Chapter 563

Chapter 563 Which Bastard Did It?

Because Martin wasn't here, Bess and Molly ate to their heart's content.

"Well, this is delicious. Is it wrapped in salted egg yolk? It smells so good..." Molly would bring all the delicious food to Paige.

When Bess ate delicious food, she would share it with Paige. "If only we could have Leana here. She's just a foodie..."

'It doesn't matter. Pack it up for her later.'

"Oh, Paige, you're so nice! But will we embarrass you like this? Will the manager think that we're like hungry ghosts who have never seen the world..."

Not only did they eat and drink here, but they also had to pack up and take it away...

"So what if I want to bring some delicious food back to share with my good friends after eating it?" Paige did not take it seriously. Instead, she supported them. "Is there anything you like? I'll get someone to pack it up together."

"Oh, Paige, you're so nice..."

In the end, when they were full, the manager asked the kitchen to make some new dishes for them to pack up and take away.

It was too eye-catching for the helicopter to send them back to school, so Martin sent a car to wait at the entrance of the resort.

Knowing that Paige was going to send her classmates back, Martin cupped Paige's face in his hands and said, "Let me know when you're done with school. I'll pick you up at my place."

"Alright."

"The Ghost Alliance should be making their move soon. Be careful." Martin looked at her bright eyes and reminded her worriedly, "If you're in danger, think of a way to contact me, just like today."

"Got it."

"Try not to get hurt." Martin held her face the entire time and instructed, "Pay attention to the wounds on your body and don't let them get wet. I'll change your dressing later."

Seeing that he was nagging non-stop, Paige could not help but laugh.

Martin saw through her thoughts and smiled faintly, "You think I'm long-winded?"

"No!"

Martin lowered his head and kissed her lips again, his eyes full of reluctance. "Alright, you go back first."

Only then did she get into the car.

Martin personally closed the car door for her and didn't forget to bend down to remind her, "Send me a message when you get there, or give me a call."

"Alright."

Paige knew that he was going to deal with the group of people he had caught today, so she motioned for him to go first.

"Then Mr. Stowe... I'll head out first?" The driver wanted to step on the accelerator several times, but he didn't know if Martin had finished his words.

"You must send them back safely." Martin instructed, "Drive slowly on the way."

"Yes, Mr. Stowe."

Paige waved at him. It wasn't until Martin's figure disappeared behind her that Bess and Molly couldn't help teasing her.

"Oh, Paige, Martin cares for you so much. It's such a short journey, yet he still needs to remind you so much..."

"I feel that the driver is under pressure. I can tell that he really cares about you."

"You must call him when you get back and tell him that you're safe."

Half an hour later.

As soon as she arrived at school, Paige received a call from Cason.

"Hahahaha, little girl, where are you? I've got the antidote. I've made a big breakthrough..."

The little old man's proud voice came from the other end of the phone. "Hehe, kiddo, it's not that easy to make things difficult for me!"

Paige couldn't help but laugh. "I'll be right there."

As soon as she hung up the phone, she saw Leonel, Quentin, and Leana running toward them.

"Paige." Leonel and Quentin greeted Paige one after another. They looked breathless, as if they had just received the news and came to welcome them.

Paige nodded.

Leonel's glance fell at Bess first. "What's wrong with your face? Who slapped you?"

"I got it myself by accident."

As soon as Leonel touched the wound on Bess's face, Bess frowned in pain and cried out in pain, "You're lying. It's obvious that you were punched."

Which son of a bitch hit you?"

"Which bastard did it?" Leonel looked very angry, as if he was distressed and ready to stand up for Bess at any time.

Seeing him like this, Paige knew that he had probably fallen for Bess. She said gently, "My men have already dealt with those people."

"Why did they do that to Bess?"

"Why do you have so many questions? So annoyed." Bess stamped her foot and walked forward.

"I..." Leonel caught up with her. "You've been beaten like this. Can't I ask? What are you holding in your hand? I'll get it."

Bess didn't want to give it to him, but Leonel snatched it from her by force. "You packed so much food when you're injured. You're really a foodie."

"You're the foodie. This is what we bought for Leana."

"Have you had dinner?"

"Yes, Paige invited us to a big meal!"

"Is it delicious? Give me some?" Leonel also wanted to have a taste of the big meal she was talking about.

"No, these are all prepared for Leana..."

The two of them were still bickering, while Leana couldn't help covering her mouth when she heard Molly talking about their experience.

Only Quentin followed Paige. "Paige, what's going on?"

"Recently, someone has been making trouble for me, but they couldn't find me, so they took Bess and Molly away. Tell Leonel to be careful from now on. If possible, help me keep an eye on Bess and Leana, and protect them."

"Which bastard dares to make trouble for you?" Hearing this, Quentin couldn't help rolling up her sleeves. "Paige, tell me who they are. I'll find someone to teach them a lesson."

"They are not ordinary person." It wasn't convenient for Paige to say anything, so she continued, "In any case, be careful. Call me if you notice anything amiss."

"Then, Paige, what about you?"

"I can protect myself."

"Okay, Leonel and I will protect Bess and Leana for you. Be careful."

"I'll go to the lab first."

Seeing that the two people in front of her were still bickering and Molly and Leana were chatting, Paige said goodbye to Quentin and went to the laboratory first.

Quentin didn't understand why Paige stayed in the laboratory every day, but he heard that Paige led a team to the University of Chicago to participate in the competition today. Her cutting skills and sewing skills were highly praised by all the judges...

Quentin assumed that Page must have learned her skill from the lab...

As soon as Paige pushed open the door of the laboratory, she heard the excited voice of the little old man. ' Paige, come here quickly. Look, the upgraded antitoxic pill has connected with the poisonous blood. Do you see it? The toxin has disappeared little by little..."

Paige came to the instrument and saw the reaction of the two substances. The toxin was indeed disappearing little by little...

"Haha, this is the result of my research over the past few days. After the upgrade, the antitoxic pill encountered this toxin, which is equivalent to a rainstorm meeting a fire. Look carefully, the fire will go out soon..." Cason was excited, but suddenly his smile froze
