Chapter 564

Chapter 564 The Words of Honey

"What's going on? Why can't the last bit of poison be completely removed..." Cason widened his eyes and looked at the stubborn black dot on the screen in disbelief. Under the fierce attack of the upgraded antitoxic pill, the black dot remained unmoved, never shrinking or disappearing...

Paige analyzed, "It seems that the upgraded antitoxic pill can't completely remove the toxins from Yana, but compared to the previous versions of the antidote, it seems to have improved."

"That's impossible...when I was doing experiments in the morning, I had already removed all the toxins. Could it be that the toxins can grow back?" The little old man tried to adjust the process of the experiment again.

"It's also possible that there is some kind of drug composition in the antidote that can't completely suppress and eliminate this toxin. If the toxin grows again, it means that the composition of our antidote needs to change again."

Just as Paige was about to start the experiment, her phone vibrated. She took it out and saw that it was an acquaintance calling.

"Ms. Benson, I have a patient here. I want to invite you to come and have a look." The other party was cautious and respectful when speaking to Paige. "It's my friend's mother. If it weren't for her illness, I really wouldn't want to disturb you..."

Without thinking, Paige refused, "Sorry, I can't go anywhere recently. I'm too busy."

She really had too many things to do.

In addition, the forces of the Ghost Alliance had been keeping an eye on her, and they took every opportunity to attack her...

If she went, she might implicate an innocent family...

"I know that Ms. Benson is very busy. Just now, I saw my friend crying and felt emotional, so I boldly asked you for help... The patient's condition is getting more and more tricky. I don't have a better idea about medicine. Please help me. Even if it's just a few words of advice, my friend and I will be very grateful."

The other party seemed to be looking forward to Paige's help.

There were too many people in the world who needed her to save, but she really couldn't do it alone.

Since she was a benevolent doctor, Paige finally said, "Send me the medical records. I'll take a look when I'm free."

"Thank you, Ms. Benson. I'll email it to you later." The other party kept thanking her. After a long while, he said, "I'm looking forward to your reply."

As soon as Paige hung up the phone, Jairo called.

"According to the description of Nate, Boss, we started to investigate the family with a French architectural style more than a decade ago. After several rounds of comparison and investigation, the scope is finally narrowed to 39 families. Do we need to pull their hair one by one?"

"What do you think?"

"If one of the 39 families is really your sister-in-law's native family..."

"Is she going to acknowledge her ancestors?"

"With Yana's status, could she go back to her original home?"

"Can it be that she couldn't even enter the house..."

"Or..."

"Just like Boss, she met a mean sister after she found her origin..."

"That's not something that we should consider." Paige calmly analyzed as she continued, "We're only helping Yana find her native family. As for what will happen in the future, it's not something that can be controlled by us. It's up to Yana to decide if she wants to return to her native family."

"Then I'll let you know as soon as I get the result."

"Well, okay."

"You little girl, you have so many phone calls every day... By the time you finish speaking, I've finished flipping through the records." Cason chuckled and pointed to the screen, saying, "Look, the toxin will really grow again. I knew it in the morning experiment. The toxin has clearly been removed, but how could it grow again? It seems that as you said, there is some composition in the antidote that can't suppress the toxin and will be counterattacked by the toxin. This is a big discovery..."

"I suddenly remembered that when I was a child, in the ancient medical book you asked me to read, there was a medicine called Heart Piercing Crow, which could suppress the growth of toxins."

"Yes, why didn't I think of it!" Cason said happily, "It seems that it's useful to let you copy it when you were a child."

Paige curled her lips playfully. "Apart from copying, I suddenly remembered a lot of things..."

"It's all in the past. Don't mention it." Cason was afraid that she would bring up the past. "When you were a child, you were cute. I liked you very much, but I couldn't always smile at you. Otherwise, how could you make any progress? When I taught you, I was a little strict..."

The little old man was still laughing.

Raising her eyebrows, Paige asked with interest, "Just... a little bit?"

The old man hurriedly said, "I'm not like the other old men. I've never used corporal punishment. At most, I'll punish you by making you copy medical books and reciting them upside down..."

Nodding her head in interest, Paige asked, "What else?"

"Also... there's no need to talk about this. Your sister-in-law's condition is more important." The little old man felt a little guilty.

Looking at him turning his head to do the experiment, Paige smiled and said, "Cason, I will remember the kindness you and the others have shown me for the rest of my life."

"Don't..." Cason was so scared that everything fell off. He hurriedly turned his head and explained, "Don't forget my serious side. Don't forget that I am good to you..."

Paige couldn't help but laugh. "I don't mean to get even with you."

"That's good... I was scared to death. By the way, when you were a child, you were so talented that I couldn't wait for you to become a talent immediately. We were worried sick. Now that you have made a name for yourself, you got into such big trouble. Sure enough, a tall tree catches the wind..." Cason couldn't help but worry again.

She knew that he was referring to the Ghost Alliance, so she comforted him, "Don't worry, Cason. It will be over soon."

"You're a grown-up now, and you have to make your own decisions on everything. I know that I can't persuade you, but as long as I'm alive, I'll definitely do my best to protect you..."

Looking at his back, Paige was touched again. Since she was a child, if it weren't for their accompanying her to grow up and teaching her so many skills, maybe she would be the same as her peers and not outstanding at all.

"I don't need your protection anymore." Paige smiled with confidence in her eyes. "I can protect you now."

"You've grown up with me. I'll grow old with you..."

The little old man turned around and looked at her with gratitude. Suddenly, he found that his honey was particularly sensible today. He wanted to cry!

He decided to send it to the other old men in the group later...

This was the first time that his honey had said such sweet words to him...

"Help me find out where the Heart Piercing Crow is. If there is, ask for a few of them for me." At this moment, Paige had already given the order over the phone.

The little old man quickly took the opportunity to wipe the tears from the corners of his eyes and turned to do the experiment
