Chapter 318 Director, Please Let Me Have A Try

As time went by, the people in the central control room were anxious, and the beads of sweat on their foreheads dripped on the keyboard. *Director, the hacker has hacked the firewall of the internal network." Someone reported, "If we can't stop the hacker, maybe..."

The man didn't dare to finish his words, but everyone present knew the result if they couldn't stop the hacker Everyone's face became extremely serious,

Two years, it took them two years to finish the data. If it was stolen by the hacker, all their efforts would be in vain. Thinking of this, their faces turned pale. They wanted to try their best to stop the hacker's attack, but they didn't know how to do.

The director of the lab, Theo Natt, wore a heavy look. He had promised James repeatedly that he would solve it quickly, but now the people told him that they couldn't stop the hacker at all!

Not to mention that their efforts in the past two years would be in vain, Theo couldn't hide it from James. What would James do to him at that time? As the manager of the lab, Theo must be the first one to be blamed. "You are so incompetent! No matter what, you must stop the hacker today! Do you hear me?" Theo gritted his teeth and shouted.

"Director, we have tried our best." One of them said in a low voice. He didn't dare to speak too loudly, fearing that the phone in Theo's hand would be thrown at him the next moment. Theo clenched his mobile phone and made up his mind, then he said, "Cut off all the networking of the database right now!"

Gatlin walked into the central control room and heard the order of Theo clearly. He was stunned. Others also raised their heads to look at Theo in disbelief. Cut off the networking of the database... It could indeed prevent hacker from stealing data, cutting off the connection to the Internet meant that all the paths to the database were cut off, so that hacker could not invade the database to steal data.

But it also meant that everything would be cleared except for the original data. Cutting off the connection to internet meant that they not only cut off the access for hackers to invade, but also cut off the access for their lab to the database. What's more, the loss was irreversible,

"Director..." Some people wanted to say something to stop Theo, but they hesitated. At present, cutting off the networking was the best way. At least they could keep the original data,

With a cold face, Theo ordered, "Hurry up!" Gatlin tightened his lips, and the words that Joey had just whispered in his ear came to his mind again. He clenched his hands and summoned up courage, then he said, "Director, I have an idea."

However, at this moment, in the central control room, everyone was making the final preparations to cut off the Internet. Theo was also checking the codes' accuracy to make sure that they could successfully stop the hacker after cutting off the Internet, so no one was listening to Gatlin. "Director, it's done. Press Enter and the internet will be cut off." Another man said. Theo came over, looked at the codes, and looked down at the Enter key on the keyboard. With his fingertips hanging above, he hesitated for a moment and was about to press the key. Seeing this, Gatlin stepped forward. When the Enter key was about to be pressed, Gatlin held Theo's wrist and stopped him in time.

Theo turned around and frowned at Gatlin. "What are you doing? Gatlin! Let go of me!" "Director, you can't cut it off." With a pale face and sweat on his forehead, Gatlin held Theo's hand more tightly as he spoke, fearing that Theo would press the Enter key if he loosened his grip. "Nonsense! Gatlin, you are just an intern. You know nothing! Let go of me right now. If you cause a serious consequence, Mr. Salazar would punish you!" Theo struggled, but Gatlin held his wrist tightly, Theo was unable to break free. As time passed, the time when the hacker cracked the last firewall was coming, and Theo's face darkened greatly.

Gatlin still didn't let Theo go.

He wouldn't dare to say anything if Theo scolded him like that at in normal times. But he couldn't bear to see the hard work of people in the lab in the past two years be in vain. He gritted his teeth and said again, "Director, we can't cut off the Internet. Once it is cut off, all our efforts will be in vain."

"Gatlin!" "I have an idea." Gatlin took a deep breath and said seriously, "I have a way to stop the hacker. Director, let me have a try, okay?" Theo's face darkened, "Do you have any idea? What can you do? Let go of me, or I'll teach you a lesson! You can't take the consequence" "Director, I really have an idea. Please let me have a try." With a cold face, Theo didn't say anything. Seeing this, the people next to him thought that they had little time for rest in the past two years and the efforts they made, and his expression changed slightly, then the people said, "Director, how about letting Gatlin have a try? Maybe he really has a way -" * "Gatlin doesn't know his ability, don't you know his ability?" Theo said coldly.

The man shut up immediately Seeing that no one wanted to speak for him, Gatlin felt a little helpless, but he still didn't want to give up. He had always wanted to work in this laboratory. It was not easy for him to become an intern, but he, used to be students with great grades at school became a loser in the eyes of everyone in the laboratory. He was not reconciled to that at all. He didn't want to be a loser all the time.

