Chapter 191 A trapping Array

'What the?'

He gazed at Kyle back with a frown. Kyle's hand was freezing like ice.

Meanwhile, a large breath escaped from Kyle's mouth as he slowly opened his clenched fists. It was the first time he wanted to kill someone so badly.

Not even Sen the person he disliked the most infuriated him so much. After spending so much time together with Bia, she was an important part of his life. They bickered, cursed each other, heck they even hurled various attacks on each other but they relied on each other the most whenever there was a dangerous situation.

With a dazed expression, Kyle approached the cage. His fingertips touched the cold metal bars surrounding the unconscious Bia.

'Bia?'

She didn't reply. Kyle grabbed the cage roughly and used so much force that its door was broken. Unbeknownst to him his palm was bleeding due to the sheer amount of brute force he used to open the cage.

The drops of blood trickled down before they were absorbed by the table directly heading toward a container attached underneath the table where Bia's blood was stored.

With a worried gaze, he gently caresses Bia's wings but when his gaze landed on the metal chain present around her neck a surge of anger flooded his mind.

Kyle hurriedly looked around for the square-shaped device he acquired from the guard standing outside the underground prison cells.

With a swift movement, he placed the device on the chain. A clank sound resounded and the chain around Bia's neck dropped before Kyle picked up her limp body.

He fiddled with the storage ring present on his finger and took out all the low-grade healing potions, sprinkling all of them on the deep large gash present on Bia's back.

'Bia?'

Her round watery eyes opened slightly and she glanced at Kyle.

-'Hmm...'

'It's okay just sleep. I will wake you up when we are in a safe location.'

Kyle patted her head and looked at the person standing beside him.

"Ah.. she is fine."

At this moment, Oliver sighed and spoke with a serious expression while looking around the room for a map or something related to the place where they were trapped.

"Let's not waste any more time we have to leave this place."

Kyle nodded and finally gazed around the dimly lit room. Various equipment and rows of glass containers with many monster's body parts floating inside a strange liquid. His sharp gaze swept through everything before he saw a square-shaped platform hidden behind a U-shaped glass container.

With Bia in his hands, Kyle approached the platform and his eyes narrowed slightly as he studied the symbols carved on the platform.

The other students were busy looking around the room as they ruffled through each corner when Blane whispered with excitement.

"I found a communication Crystal!"

Alec stopped and gazed at Blane who was emptying a silver bucket normally used to store water. Not just him everyone gazed at Blane with expectations until Jenny slapped him from behind.

"It's broken. Idiot you are rummaging through a dustbin. Can't you see the used-up papers and other broken devices inside?"

Blane looked at her dumbfounded. What for? The slap was unexpected.

Oliver massaged his temples with sweaty hands and looked at the kids who were curiously pacing around the room like they were on a picnic.

"Alright stop fooling around. I don't think there's anything important in this place except for these strange containers. Let's leave."

"What are you doing? We need to leave."

With a frown, he approached Kyle and gazed at the platform.

"It's an Array.... maybe a trapping Array used to trap living beings."

Oliver whispered slowly, he was not proficient in Arrays but from the small knowledge he had he could tell the Array was used to trap something but was broken when the trapped individual used too much force.

Kyle gazed at Olive and nodded, it was indeed a trapping Array. He looked back at the students before gazing at the blue-haired girl standing beside Carcel.

"Mia? Can you please take care of Bia for a while?"

"Sure."

With a nod, Mia stretched out her hands and Kyle placed Bia's body on her hands.

"She will be fine after some rest."

Kyle's eyes traced around the Array as he rubbed his cold palm.

"Professor I think we can escape through this Array. It's not a Teleportation Array but I can do some fiddling and add some advanced symbols to form a one-way Teleportation Array. Though we can't teleport far and the Array will be completely broken after one usage we can leave this place."

A shocked expression appeared on Oliver's face as he looked at Kyle with a deep frown.

"I know you know Arrays seeing how easily you passed through the Array present outside the underground prison but still, how is it possible for you to make a Teleportation Array? It's too difficult even a single mishap can cause death casualties and it will take too much time just to design the complicated Symbols."

Kyle looked at the Professor with a serious expression, not backing down even the slightest. He just wanted to leave this place as soon as possible because something inside him was forcing him to close his eyes and just fall asleep. If not for Bia he would have succumbed to that feeling a long time ago.

"I can do it. I have learned it from Elder Han. If I am successful we can leave this place."

His voice came out a little hoarse as he gazed at the Professor who flinched when he heard Elder Han's name.

Alec gazed at the room door and hurriedly approached Kyle.

"Alright, instead of running around aimlessly your idea is a lot better but how much time will it take? You do know we are in a dangerous place right now."

Kyle looked back at Alec with a nod.

"I know it's dangerous but I only need ten minutes if anyone has another idea I am willing to follow."

For a moment, there was silence. After contemplating for a few seconds, Oliver nodded in agreement because he didn't have any other plan as to how they should leave this place. Also, the more time they wasted the dangerous it was.

Chapter 192 How much more time?

The dimly lit room door was closed as Oliver and the students stood in front of it with serious expressions. They were holding weapons, ready to kill any enemy who dared to enter inside.

Alec looked at the lance present in his hand with a dissatisfied expression.

'I miss my sword. I wonder where these jerks placed our storage rings?'

Not just him, almost everyone was sad at the loss of their precious storage rings that's why they looked around every corner of this room but didn't find even a single clue.

With a sigh, Alec shook his head. He gazed at the system expecting some help only to become disappointed.

'After we leave I will ask the Vice Principal to help me find my sword. I can't let it go it's too precious.'

In a corner behind the U-shaped container, Mia and Reo one of the grey-haired twins were standing while observing Kyle who was making symbols on the platform.

