

Chapter 85

| Only Fall for You

“Paige, he is such a capable employee. Should we give him a raise?”

Martin’s words came from the video.

When Deon heard it, he was immediately elated and looked at Paige expectantly

“If you don’t leave now, I will donate your salary for this month to a charity organization.”

Hearing what Paige said, Deon almost couldn’t bear it. He immediately raised his leg and said, “I will leave immediately!”

“Don’t say anything you shouldn’t say outside.”

“Okay, Ms. Paige. Don’t worry. I will never tell anyone about your relationship…” Deon slammed the office door. He ignored the pain and covered his forehead to go out..

“Are you satisfied?”

Paige looked at the man in her phone with a trace of helplessness in her tone

Martin gave an evil smile and said, “How good would it be if everyone in the world knows about it.”

“Paige, when can my identity be made public?”

Deon said a man in the company wanted to confess to Paige? He was getting tired of living.

Looking at his handsome face, Paige couldn’t take it anymore and said, “I’m hanging up.”

“Wait a minute.”

“Is there anything else?”

“I haven’t seen enough of you.”

Martin leaned closer to the screen. His handsome face instantly enlarged several times, and his dark eyes had endless tenderness.

He was devastating!

“Don’t you have work to deal with?”

Paige heard Rhys’s voice and knew Martin had something to do.

“Do I?”

Martin looked at Rhys.

Rhys braced himself and said, “No…”

“Why did you come in then?”

Paige did not expect Rhys to lie. It was all because of Martin.

“Ms. Paige… I, I just came in to see if Mr. Stowe needs anything. I did not expect he only needs you. I am not needed here. I am going out…”

Rhys put the documents on the desk. Where Paige could not see, he put his hands together and begged Martin to deal with it quickly. These projects were time-sensitive, and a group of people was waiting downstairs! Martin raised his chin slightly and agreed. Rhys sighed in relief and quickly went down. Paige was pestered by Martin the whole morning. When it was noon, Martin was waiting for her downstairs. As soon as Paige got in the car, Martin forcibly pulled her over, and she sat on his lap.

“Martin, you are going overboard!” Paige looked at his handsome smiling face and wanted to get off him, but he tightly hugged her “If you move again, I will kiss you.” Paige looked at his face “Can you be more shameless?” “Yes.” Martin kissed her lips, and she was caught off guard. Her lips were soft, like jelly. He planned to tease her, but she did not expect that after a taste, Martin wanted to get more of her sweetness.

Her waist was slender, and through her clothes, Martin could touch her tender skin. “Martin!” Paige wanted to push him away, but

Martin held the back of her head with his other hand and greedily s*ck*d her breath. His kiss was passionate, catching Paige off guard. She couldn’t take it anymore and pushed him again with her hands. “Oh… It’s enough.” She meant to warn him, but it sounded like soft flirting. Martin, who was always calm, was on the verge of losing control. Paige could feel his growing passion and pushed him hard. “Martin, if you continue like this, I will be angry!” Martin stopped moving, his eyes filled with deep affection.

There was an unusual trace of charm in her eyes, and the desire Martin had suppressed with great difficulty was ignited once again. “Paige…”

He had only got a little taste of her, and it was far from enough. Before Paige refused, he kissed her again.

His warm lips were entangled with hers as he continued to deepen the kiss.

Paige’s body gradually softened, and she was unable to resist.

Rhys felt hurt.

Didn’t they care about Rhys’ feelings as a single man?

Was a single man not worthy of respect?

Heavens knew what Rhys was feeling as he dr*ve! It was pure suffering!

Rhys felt he was a third wheel

Rhys shouldn’t have been in the car!

After what felt like a day, the long kiss finally ended.

Martin’s eyes were still somewhat blurred, and his voice was filled with deep affection. “Paige, I like you.”

Paige’s shoulders were slightly moving, and she was a little breathless.

Martin’s eyes were filled with endless love, “I like you very much, so very much.”

“Are you in need of manpower?”

“Huh?” Paige did not understand what he meant. “I want to be your assistant “Personal bodyguard is fine, too.” Paige didn’t answer “I can even clean your office for you. I can be whatever you want me to be.” “Grow a pair!”

“Will I look like trash doing my girl’s bidding?”

Martin looked down and said meekly. “Then I am willing to be trash forever.”

Martin held Paige’s face and said lovingly, “I like you. I want you by my side all year round. I want to keep you near every second.”

Paige was moved. His eyes were sincere, and his expression was focused.

“I don’t like Patricia.”

Martin held her face and said word by word, “I only fall for you. It was you, are you, and will always be you.”

“I know.”

Paige did not expect him to be so good at sweet words. She looked away and gazed out of the window.

“You are blushing,” Martin smiled.

Paige remained silent.

“Paige, are you shy?”

Martin rubbed her face lovingly. “You are so cute.”

Before she met Martin, no one had ever said she was cute. She was often described as cold and insensitive.

Martin held her face and said, “You are so beautiful when you are shy or angry. You are even more so when you get jealous…”

“Who is jealous?”

“This morning.”

Martin held her face and said, “You were cold and distant.”

Paige did not feel jealous. Although she did not like Patricia’s despicable behavior, she was not jealous or angry.

“If you do not mind, next time other women come close to me

“There will be a next time?”

Paige raised her eyebrows, her tone carrying a hint of warning.

Martin teased her to see her reaction.

Martin smiled wantonly, his eyes full of love and joy. “I promise there will never be a next time.”

Rhys didn’t know what to say.

I’m begging you!