He wanted to prove himself. Since no one helped him, Gatlin had to rely on himself. He made up his mind and pushed Theo hard. Then he bent down and typed on the keyboard, turning off the codes that had just used to cut off the Internet. Theo was pushed suddenly and knocked down a computer. "Gatlin, I will tell the thing to Mr. Salazar! I will definitely ask him to drive you out! I will let you pay the price!" Theo's face turned pale with pain. He held her waist and stood up. Seeing that Gatlin closed the code, he pointed at him with his trembling fingertips and said angrily. Gatlin pretended not to hear and quickly typed on the screen. "Stop! What are you waiting for?"

"Stop him!" Theo shouted angrily. Those who hadn't realized what had happened came to their senses and hurried to stop Gatlin. The staff who had spoken for Gatlin just now quickly walked over and stand behind Gatlin. Before the staff could stop Gatlin, he saw the codes on the screen flicking quickly. The next moment, the alarm stopped. "Hacker. The hacker seems to be stopped." Someone looked at the firewall and saw that the firewall program that had been attacked and giving an alarm had returned to normal. And the traces of the hacker's invasion disappear without a trace, so he said in surprise. "What?" Theo was stunned, "What did you say just now?" "Director, it seems that Gatlin really succeeded in stopping the hacker."

The man repeated. At this moment, looking at the codes running normally on the screen and the central control room which had quickly returned to normal, Gatlin breathed a sigh of relief. "Is this the firewall of basic code used by the computers outside our hall?" The staff standing behind Gatlin soon recognized the prototype of the codes and asked. "Yes, I have changed a few connection points of the basic code and updated the firewall system. The updated firewall system could quickly capture the attacking ways of the hacker, and then attack the hacker's system along his attacking way, finally attack his program when he is unprepared." Gatlin explained as he recalled what Joey had said just now. "How is that possible?" Theo widened his eyes, his face turned pale and he didn't believe that.

Chapter 319 You Said The Program Was Modified By You

"Yes, why didn't we think of that? Gatlin, I didn't expect that you are awesome. You just thought of that it means that you have a deep understanding of basic code," The people behind Gatlin didn't notice the change of Theo's expression. They looked at the codes on the computer and repeatedly praised Gatlin.

"In fact, it's not my work" Being praised, Gatlin felt a little embarrassed, He touched the tip of his nose and turned to look out of the door subconsciously.

Joey didn't stand outside the door, "Gatlin, don't be so modest! If it weren't for you, the hacker might have hacked our database and stolen our data," The man continued to praise Gatlin. The more the Theo listened, the worse he looked,

Theo stared closely at the codes running on the screen and felt embarrassed. Ten minutes ago, he said that Gatlin was useless. But now, Gatlin solved the problem. All these made him be disgraced Gatlin repeatedly shook his hand and explained, "In fact, it's not my work. I also -" "Beep! Beep! Beep" Before Gatlin could finish his words, the alarm rang again. "What's going on? Didn't you say it had been patched?"

Gatlin!" Hearing the alarm, Theo couldn't help blaming Gatlin. Turning his head to look at the computer, Gatlin saw that the codes suddenly stopped running on the screen. His face changed slightly and he quickly typed on the keyboard. But no matter what he pressed, the keyboard seemed to be bad and the computer did not respond "How could it be..." Gatlin didn't know why the codes suddenly became like this.

The person who had just praised Gatlin also changed his face and frowned. "Did they find a loophole to break through the firewall again?"| Theo's face darkened. He strode forward and pushed Gatlin away. "I've said that you can't do anything! But you still insist doing that, and you modified the firewall program without my permission! How do you explain it now?!" Gatlin staggered and finally stand firm. Looking at the messy codes on the screen of the computer, he obviously felt that everyone was looking at him. Some were scolding him, and some were confused. Gatlin was at a loss.

The shrill alarm sounded in Gatlin's ears. The words 'You are useless' said by Theo with a cold face before appeared in his mind again. "I... I... " Gatlin was flustered and couldn't think of anything. The program was fine just now. How could it suddenly become like this?

"Director, Mr. Salazar is here." Someone hurried in and reminded Theo. "What are you waiting for? Hurry up and find out what happened. Cut off the networking!" The director's face changed dramatically. He gave an order in a hurry. Then he looked at Gatlin with a long face, pointed at him and said, "Just stand here!