Bia's eyes were half opened as she gazed at Kyle while sitting on Mia's hands. She was lightheaded due to the injuries but now she was able to see the situation more clearly while occasionally moving her feathers.

Kyle's figure moved on the platform as he used a broken glass shard to carve the symbols on the ground because he didn't have any other thing available.

'Ugh, it's so time-consuming. I need to advance my Array skills so I can draw Array symbols just by using mana. It's too uncomfortable to carve the ground with this piece of glass.'

He grumbled inwardly as he saw the many symbols. Time trickled by as he moved around the platform, his vision turned hazy for a second but Kyle bit his tongue to stay conscious.

Alec looked at the door and gazed back at Kyle.

"Kyle, how much more time?"

He said with a hesitant voice because he could hear faint footsteps outside the door. Professor Oliver tensed up as well and gestured for the kids to stand behind him.

Kyle didn't pause in his actions as he dragged the glass shard on the platform.

"Just four more minutes."

Meanwhile, a few meters away from the room Kyle and the others were currently present.

Larry stomped his foot with anger as he glared at the ten men standing behind him. His mask was nowhere to be seen and his condition was disheveled because he had just been beaten up by one of his superiors.

"Damn it! Just where the fuck did they disappear?"

"There are only 5 floors in this building? Where can they go if not around these floors?"

He cursed and kicked a nearby man with anger. As he was taking out his anger another man dressed in formal clothes appeared behind the group of people.

"Larry stop lashing out. Ziner checked the exit passages and didn't find them. He and the other (A)-Ranks are currently outside looking around the forest madly. We need to check each floor thoroughly."

Larry glanced at the cyan-colored-haired man who just appeared out of nowhere.

"Aoky, you said the dead body disappeared from your room? Don't tell it's that dead body who did all this!"

"If only you stopped playing with those creepy bodies and kept an eye on your surroundings nothing like this would have happened!"

Aoky snorted and looked at him with a snicker.

"Shut up. It's not my fault. You and Bastian were the ones in charge of those kids from the Royal Academy. I just want to applaud for the fact that you were tricked by a single kid."

"We are both dead if we didn't find those kids. Ziner is angry enough to explode any time."

He massaged his temples and licked his dry lips.

"I am going to pack my stuff and run away if we can't find the kids on the last two floors. Who knows what would happen if those kids somehow found a secure place outside and contacted the Academy."

Larry paled when he heard the consequences of their actions. It was good as long as they didn't get caught but now the only thing they could do was to flee for their life. He kicked a nearby wall with anger.

A tremble shook the wall and the row of wooden boxes stacked a few meters away came crashing down with loud sounds.

Larry clicked his tongue when he saw the boxes but his eyes narrowed into a slit when he saw the two dark unconscious figures lying behind the boxes.

"The fuck."

He dashed and threw away the boxes and looked at the figures. A vein bulged on his forehead. After he got beaten up by the superior he called almost every guard but a lot of low-rank guards did not answer his calls. So this was a reason, they were all dead.

Larry's bloodshot eyes gazed at the dead bodies as he looked around the narrow floor filled with rooms.

"They are still here! Check every room on this floor! Hurry up!"

The guards standing behind him dashed forward and started opening door after door.

"What a waste of materials."

Larry glared at him.

"Shut up! We are fucking standing at death door and you want to play with dead bodies?"

Aoky shook his head with disdain.

"Did you lose your brain after getting kicked? If they are really inside the building there's no way they can run away."

Larry calmed down and nodded while carefully folding his sleeves. There was no way the captives could run away from this floor because except for some experiment tools nothing precious was available here.

He walked around the floor when a muffled cry echoed in his ears. With wide eyes, he gazed at the largest door present in the middle.

Two of the guards rushed to the room with their weapons but they were attacked with a dangerous wind attack.

"They are hiding inside the boss room?"

Larry looked at the person standing beside and both of them rushed toward the room.

Chapter 193 To much knowledge is bad

Oliver tensed when he saw the door of the room open. With a creak, a man clad in black gazed inside with a cautious expression, his eyes widened with visible shock and disbelief when he saw the group of people standing in the room.

The man wanted to shout out to alarm the others but Oliver jumped forward and grabbed the man's mouth with his palm to shut him up.

A barely audible muffled sound escaped from the man's throat as he eyed Oliver with horror before his throat was slit with a sharp glass shard.

Oliver clenched his jaw, he wanted to take out the enemy as quietly as possible but alas when he was busy killing he didn't notice the other man in black standing outside the door.

"They are here!"

A loud shout echoed throughout the whole floor. Within a second, the other men clad in black stopped what they were doing and dashed toward the room.

Oliver heard the approaching footsteps and cursed under his breath. He opened his palm wide and hurled out a wind attack at the fleeting man.

With a bang, the man in black crashed into the wall opposite the room but it was too late, their location was exposed as many individuals reached the room in no time.

The students standing behind Oliver went stiff, some tensed when they saw an ominous-looking man with striking cyan hair step in the room. The man's very presence sent shivers down their spines, his aura dripping with the scent of fresh blood.

After a second, another person with fiery red hair who looked familiar yet unfamiliar stepped into the room followed by many men in black. His hair was disheveled and his eyes were bloodshot.

Unlike the cyan-haired man who stood quietly, the red-haired man gritted his teeth with anger while throwing a dangerous glare at Oliver and the kids standing opposite him.

"Capture them!"

Larry shouted and the group of men standing behind him stepped forward only to become scared shitless when Oliver released his aura and looked at them with emotionless eyes.

"Damn it! I forget there's a Professor among them."

With another curse, a chain appeared in Larry's hand as he leaped forward to knock the Professor.

"I will take care of him grab the kids!"

Oliver's face hardened when he sensed Larry's rank. He looked at the kids who were ready to fight a life-and-death battle and engaged himself with Larry.

