Chapter 8

Blank Check Although Denise was trembling in fear, she still mustered up her courage and said, "It was Dr. Williamson's idea. If anything happens to him, he will bear the responsibility..."

"How does he bear the responsibility? Will he use all your lives?"

Hearing Rhys's words, Denise was so scared that her face turned pale, and she could not say a word. "Mr. Stowe, let our experts go in and save your grandfather first. Leave the chief surgeon and assistant to me. None of them can leave.” After Rhys finished speaking, he coldly swept his gaze across everyone present. Rhys had to let them know the price of acting recklessly! How dare Colin randomly ask a high school student to perform surgery on Killian? Was he tired of living? At this moment, the seven or eight experts behind Martin were all surprised. “She separated all the conglutinations.” “Not a single blood vessel was injured. Even the heart tissue is intact. The key is that she is holding a knife with her left hand!” “How did she do it?” “It was such a difficult separation, but she was able to finish it so quickly...” It was a very difficult operation, but Paige did it as if it was a piece of cake. After she finished treating the conglutinations, she looked up. She was so beautiful and left a deep impression on everyone. “Professor Swift, who is she?” One of the foreign cardiologists brought by Martin asked, “Is she a new doctor in the hospital? I wonder if I have the honor to talk to her later?” “We came late and didn’t see how she opened the chest, but her medical skills are definitely above mine...” “I also have a question I want to ask her...” Not only Rhys was surprised, but everyone else was shocked. A young girl in her teens had completely separated all the conglutinations in the shortest time possible! “It’s so surprising to achieve that.” “Even an experienced expert might not do this in such a short time.” “Is it possible that she is an older experienced doctor who looks younger than her age?” Otherwise, how could she be able to do this? Martin’s expression was solemn, and his handsome eyes revealed a trace of cold inquiry. He was hiding his emotions. Get Brights Denise couldn’t help but mock, “Even if she didn’t hurt the blood vessels and heart tissue, Mr. Stowe has undergone many operations on the heart, so there wasn’t much heart petaled tissue left to sew up. In other words, the mitral annulus wasn’t enough for artificial Heart valves to establish themselves.” That was also one of the reasons why they didn’t dare to operate. “Denise,” Tim Swift scolded in a low voice, somewhat dissatisfied. Denise said righteously. “I just want everyone to know that Mr. Stowe's heart is seriously infected. The swelling of the tissue is serious, and the stitching of the artificial valves is extremely difficult... If there is a problem with her stitching, it will be hard for Mr. Stowe's heart function to improve in the future. There is a high possibility that there will be serious complications." Tim realized Denise was causing trouble, so he quickly said to Martin, "Mr. Stowe, this little girl's medical skills are brilliant. I believe she will be able to handle this situation... Moreover, Dr. Williamson will be her assistant. Dr. Williamson is born into a medical family and is talented and intelligent. His grandfather is Todd Williamson. His medical skills are famous around the world." Todd? Martin understood. The male assistant in front of him was Colin, Todd's only beloved grandson. Todd was one of the famous doctors Martin had invited. Today, he happened to have a traffic jam on the road and had yet to arrive. Noticing Martin had an indifferent expression and did not respond, Tim felt nervous. He did not know what Martin was thinking. Next, Paige's outstanding sewing skills made all the doctors present feel ashamed... After the surgery, everyone was shocked. Killian survived. He was still alive! "Paige, are you a human?" After watching the entire operation, Colin realized Paige was much more intelligent than he thought! Colin had been prepared to save the day, but now it seemed he overestimated himself! Paige's medical skills were far above his, so he did not need to worry about her! “Wheel the patient out.” Paige washed her hands and walked out of the operating room. Many doctors waiting outside were applauding and praising her medical skills. When Denise saw it, she couldn’t help but clench her fists, and her nails dug into her palms. She didn’t expect Paige would be so capable. When Killian’s emergency bed was wheeled out of the operating room, many doctors came forward to confirm that he was still breathing. It seemed his condition was stable. “Go, go... The patient needs to rest now.” Colin knew Paige was tired. Unknowingly, they had been in the operating room for two hours. It was two o’clock in the afternoon. Colin wondered if she was hungry. Many doctors who joined in the fun dispersed. Only Martin and several cardiologists were left, as well as Tim and the others. "I will send Mr. Stowe back to the ward first." Colin turned to Paige and said, "I will be back in a while." Paige nodded and took off her mask, revealing a delicate and beautiful face. Her casual and seductive face was extremely charming. "Who is the family member?" Paige looked up. There were still some things she needed to explain. The man in the lead took a step forward and stood in front of her. He was 6'2" tall, and she was 5'5". They could make a cute couple. Paige looked at the man in front of her. His facial features seemed to have been carved with perfect proportions. His dark and deep eyes were charming and clear. “Mr. Stowe, it’s like this. Your grandfather is in critical condition. I have promised this little girl that if she can save him, she will be generously rewarded...” Tim quickly asked for the reward for Paige. Martin looked at the little girl in front of him. His dark eyes revealed some emotions, and then he looked at Rhys. Rhys immediately took out a blank check and handed it over. “Thank you, Doctor, for saving his life! Mr. Stowe is giving you this. Please put in any number you want.” Paige looked up and was surprised by how generous Martin was. She wondered who he was. The people present looked at her in surprise and envy.... Getting a blank check from Martin not only meant she would have a meteoric rise, but more importantly, she had Martin's affirmation. She would have many great opportunities. She was so lucky and had a bright future. "Then I will respectfully obey." Paige's lips curved slightly. She put the check into a pocket of her white coat. with good grace. "The patient won't need a breathing machine tomorrow." As soon as Paige finished speaking, she heard a sneer. It was from Denise in the corner.