I will report what you have done to Mr. Salazar in detail!" "Didn't you say the problem was settled? what's going on?" As soon as Theo finished his words, James said that before Theo walked out of the central control room. Then James and the others came in. Theo hurried to greet James, "Mr. Salazar, why are you downstairs?" "Why I am downstairs? If I hadn't come down, I wouldn't have known that the matter is so serious that the database is going to be broken! So? Are you still going to hide it from me?"

James didn't look good either. He frowned and scolded them directly. Knowing that he was in the wrong, Theo lowered his head and said, "We... The hacker hacked our program all of a sudden and he was very powerful. We had no choice but to come up with such a bad idea." Behind James, Carson, with his hands in his pockets, looked at the scene indifferently as if it had nothing to do with him. He glanced around the central control room, but didn't find the figure he was looking for. He could not help but frown slightly. 'Didn't he say that he wanted to come to the lab to broaden his horizon? Why he doesn't come?'

While Carson was thinking, Theo wiped the sweat on his forehead and said, "And there is something I have to report to you, Mr. Salazar! We have planned to cut off the networking and protect the original data. In this way, at least we can have the original data and won't let the hacker succeed.

But Gatlin stopped me at the last moment. He said that he had a way, then he change the program code without my permission, which made the hacker attack our program again, and the second attack was more violent, which caused us to be unprepared..." Gatlin tightened his lips, clenched his fists and said nothing. "Gatlin?" James frowned. Apparently, he was not familiar with Gatlin. Theo replied at once, "He is an intern of our lab, and his father is Boris, a member of our board of directors."

There were not many people in the lab who knew who Gatlin's parents were, Theo got it by accident. After saying that, Theo raised his eyes to observe the expression on James's face. When Theo saw that James looked worse after he heard that the father of Gatlin was Boris, he was secretly relieved. James and Boris had always been at odds with each other over work decisions, and the board of directors was divided into two factions led by them respectively. Therefore, when James knew the identity of Gatlin's father, he would definitely be unhappy, and might even blame Gatlin for the stealing of the lab's data. After all, this meant that James had something on Boris. "Mr. Salazar, I'm sorry. It's my fault. It has nothing to do with my father. If you want to blame someone, just blame me." Gatlin tightened his lips and said. James said with a cold face, "It has nothing to do with your father? Do you really take the Salazar Group as your own Group? The lab is an important place. No one can work in it casually.

And what's worse, you caused such a serious result! What responsibility can you take? Why didn't your father ask you to work here without asking my opinion? The problem has something to do with your father!" Gatlin's face turned pale and his pupils trembled. Carson was not interested in the conflict between James and Gatlin's father. He was about to leave as he couldn't find Joey. After all, the contract had been sent and he had said what he should say. Out of the corner of his eye, Carson noticed the codes that had stopped running on the computer.

His eyes immediately narrowed and he felt that the codes looked a bit familiar. "Sorry to interrupt you." Carson said and looked at Gatlin. He pointed at the codes on the computer and asked, "Did you modify this program?" Hearing that, Gatlin was stunned for a while, then he nodded. Carson took two steps forward, looked at the codes, and then looked at Gatlin. He felt confused, but he didn't ask immediately, but quickly typed on the keyboard. All of a sudden, the alarm stopped again and the codes started to work normally. "Well..."

"There's something wrong with the code, so it stopped running and gave the hacker a chance to hack. I've modified it and it works normally now." Under the shocked eyes of the crowd, Carson stood up and explained, "Everything should be all right now." After taking a few steps forward and looking it carefully, Gatlin found that he had made a mistake when writing the program. "You said you modified this program?" Carson looked down at Gatlin, observed Gatlin's expression quietly and asked word by word, "Why didn't you find such a mistake? Generally speaking, you can modify the firewall of the basic code, so you should be quite familiar with the basic code system."

Chapter 320 Uncle Gatlin, Someone's Calling You

As soon as these words came out, everyone's eyes fell on Gatlin.

Caught off guard, Gatlin opened his mouth, "I... I...".

When Theo saw this, a dark light flashed across his eyes, as if he had caught something on Gatlin. Then Carson asked, "Gatlin, did you modify the procedure? Tell me the truth!"

Raising his head to look at Carson, Gatlin remembered what the boy had said to him ten minutes ago.

Since the boy specifically emphasized that he only did it to help him, not the lab. It meant that he didn't want others to know that it was him who helped Gatlin. So Gatlin certainly wouldn't say anything. "This procedure is... modified by me." He swallowed and looked away subconsciously from Carson, murmured

Theo didn't believe it and continued to press, "It's impossible! In fact, about what Carson just said, I don't understand as well. You can't even sort out the data well in normal times, how can you find the loopholes in the system at the first time, and also react so quickly to modify the basic code of the procedure? Either someone told you about how to modify the procedure, or..." "Or you colluded with hackers to steal the data of the laboratory!" Theo raised his voice.