Larry's expression didn't change even when he sensed that Oliver was (S)-Rank. He scoffed and to Oliver's dismay, he was able to parry his attacks very easily. The situation stunned the students because they could see Oliver was being pressured.

The clink of chains filled the air as Larry swung them with deadly precision. They clashed and with gritted teeth, Oliver pushed Larry backward toward a container to not influence the kids.

On the other hand, Alec's gaze turned solemn. He silently counted the approaching group of men inwardly.

'1..2...8.'

The eight men didn't even flinch when the kids glared at them with dark eyes. They immediately pulled out chains to capture them like slaves.

Alec gazed at the system window and saw the appraisal result. A cold breath escaped his mouth. Two of the men were (C)-Rank, one (B)-Rank, and the remaining five (D)-Rank.

"Carcel attack the one on the left! I will take care of the one in the middle!"

He shouted and lashed out with incredible agility. The men in black were stunned at the kid's audacity but they recovered within a second. Carcel and the students followed behind Alec and attacked their respective enemies.

Alec grazed the lance he was holding on the floor, sparks flew out as he blocked the strongest man in black. Even before he decided to battle the man he knew he was too weak compared to his opponent but he didn't expect he would stumble many steps backward in their first clash.

Blood seeped out from the corner of his mouth as he backflipped and planted his feet on the floor.

Carcel gazed at Alec but he couldn't help because he was overpowered by a (C)-Rank individual Alec asked him to fight.

Blane and Jenny handled the last (C)-Rank together while the other students got engaged with the remaining (D)-Rank men.

All this while, Aoky the cyan hair man stood at the door with amused eyes. He didn't release his aura nor did he attack anyone. His dark eyes followed the drops of blood trickling down from each individual.

He rubbed his hands with anticipation. He wanted to see many dead bodies.

'Tsk, Larry can handle these kids easily but I should inform the others so they come back.'

He silently pushed out a small device from his pocket and pressed on it before looking at the battle again.

Alec's eyes darkened when he saw Aoky figure. He gritted his teeth and blocked another attack from his opponent only to be flung backward with an even greater force.

He wiped the blood from his mouth and stood up again even though his body was in pain, his eyes traced the figure standing between the door because if that cyan-hair man attacked they were all done for.

'If he got involved we have zero percent chance of winning this fight. Damn it! Kyle just how much more time do you need? Now I am not sure if we will be able to leave this place?'

Alec didn't know whether to laugh or cry at the fact that he knew the enemy ranks because too much knowledge was always bad for his heart.

System Analysis;

'Name: Aoky Dinazir'

'Race: demi-human'

'Rank: (A)'

'Talent: (S+)'

'Skills:.....'

He turned around for a second and saw Mia's figure standing further at the back. She was throwing magical attacks here and there while grasping Bia tightly.

Alec's eyes wandered around for a second. Carcel was injured. The other students were having a very hard time as well.

Lastly from the faint reflections, he could tell Oliver's situation wasn't looking good as well. The Professor was ruthlessly pushed back as he countered Larry each attack.

Chapter 194 The last five minutes

Kyle could hear the sounds of battle behind him as he drew another symbol hurriedly on the platform. He clenched his jaw tightly and with another stroke, he was done with the Array.

He gazed at the place where Mia was standing a while ago and hurriedly took out all the mana stones present in the storage ring present on his finger.

"Not enough..."

Kyle cursed and his mind raced as he gazed back. Oliver's bloodied figure was flung backward as he blocked the red-haired man's attack.

'It's that man...'

He shook his head and looked back at the Array. Within a second, he made a decision.

'I need mana, I am not sure if it will work.'

He bent down and placed both of his palms on the platform. He did read about this method in one of the Ancient books he acquired from the Tower but he only comprehended a few lines so he wasn't sure if it would work.

With a deep breath, he threw away the anxiousness eating away at his heart and solely focused on the mana present in his body, circulating it gently around his wrists before injecting the mana within the Array symbols.

It was a very strange feeling because instead of the natural mana present in the surroundings, he was using his mana as a catalyst to fuel the Array.

His hand trembled slightly as the mana within his body drained at a visibly fast speed.

Within two seconds half of his mana was gone. Kyle's eyes shone slightly as he saw the symbols reacting under his guidance.

"It's worked."

"It will activate automatically within five minutes."

Kyle's eyes landed on the battle behind him. He stepped out from behind the glass container and sharply gazed around.

The strange mana movement behind the container attracted Aoky attention as he squinted his eyes to look at the container but he was distracted due to Kyle's presence.

'I didn't sense this kid? Where did he come from so suddenly?'

So many questions appeared in his mind as his curious eyes followed Kyle who looked around with a deadpan expression.

What happened next made his scalp go numb and he almost stepped forward to grab Kyle's neck.

Kyle gazed at every single individual and grabbed a large glass shard in his hand tightly.

"I am done. We have only five minutes."

He shouted and immediately afterward all students knew what he meant. Alec almost cursed how were they going to free themselves in five minutes?

The moment this thought flashed through Alec's mind, Kyle's figure flashed as he used 'Instant Teleportation' to appear behind Alec's opponent.

It was too sudden the man clad in black wasn't able to react properly even Alec was stunned.

Kyle slashed at the man's neck from behind. The man's hair stood up as he tilted his body out of reflex and avoided the sharp shard from penetrating his neck. Instead, the glass shard pierced through his shoulder and he cried out in pain.

"Attack."

The (B)-Rank individual was overwhelmed, he wanted to block Alec's attack but Kyle threw a fireball at his face and Alec's Lance penetrated his abdomen.

With a loud shriek, the man dropped down. Alec could sense the man only fainted because he was breathing. He wanted to attack again when a painful cry echoed and both Kyle and Alec looked at Blane.

"Help Carcel."

