

Chapter 289

Chapter 289 The End

"..." Victor's eyes darkened. Although Ivan had always been indifferent towards Susan, he felt what Susan had just said was true. With Victor's current condition, it would be a risk of his life even if he just wanted to get out of the bed. "Mr. Sullivan, I think what Miss Salazar said is right. You shouldn't..."

"I don't know when you have become so close to Susan," Victor interrupted Ivan. Apparently, he didn't want to accept their suggestion. Hearing this, Ivan pressed his lips. Hearing this, Susan felt as if a sharp knife had stabbed into her heart, which made her a little out of breath.

She clenched her fists more tightly. Why? What was so good about Rachel that Victor was even willing to risk his life for her? She didn't even care about him. Otherwise, why would she leave immediately after he was sent to the hospital and then in a coma?

Susan was so jealous. She really wanted to shout these words out. But she knew clearly that if she did, there would be no chance for Victor to ever fall in love with her. With red eyes, Susan suppressed the surging anger in her heart, gently bit her lips, looked at Victor and said. "..... I'll go."

Glancing at her, Victor squinted and said nothing. Susan took a deep breath and said, "I'll go to the Bennet family and ask her to come to the hospital."

"No need for that." Victor refused without any hesitation. When Ivan heard what Susan said, he was stunned. He didn't expect that she would be willing to pick up Rachel herself. He thought she must hate Rachel very much. "But you can't leave the hospital now!" Susan's tone became more serious.

She knew why Victor would refused so readily, she forced a smile and said, "Don't worry. I won't do anything to hurt her. If you are worried about it, you can ask someone to follow me."

Chapter 290 Why Is She Still Alive

Tears welled up in Susan's eyes and then streamed down her cheeks, but Victor was not moved at all.

"You don't have to worry that the public will gossip about you after you break up with me. I will ask Becky to think of a plan..." "I don't want to hear it!" With red eyes, Susan raised her voice, trying to cover Victor's voice. It seemed that only in this way could she stop him from talking. Victor's eyes darkened and his face was cold. Susan pressed her lips and looked into his cold eyes. Bitterness spread in her heart.

“It was because of Rachel, right? You want to break up with me because she’s back, right?”

“Susan, I told you three years ago that if she came back one day, you must return everything that belonged to her.” He said calmly, “She is my fiancée, she is the only Mrs. Sullivan.”

“I don’t want to...” “I’ll ask Ivan to draw up a contract and send it to you in three days. On the day of signing the contract; I will announce that I’ve cancelled the engagement.” Without giving her a chance to refuse, he went straight to the point. With red eyes, Susan stood there like a condemned prisoner tied on the cross. “What if I don’t want it?” with a bitter smile, Susan didn’t want to give up. “You can’t do this to me, Victor Sullivan!” “Susan, do you forget what you promised me three years ago?” Victor’s face was expressionless. But when he heard her refusal, his eyes were a little colder. What she had promised him three years ago? Susan was stunned.