Gatlin raised his head abruptly, widened his eyes and denied, "I didn't! How could I collude with a hacker?"

"Well, who knows?" Theo snorted and his expression contemptuous, "Your father is Boris. I don't know what to say, but it doesn't make sense for Boris to arrange you into the laboratory without telling James."

Gatlin pressed his lips tightly.

Hearing Theo's words, James couldn't help but have some doubt on Gatlin.

"I... I really didn't. How could I collude with a hacker? My father won't allow me to do so." Facing James's questioning eyes, Gatlin explained feebly. Theo folded his arms across his chest and said, "Then can you explain why you can modify the program code but you can't even find the basic mistakes?" "!!

"..." Gatlin was speechless.

Gatlin didn't say a word for a long time. The complacency and viciousness in Theo's eyes became more and more obvious.

Looking at Gatlin and the code on the screen thoughtfully, Carson was not interested in the feud between Theo and Gatlin, so he didn't intend to get involved in it. The reason why he asked was that the code patterns were too familiar.

It was exactly like the trace left by the hacker who stole three hundred million dollars from the account of someone lying on the bed at the moment.

"Uncle Gatlin, someone's calling you." Just as the atmosphere was deadlocked, a figure came in with a mobile phone in his hand.

It was Joey.

Hearing that, Gatlin was dumbfounded for a second. Then, Joey walked up to him and handed him the phone. "Here, answer the phone."

Seeing Joey, Carson raised his eyebrows and wondered where did he come out of nowhere?

Gatlin was about to reach for the phone. Eyes turning cold, Theo strode forward and grabbed the phone. He looked at the caller ID and asked, "Is it from abroad?" Then he looked at Gatlin suspiciously. "L." Gatlin didn't expect it to be an overseas call. He was dumbfounded for a moment and said, "Probably a crank call."

Crank call? At this exact moment? " Theo snorted, "Answer it. Turn on the speaker. I'd like to see if it's a crank call or not!"

It was the first time that Gatlin felt so humiliated. He stared at Theo and didn't take the phone for several moments. "What? You don't dare to answer it? Or is this phone call actually from a hacker?" Theo provoked him. Gatlin clenched his teeth and the veins on his temples bulged. "Little guy, where are you...", ignoring the aggressiveness of Theo, Carson fixed his eyes on Joey all the time. Seeing that Joey completely ignored him, Carson couldn't help but reach out and drag him over to ask.

However, before he could finish his words, Joey suddenly grabbed the phone from Theo's hand, decisively pressed the answer key and turned on the speaker. "Hello?" To everyone's surprise, Joey called out to the phone. "What? Why is it a kid on the other end?" A man's voice with a strong accent came through the phone. "Excuse me, is Gatlin there?" Hearing this, Joey handed the phone to the shocked Gatlin. The others were also shocked.

Hearing this, Theo deepened the sarcasm at the corners of his mouth. He was sure that his guess was right. This hacker attack must be done by Gatlin! As long as Gatlin could be convicted, James would not blame him. He would still be the head of the lab. "Hello, I'm Gatlin. What can I do for you?" "Hello, Mr. James! I'm Viki. Your tutor, Lawrence, asked me to ask if the crisis in your laboratory has been solved." Theo alertly captured the keywords and asked, "Lawrence?" On the other side of the phone, Viki heard Theo's voice of doubt and replied, "It seems that the problem has been solved.

That's great! By the way, Mr. James, haven't you introduced your tutor to others?" Gatlin was a little confused. What tutor? None of his tutor's names was Lawrence. "Well, Lawrence must be very sad. He is proud of having an excellent student like you!" Viki said with a little disappointment. "Lawrence, the name sounds familiar..." Someone couldn't help saying. Hearing this name, Carson also raised his eyebrows and said in a low voice, "If I remember correctly, this Lawrence Mr. Viki mentioned must be the master of the program in the computer system, Oak Lawrence, right?"

Captivation Want Nothing But You Chapter 321 by Adolf Dunne

/ Captivation: Want Nothing But You
Chapter 321 "Whatever. I'm Not A Picky Eater."

"Hiss."

As soon as Carson finished his words, the people in the central control room gasped.

Everyone looked at the codes on the screen of the computer tacitly and figured out something.