Kyle's eyes landed on Carcel's figure, instead of moving a large ice spear appeared above his head. Even though he seemed distracted he was focused on the cyan-hair man standing between the door. The man didn't move even when Kyle and Alec took out one of their strongest members but the faint anger on his face wasn't something he could hide.

Kyle could feel the man's eyes looking at him from head to toe with intense curiosity but he didn't gaze back and threw the ice spear at the opponent Carcel was facing.

With a flash the floating ice spear crashed into the unsuspecting enemy and many ice fragments scattered around, heading straight toward the other men in black.

The atmosphere around the room became chilly and Kyle's gaze flickered for a second. He shook his head.

'I need to stay conscious.'

Meanwhile, after Alec saw Kyle's skill. He opened his palm and shouted.

"Cyclonic Gale."

Hundreds of wind blades swirled within the tornado and it almost crushed the opponent fighting Blane. Large gusts of winds flew around the room and the ice present on the ground scattered as the tornado finally dissipated after gravely wounding the (C)-Rank man.

Aoky merely chuckled but the vein bulging on his forehead gave him away. He wanted to applaud because true to its name the Royal Academy students were very strong. He clicked his tongue and finally stepped forward to stop everything when Kyle turned around and pointed the glass shard at him.

"You want to attack me? Okay come on I will give you a chance."

His voice was filled with disdain and anger as he pointed his finger at Kyle who looked at him with a dark expression.

Alec gazed at Aoky with gritted teeth.

"Kyle, he is strong! Don't battle with him!"

He shouted but Kyle's eyes were fixed on the cyan-hair man as he replied with a serious expression.

"We don't have time. So finish them up and step on the platform!"

Aoky was confused but Alec and the others knew what he meant. They became aggressive in their attacks and slowly started moving backward toward the platform.

"Your opponent is me. Didn't you say you will give me a chance or are you going to back off now?"

Aoky scoffed.

"Alright come on!"

However, what happened next almost made his blood boil in anger.

Chapter 195 Unexpected move

Kyle's gaze was fixed on the cyan-hair man but his mind was somewhere else.

He counted the duration when the Array would activate in his mind and to everyone's surprise the glass shard present in his hand dropped with a clink.

Within a second, Kyle felt the remaining mana left in his body and Oliver's location.

'Hmm, the mana is not enough but if I endure the pain then I can do it.'

A cold chuckle escaped from the cyan-hair man as he looked at Kyle with a fed-up expression.

Aoky gaze lingered on the kids who had killed a few more men clad in black. Now only two men were left but from the look of it, the remaining men would be soon out of the picture leaving behind only him and Larry.

He fixed his eyes on Kyle ready to release his aura to subdue him if the latter didn't move in the next few seconds.

"What got cold feet? Why are you not attacking me now?"

Kyle's gaze subtly moved as he looked at a bloodied sword present on the ground, belonging to one of the enemies.

His fingers curled up into a fist as he took a deep breath and looked at the cyan-hair man who laughed at his minor actions.

Aoky raised his brow with disdain when Kyle's figure moved only to grab the sword with one swift movement and dash at him at full speed.

With a snort, he opened his fingers wisp of mana lingered on his nails as he prepared to stab them in Kyle's neck to satisfy his anger.

Under his gaze, Kyle's lips curved upward and his eyes almost popped out because the moment Kyle arrived in front of him he disappeared.

Aoky blinked. He had seen this move before but he was stunned for a second. How can a person just disappear into thin air?

Meanwhile, Kyle's figure appeared behind Larry. He didn't want to use too much mana that's why he waited until Oliver and Larry neared his position and activated the skill 'Instant Teleportation'.

His grip on his sword tightened and Oliver's eyes widened when he saw Kyle appearing out of nowhere.

Oliver's condition wasn't good he was bleeding from his mouth and a large wound could be seen on his arm. Seeing Oliver's distracted eyes Larry frowned and wanted to distance himself for a second when the cyan-hair man's shout resounded in the room.

"Watch out!"

Larry's eyes contracted when he sensed the mana movement behind himself. It was too chaotic! Chaotic enough to make his scalp go numb.

Oliver saw Kyle attack he was shocked but he gritted his teeth and clawed Larry's neck to stop him from moving from his location.

Aoky's eyes turned bloodshot as he disappeared from his place to snap Kyle's neck! How presumptuous! He was tricked by a small fry he could kill with a single slap!

Kyle's eyes turned cold he didn't stop his movement because he knew after this move his mana would be drained.

'Ethereal Voidbreaker slash.'

He mused and the mana around the room trembled. It danced around the metal sword in a tangled manner. The sword cracked due to the share amount of pressure but Kyle's grasp on it was tight.

He imbued every bit of mana present in his body to the sword without caring about the cracks and before the cyan-hair man could grab him, he unleashed a devastating strike but this time the sword aura was filled with coldness and tiny beads of ice appeared on its blade.

With a swift and precise swing, the blade sliced through the air, Larry panicked he could sense the attack was devastating enough to cripple him but Oliver forced him to stay in his place.

Amidst the coldness, a rift of light and energy that obliterated anything in its path appeared in front of Kyle.

With a resounding boom, the sword shattered. Larry spurted out a mouthful of blood as his figure was flung in the opposite direction while Kyle flew backward due to the pressure of his attack. Under Aoky's horrid gaze, everything stopped for a second as he tried to digest the situation.

A mere kid who was barely twenty used a move dangerous enough to threaten a (A)-Rank individual? It took him a second to believe this fact. If a few minutes ago someone said this to him he would just scoff and consider that person an idiot!

Kyle didn't care about the blood seeping out from his mouth. He gritted his teeth and propelled himself midair to fly toward the platform.

The students were stunned as they all watched Kyle's figure crashing into the container with a loud bang.

The glass shattered and the mirky liquid present within the container gushed out splashing everywhere.

