him and try to seduce him with some dirty tricks... You can guard against one or two, but you can't guard against a hundred or two hundred. It's better to take the initiative."

"It depends on his own self-awareness," said Paige with a faint smile. "It's useless for guarding against others."

"No, I still think..."

"You'd better worry about yourself!" Bess interrupted her. She held on to Paige's other hand and gossiped. "Hurry up and tell me, which one of you couldn't hold back first..."

As soon as the three of them walked out of the presidential suite, they saw Martin standing outside the door. He seemed to have been waiting there for a while.

Molly and Bess were instantly petrified. "Heavens, why is Martin here?"

They all looked at Paige, and she smiled. Had Martin been waiting outside ever since she appeared?

"I, I, I..." Molly didn't know how to explain. "It's over, it's over. I just told Paige to get engaged early so that Martin wouldn't be seduced by that vixen..."

"Martin hears these words, right?"

As for Bess, she was also a little ashamed. Just now, when she asked Paige who was the one who couldn't help kissing first...

It was one thing to gossip in private, but when it was heard by the person involved...

"I, I, I was just curious." Bess did not know howto explain.

"Me too. Don't take what I said just now to heart..." Molly was afraid that Martin would think that there was something wrong with her character and stop her from making friends with Paige.

"It's okay, it's just a joke between classmates. I think Ms. Campbell has a lot of foresight, which Paige can think about it." Martin looked at Paige with a doting smile.

Molly was stunned. 'Martin actually thinks I have foresight? Well said?

"Can it be that Martin wants to get engaged to Paige more than I do?

"This means that he really likes Paige, doesn't he?

"Oh my god, why do I suddenly feel so sweet?"

"I have always had the initiative." Martin then looked at Bess to satisfy her curiosity.

Bess was stunned. She didn't think that Martin would answer such a question. At the same time, she was surprised and almost cried out in excitement. God, Martin actually...

"You can leave first." Paige took a step forward and said, "The three of us are injured, we have to walk slowly."

"Can I carry you?"

"Get lost!"

Paige thought he must have done it on purpose to let her classmates know that they had a good relationship.

"Then I'll go downstairs first." Martin looked at her with a smile and rubbed her hair. He didn't forget to look up at the two girls behind Paige and said, "Please take care of Paige."

"No problem, no problem..." Bess answered subconsciously.

After Martin left, Molly couldn't help but exclaim excitedly, "Oh my god... My mind is still muddled. Paige, Martin is so nice to you. He listens to you, and he'll do whatever you tell him to do..."

"The point is that he was so well-behaved just now, and even answered our questions..." Bess could not help getting excited.

The two gossiped all the way around Paige. When they finally arrived at the restaurant downstairs, they had already booked the whole place.

All kinds of delicious food were served on the table. Bess and Molly were both stunned. "Isn't this too polite and extravagant?"

"Paige, we can't eat that much..." Paige suddenly felt that it was a waste. There were so many delicious foods, and it seemed that there were at least 20 or 30 of them.novelxo.com fast update

"Martin is here. Even if he didn't give the order, the resort manager would definitely have gotten someone to prepare so much...' explained Paige.

It was all because of Martin's status. This resort was under his name, who would dare to use a few dishes to entertain the people he brought?

"What about Martin? Is he not eating anymore?"

Just as Bess was wondering, the manager stepped forward and explained, "Mr. Stowe has gone to the other side for dinner. He's afraid that you'll feel uneasy if he's here."

Oh my god, he's so considerate...