If the man was really Dhruv Loftus, then this modification of basic codes was really a small problem for him. Even if Gatlin was not familiar with that, his helper was Dhruv, the famous master programmer! Gatlin's eyes were wide open and full of surprise. 'Dhruv Loftus? How could it be? This was a person that could only be seen in textbooks. How could he become my master in the blink of an eye?' "Mr. Scott, are you kidding me? Dhruv lives far away. I've never heard that he has been to Apliaria in recent years. How could Gatlin know him?" The director, Theo said with a stiff smile. But before he could finish his words, the people on other side of the phone said again and interrupted Theo.

“Yes, it’s him.” Rhys snapped his fingers and said, “To be honest, I’m Dhruv’s assistant, Rhys Dury.”

When they heard the full name of Rhys, they were more sure that the master of Gatlin was the famous master programmer, Dhruv. Because Dhruv indeed had an assistant named Rhys Dury who was mainly responsible for dealing with all the external affairs of Dhruv. Therefore, as long as they listened carefully, they could recognize that Rhys had a strong foreign accent, which was very distinctive. Carson raised his eyebrows and looked at Gatlin who was totally confused. His eyes darkened. From Gatlin’s reaction, it seemed that he didn’t know that his master was Dhruv.

The result was beyond the director’s expectation.

The director was ashamed. “Mr. James, are you still listening?” Rhys didn’t hear any response from Gatlin and asked. “I... I’m here.” Gatlin suddenly felt that the phone in his hand was very heavy. When he came to his senses, there was still a little confusion in his eyes. Then he answered. “Now that the crisis in the lab has been solved, I can report it to Dhruv. Mr. James, goodbye.”

Gatlin’s reaction was a little slow. By the time he came to his senses, the phone had been hung up.

He looked at the screen of his mobile phone, which showed that the call had ended. He still felt that what happened just now was unreal. He kept asking himself if he had an illusion. That was Dhruv, the person many people wanted to see. But another voice in his mind told him that it was not his illusion. He looked at the phone screen again and found that it was not his phone. Stunned for a moment, Gatlin looked down at Joey who was standing beside him. He suddenly thought of something, which made him sober up at once.

It was not an illusion. It was true. But the phone was not his, but that kid’s.

In other words, Dhruv didn’t know him at all, but knew...

Realizing this, Gatlin was shocked. He looked at Joey in surprise and disbelief. Joey seemed to have noticed Gatlin’s gaze. He looked up at Gatlin and suddenly reached out his hand. “..... What? “Gatlin didn’t know what to do when he saw Joey suddenly stretch out his hand.

“Well, return it to its original owner.” Joey raised work card in his hand and glanced at the phone Gatlin held.

Return it to its original owner... Gatlin looked at his hand and immediately understood what Joey meant. Joey was telling him that his guess was right.

Gatlin handed the phone to Joey and took the work card. Standing in an angle where no one noticed him, he said silently, "Thank you."

SO

It was almost noon when Carson and Joey left the Salazar Group. The driver opened the door for the two of them. As soon as Joey standing at the roadside got into the car, he heard that Carson said to the driver, "Let's go back to Sue Garden first." Joey raised his head to take a look at Carson and happened to meet his eyes. As if knowing what Joey was thinking, Carson said, "I promised Lukas that I would send you back before noon."

"..... I didn't say anything. "Joey curled his lips and approached the door. Looking at Joey's long face, Carson smiled, crossed his legs and said nothing. The car started slowly and drove forward. Looking out of the window at the street scenes passing by, Joey had a plan in his mind. After hesitating for a while, he turned around and said, "Mr. Newbie." "Please call my real name." Carson looked at his phone and answered without looking up.

"..... Mr. Scott." "Say it." "I'm hungry. Can I go to eat something first?" Joey asked obediently. Seeing that Joey was suddenly obedient to him, Carson looked up at him. But before he could say anything, Joey said again, "Of course, if you think it's troublesome, you can send me back to Sue Garden and let me eat there. Anyway, I'm still young and stronger than you adults. It doesn't matter if I starve for a long time."

Carson was speechless. He stopped thinking that Joey had become obedient. Troublesome? It doesn't matter if he was hungry for a long time? If Carson really dared to do so, the next second, he would be sent to a poor place to work by Victor. 1 Carson smiled helplessly, "What do you want to eat?" "Whatever.

I'm not a picky eater." Joey's eyes lit up and he smiled cunningly. "Okay. What you want to do after the meal? I don't think you just want to have a meal outside, right?" Carson looked at the phone in Joey's hand and raised his eyebrows. He didn't notice that Joey had brought a phone with him.