A groan escaped from Kyle's lips as he clenched his fists to stop himself from crumbling down because of the pain.

-'Kyle!'

She flapped her weak wings frantically to leave Mia's embrace but Kyle's firm voice replied.

'Stay with Mia!'

Bia's protest echoed in his mind but Kyle stayed quiet.

Alec cursed when he saw Kyle's bloodied figure and with a dark expression, he took care of the last man clad in black.

Kyle shook his head when his eyelids suddenly turned heavy and a barely audible voice escaped through his mouth.

"T..he... Platform..."

The students knew what he meant they all rushed backward while Alec and Carcel rushed toward Kyle to help him up.

Aoky gazed at Kyle's figure with red veins bulging out on his forehead. His nails dugged into his flesh as he dashed forward to kill Kyle. He no longer cared about anything else he just wanted to kill Kyle with his hands.

On the side, Larry's condition wasn't good. His clothes were tattered and he lay on the ground with dim breathing. A large pool of blood gushed out from the large gash present on his back. His eyes were hazy and mind blank for a while. It took him a few seconds to snap out of the daze as he moved his trembling body to take out a healing potion from his storage ring.

Kyle gazed at Alec and Carcel's approaching figures with hazy eyes. Right now, he just wanted to sleep. His body was screaming asking him to just close his eyes but he didn't. With the remaining amount of strength left in his body, he straightened his palms on the ground to stand up but what happened next left not just him but almost everyone dumbfounded.

Chapter 196 Ziner Anger

Alec and Carcel froze in their place as they saw a bright light engulfing Kyle's figure.

Kyle eyed the warm light surrounding his body with confusion but then his eyes widened in the next second when he saw the broken broach lying on top of his left thigh.

All the pieces of the broach shone brightly turning into small particles and soon they engulfed Kyle's whole body.

Kyle cursed he didn't know whether to laugh or cry in this situation! He felt his body lighten up and a familiar nauseating sensation crept up in his stomach.

'Master, I want to question if this broach is a life-saving treasure or did you plot my death secretly!'

Kyle eyed the warm light and stopped the urge to curse the old man.

"Step on the platform now!"

He shouted as he knew barely ten seconds were left and the Array would activate itself. Alec and Carcel wanted to step forward to grab his body but Kyle disappeared from the room with bright light blinding everyone.

Everything happened so fast that even Aoky and Oliver were dumbfounded but they didn't stop fighting.

Bia cried out again this time with more vigor but Mia grabbed her firmly. After a second, Kyle's voice resounded in her mind barely calming her down.

'Stay with Mia until I pick you up!'

After this single line, she didn't hear Kyle's voice again. Her round eyes turned moist with tears when she felt the connection between them becoming dim with each passing second.

At the same time, Alec and Carcel dashed to the platform with gritted teeth. They could only wish for Kyle to be safe in their mind.

The students were standing on the platform when the mana around them surged upward violently.

Aoky eyes almost bulged out from the sockets when he sensed the mana movement. His gaze swept past the broken containers as he kicked Oliver with his leg, sending him a few steps backward.

"How?"

He questioned when he saw the edge of the platform where the kids were standing firmly. How was it possible for a Teleportation Array to appear in this place?

Aoky wanted to pull his hair with anger. Just what the heck was happening? He couldn't even secure some kids?

"Professor jumped backward!"

Oliver saw another attack coming his way. Opposite him, the cyan-hair man attacked crazily without even caring about his safety.

At the same time, Larry dragged his body and tried his best to stand up but from his pale face, Oliver was sure it would at least take the latter half a minute to handle the grave injury.

Oliver didn't bother blocking the cyan-hair man's attack and jumped backward toward the platform. The blazing attack landed on his chest and a pained expression appeared on his face.

His left hand twitched as his body flew back with an unimaginable speed.

Alec saw Oliver's figure and shouted again.

"Now!"

Immediately afterward all the individuals standing on the platform drained every bit of mana present in their bodies hurling out all the skills present in their arsenal without restraint.

Aoky saw the many attacks aimed at him, he shouted with so much frustration and anger that the ground beneath him cracked.

"Ahhhhhhhh..."

Oliver spit out a mouthful of blood and his body crashed at the edge of the platform. A hand tugged on his shoulder and dragged him inside the platform.

Another blinding flash of light appeared in the room but this time the light was brighter. The ground beneath their feet cracked within a second.

Aoky dashed to stop them but alas it was too late. The light engulfed everyone present on the platform and they all disappeared within the void, leaving behind a trail of their warmth.

The cyan-hair man gazed at the lingering white particles but his soul almost flew out from his body when the remaining mana around the platform trembled so violently that the nearby walls started shaking.

A few faint symbols flew in the air, they swelled up with a frightening speed. Aoky eyes contracted he didn't care about anything else and ran in the opposite direction with his tail tucked between his legs.

"Damn it! Those bastards!"

His protest died down in the next second when a huge force crashed into his body, sending him flying. The ground under the Array blasted into many pieces. Dust and debris flew everywhere as one of the room walls crashed down, shaking the whole building.

At the same time, with trembling hands, Larry finally managed to stand up straight but seeing the incoming doom he almost spit out blood and fainted again.

He didn't even know when a large boulder crashed on top of his head and he lost consciousness while his body was barely grasping a thin thread to stay alive.

While all this was happening, Ziner and the group of men looking around for the escaped individuals returned after receiving a signal from Aoky.

Ziner's floating figure landed in front of the building with a nonchalant expression. The other men quietly followed behind him.

He didn't even step inside when he felt a huge tremor shaking the very foundation of his secret base.

Ziner's eyes flew open with shock as he disappeared from his spot heading directly toward the source of destruction. The group of men following behind him looked at each other with confusion but followed behind him.

After a few seconds, Ziner appeared in front of his room. His vibrant eyes lost their luster when he saw the condition of his room.

Dust and smoke flew everywhere. Broken glass containers, the ground was caved in, and one of the walls sustaining the roof was nowhere to be seen. The only table was split into many pieces.

Lastly, his eyes landed on the cage that was buried under a large rock. He staggered toward the cage and pushed the rock away. It was empty. The beast was gone!

The group of men following behind him stood outside the room with grim expressions when a small groan resounded in the room.

Ziner turned around to look at the place where the voice came from and then he snapped.

"You bastard! What the hell did you do with my room? Where is the legendary beast? You were not even able to take care of some kids!"

He lashed out at Aoky who was coughing out blood. Aoky's eyes contracted into a slit when he saw Ziner approaching fist.

Aoky coughed another mouthful of blood as Ziner's fist collided with his chest. He would have probably perished if not for the other men stopping Ziner on time.

It took Ziner ten whopping minutes just to accept the reality with gritted teeth. All the students escaped unscathed! They even took the beast with them!

His eyes darted around the room and landed on the broken pieces of the table. A vein bulged out in his forehead as he waved his hand and all the pieces started hovering.

Among the pieces, Ziner eyed the small broken square-shaped container that was used to store the excess blood spilled on the table.

He grabbed the container it was broken and only a few dribbles of blood were left inside.

Ziner cursed under his breath and put it inside his storage ring. With a loud exhale, he turned around to look at everyone when he sensed a weak breath under the debris.

With a frown, Ziner waved his hand and the large rocks around the room started floating. His eyes narrowed at the barely alive red-haired man lying under a boulder.

"Larry..?"

He didn't care if the people working for him died but Larry was not weak that's why he gestured for one of the men to give Larry a high-grade healing potion.

Aoky eyed Larry's bloodied figure with gritted teeth. He was leaning against a wall and weakly gulped down a healing potion he took out from his storage ring. Anger flashed through his eyes when he recalled what happened a while ago.

'I swear I am going to dissect those kids with my own hands! Just once let me get my hands on them!'

"There's no way I can track the coordinates of this Array. Not just me even a person well versed in Arrays won't be able to track the coordinates. The one who designed this Array made sure nothing was left, it was designed to self-destruct after the first usage."

Ziner clenched his fist. No one informed him that one of the kidnapped students had knowledge regarding Arrays and from the look of it the student wasn't a beginner in this field.

He took a deep breath and waved his hand to gather everyone's attention.

"Now that the kidnapped individuals ran away we can't stay in this place any longer. Sooner or later the people from the Royal Academy will come for our heads. I am leaving for another Kingdom. Just pack every important stuff and things that can expose your identity and leave this place."

"Go far away and stay low for a while. I will find a new base and after a few months when the Royal Academy stopped their search and everything calmed down I will contact you all."

Ziner gazed at the group of men standing opposite him with a solemn expression. Today he lost a lot of manpower. After a few more instructions he looked around his room but because everything was broken and destroyed he gritted his teeth with anger. He shot a deadly glare at Aoky and disappeared from the room without saying anything further.

After he left the other men gave a sidelong glance to the injured cyan-hair man and disappeared as well while dragging the unconscious Larry.

Aoky cursed under his breath because he was the only one left. Now he had to clean the whole building. After resting for a few minutes some of his injuries healed because of the many healing potions he gulped down. He staggered inside the whole building to look for everything of value.

When he cleaned the storage room his eyes darted to some storage rings lying in a corner. He didn't think much and tossed all the rings in a cloth bag. However, this was a grave mistake he would regret soon.

After he was done, he left the building heading to an unknown place where no one would disturb him for a while.

Meanwhile, inside a village present at the edge of Kingdom Tersia. The village nestled deep within a forest, where some old elves couple lived harmoniously.

The area was adorned with shimmering treehouses, lush waterfalls, and large green trees, creating a beautiful and serene environment.

Two white-haired elves talked about their daily life as they walked around the street present between the various treehouses.

"What a beautiful day."

The moment this sentence left his mouth, a lot of individuals dropped from the sky, directly landing in front of the two dumfounded elves.

"Agh.. so heavy get down!"

Blane groaned in pain as he pushed the huge weight that landed on his back.

A few more students cried out in pain when their heads banged with a hard surface.

The elves duo finally snapped out of their daze when they smelled blood. A few more old elves stepped out from the treehouses and gathered around the uninvited guests who appeared out of nowhere.

"Who are you humans? How did you appear in this place?"

One of the elves wearing white robes questioned with a solemn expression as he could see that the uninvited guests didn't belong to the elf race. He gestured for the other elves to stay calm.

Alec rubbed his head with a painful expression. He cursed in his mind because Kyle didn't tell them they would crash land after they used the Array.

'Professor Oliver is unconscious what should I do now?'

Alec sighed and looked at the individuals standing around him. He blinked his eyes, it took him a while to register that the old individuals standing around him were all elves.

He patted his clothes and stood up. Carcel arrived beside him and the remaining students stood behind the duo. Mia hid Bia's presence as much as possible and stood between all the students.

Alec cleared his throat and looked at the elf who questioned them previously.

"Umm... hello Sir. I am Alec and these are my friends. We just accidentally stepped in a damaged Array and arrived at this place. Could you please be kind enough to help us a little so we can return home?"

The elves narrowed their eyes at Alec with suspicion. How can so many people step in a damaged Array all at once and on top of that you are saying you all stepped in the Array accidentally? How ridiculous!

However, the white-robed elf nodded his head. He could sense the kid's rank they were no threat to them. Instead of a threat, the kids looked like they were running for life.

Chapter 198 Why is he so far from the Kingdom

The white-robed elf helped Oliver and gave him a healing potion. They were vigilant of the sudden arrivals but after Oliver regained consciousness he instantly apologized and politely sought help.

He didn't ask for much and just borrowed a communication device for a while to contact the Academy. Oliver was glad they landed in a place filled with life instead of a dangerous forest or worse a desert. In their current condition, there was no way the kids would survive without proper rest.

The girls were relieved when they took a warm bath and changed into better clothes provided by the kind grandma. Well, the clothes were basically large white robes but the robes were a hundred times better than their blood-filled clothes.

The boys went to a separate place to bathe and change their clothes. After they were clean the old grandma gave them warm food.

She was very kind but when she dragged Blane and asked him to be her adopted son everyone was dumbfounded. Her reason, she missed her grandson who hadn't visited her for a while.

In the end, the old grandma's husband intervened and stopped her in time, or else Blane would have gotten another mother.

All this while, Bia stayed quiet as Mia enveloped her in cloth secretly to hide her from the prying eyes but the thing she didn't know was that Bia's presence was discovered when she was trying her best to hide her.

The old elves didn't think much about the small bird Mia was hiding desperately because they were unaware of many things happening outside the village. So how would they know anything that was happening in another Kingdom?

After two hours of struggle, Oliver finally managed to contact the Academy and returned with a smile. He glanced at the kids who were now looking fresh and well fed with a relieved sigh.

They stayed in the village until midnight when a loud sound resounded outside the village.

Oliver cried out with joy when he saw the floating individuals. He dashed forward with a wide smile.

"Sir!"

Ratric, George, and Elder Elaze the three of them gazed at Oliver's figure, and in an instant Ratric disappeared from his place and grabbed Oliver's shoulder.

"How about the kids?"

Oliver was stunned for a second but he hurriedly told the Principal everything. Narrating all the things that happened after they disappeared from the Academy.

The elves present around them eyed them with frowns and one of them stepped forward to politely ask the intruder to leave their village.

Ratric was not angry instead he thanked them for taking care of the students. Oliver went inside and brought all the students outside.

After eyeing the students, George and Ratric finally sighed with relief but then a frown appeared on Ratric face.

"Where is Kyle?"

He said with a serious expression but Oliver's body slumped when he heard Kyle's name.

"He was the one who drew the Array but suddenly he just vanished. I don't know the exact details."

Ratric nodded but he silently looked at Geroge and Elaze and both of them disappeared to look around for Kyle.

After they left, Ratric looked at the kids standing behind Oliver. He nodded at the elves and took out a floating boat from his storage ring. There was no Teleportation Array in this village so it was better to float and find a nearby city with a Teleportation Array.

"We are leaving. Climb up."

Ratric shouted and a stairway appeared in front of Oliver and the kids. They jumped at the boat one by one. Some of the kids waved at the old grandma who almost kidnapped Blane to make him her adopted son.

The boat started floating and disappeared into the sky. Bia silently gazed at the forest around the village. She could feel Kyle was alive but his presence was very dim almost like a thin thread. Also, unlike before she wasn't able to sense his exact location. No matter how much she called out to Kyle in her mind he didn't reply.

Her breath hitched for a second, she wanted to fly and look around for Kyle but when she recalled his last words she quietly stayed with Mia.

-'Idiot, pick me up soon, or else I am going to beat you up!'

After traveling for a few hours, the ship landed in the elf's capital. The Principal hurriedly found a Teleportation Array to avoid the many eyes looking at them with curiosity and they traveled back to Kingdom Escalante.

Meanwhile, after the broach around Kyle's chest shattered. A certain someone who was busy with some old foggies as they studied some ancient symbols suddenly jolted from his seat.

"What happened Han's?"

An old man looked at Han with confusion but Han didn't reply and hurriedly took out a familiar broach from his storage ring.

"What happened to that Kid?"

Han cursed because this broach was connected to the one he left for Kyle. If the broach was broken that means something bad happened to his disciple. He dashed forward to leave the place but was stopped by some old individuals.

"Han you can't leave we are here to complete the task assigned by the King."

Elder Han scoffed. He didn't care about the so-called king's order he was here to help because the Principal asked him to.

"I don't care! I am leaving, go tell whoever you want!"

After leaving the area, he bought a communication device from a market because the one he had before was taken away after he arrived in the Central Continent.

With an anxious expression, he called Ratric but the latter didn't pick up his call. Then he called George but after getting no response he angrily threw the communication device away.

"What the heck are they doing?"

After cursing, he took out a small plaque from his storage ring. He looked at the plaque and used his mana to sense the other plaque that he gave to Kyle.

After observing the other plaque's location for a while, he cursed again.

"Damn it! why is he so far from the Kingdom?"

Chapter 199 A dream again

On the other hand, when Kyle disappeared from the room his mind was ringing, and due to the sudden pull he felt around his body he wasn't able to stabilize himself on time as he landed in an area filled with grass.

He groaned and used his palm to sit but due to the uneven ground, his body slid downward.

A painful expression appeared on his pale face and to stop his body he hurriedly tried to grab something anything but the grass around him was too weak to support his weight.

After sliding down for a few seconds his body abruptly halted as he crashed into a tree.

Kyle hissed and his toe curled up with pain. He took a few large breaths and opened his blurry eyes.

He was surrounded by many trees and tall grass. At a distance, a medium-sized building was standing hidden between the rows of trees. Under his gaze the building shook slightly, sending small waves of vibrations everywhere.

A far contrast to his sorry state, Kyle's lips curled upward slightly.

'The Array blasted...'

He was a little worried about Alec and the others because he didn't expect to just suddenly disappear on them.

'I can just hope they used the Array and left the room on time because if they didn't.... well that's a very bad thought.'

Kyle's eyes narrowed slightly. He wanted to destroy the room where Bia was caged that's why he added some destructive symbols between the Array.

After thinking for a few seconds, Kyle sighed. His condition was too bad. At this moment how dare he worry about others.

Anyway, Oliver was strong and he took care of the red-haired man. So they might have escaped unscathed.

Kyle's mind wandered around for a minute. He wanted to stand up and look around for a safe place but his body didn't listen to him.

Soon, his breathing turned even colder, and large wisps of white smoke came out of his mouth.

'I don't want to faint here...'

He fought a mental battle because his location wasn't safe but after struggling for a while he gave up because his whole body was aching. It was painful and cold.

In his last attempt, he moved his fingers to look inside the storage ring for a healing potion but then he recalled he used all of them on Bia. With a resigned sigh, Kyle closed his eyes.

If Nine saw Kyle now, he would gasp with shock because this scenario was very familiar to the image he saw in his mind. Kyle's bloodied figure clad in tattered clothes, lying between lush grass. In the end, even though Nine saw the image he wasn't fated to help Kyle.

Amidst the headache, Kyle's mind drifted for a while and he found himself in a familiar place where blue flames lingered around his floating body.

'Hmm...This place...A dream again?'

Even though Kyle could barely see what was happening around him, he sensed something moving inside his body but instead of pain, he felt a tingling sensation.

The blue flames felt extremely cold around his body, they touched him and danced around him. It was like they were pondering or waiting for the right time to enter his body.

Kyle didn't know how much time passed as he floated between the flames when suddenly like a dam something burst within his body. The moment this sensation appeared within him, the flames burned with more vigor, they immediately jumped with incredible speed and entered his body.

His body didn't resist and the flames travelled inside his whole body freely. Kyle's mind stopped at that moment and he let his body freely float in that strange place.

While all this was happening within his mind, in the original world memorizing yet dim blue particles emerged out from his chest and enveloped his whole body. The particles travelled around his body like a gentle breeze and his injuries healed in a frightening speed. Just in a few seconds, all his wounds disappeared no matter how big or small.

After curing his wounds, the particles trembled violently. It was a very strange phenomenon. The trees and grass around Kyle shook slightly. Their leaves rustle with joy because they were witnessing something incredible that was forgotten a long long time ago.

The mana in the atmosphere surged at Kyle with incredible speed. With each passing second, the blue particles become thicker and thicker forming a round blue blanket around his whole body.

Soon, Kyle's body was completely hidden inside the blanket. Subconsciously his body curled up and a frost-chilling air spread out everywhere.

At the same time, when Aoky was done cleaning the building he came out of the building with a dark expression and cursed the ones who left him behind to do everything alone.

He narrowed his eyes with a frown when he felt the surrounding temperature. It was cold very cold. He rubbed his arms and clicked his tongue.

"Now what the heck with the weather? Why is it so cold under a scorching sun?"

He grumbled inwardly and looked around but after finding nothing he left the place hurriedly without looking back.

The day soon turned into night and the temperature around the place turned even colder. Kyle's figure was completely hidden between a layer of blue blanket. His presence was hidden due to the earring and coupled with the dust and debris that flew around with the wind. Soon the blanket turned dusty. Making it even harder to locate it between the grassy field and tall trees.

A few low-rank monsters and birds around the place sensed the coldness and their bodies shivered. They narrowed their eyes but didn't approach the place for fear of encountering a strong opponent.

Next day, a familiar black-haired man appeared in front of the building. It was George, He narrowed his eyes and looked at the building.

"I have looked around everywhere. The whole village is surrounded by a forest. This is the only suspicious place and the old elves have no idea about this building because it's too far away from the village."

George nodded and his eyes flashed with anger. He entered the building with Elaze and after seeing the condition of the building they were sure it was the same place where the kids were trapped.

"Not even a single alive person and I didn't even see anything useful."

George left the building and gazed at it one last time. He waved his hand to crush it completely. The building trembled under his might and with a loud banging sound, it crumbled. Clouds of smoke appeared in front of Geroge and he waved his hand to clear his vision.

Elaze stood behind him with a solemn expression.

"Should I go even deeper to look around for that kid?"

George didn't turn around and just nodded.

"Let's just look around the whole forest. This forest is attached to the outermost area of the Dark Forest. I am not sure if he is alive but we should do our best to look for him."

Elaze nodded but then he stared around the building.

"Strange why is it so cold here?"

Geroge eyes narrowed slightly as he looked around the trees and grass.

"Cold? The air is it but I can't sense the reason. This area is indeed colder."

He whispered and shook his head.

"Let's separate, contact me if you find anything regarding Kyle."

With a nod, Elaze disappeared in the opposite direction. Geroge gaze lingered around the place for a few seconds but he sighed and disappeared as well.

It took him another day just to reach the border of Kingdom Tersia. While he was standing above the border his communication device finally trembled.

With a serious expression, he hurriedly received the call.

"Hello?"

His voice sounded serious and after a few seconds, a familiar voice replied.

"Han? Where are you? I just got a call from King Cedric that you left your assigned job and disappeared."

Ratric voice sounded tired. He was indeed tired after running around in the Dark Forest and he even had to worry about the Academy matters.

"I would have never disappeared if you picked up my call on time! Anyway, leave this matter. Just tell me what happened to Kyle? I left him a life-saving Artifact and it's cracked that's means Kyle life is in danger. Also, from the tracking plaque I asked him to store in his storage ring, I can sense he is not in the Kingdom!"

"I do recall the kids had to attend a tournament but I am one hundred percent sure the King would never hold the tournament in another Kingdom."

Ratric stayed quiet for a few seconds but then a sigh resounded from the communication device.

"I was too busy that's why I didn't check the communication Crystal. About Kyle, I am not sure where he is because something happened within the Academy in my absence. Now that you left the Central Continent come back for a while. I need to discuss something with you."

Ratric voice was grim which is why a frown appeared on Han's face. He massaged his temples and held the plaque in his hands.

"I will come back but not now. I just sensed through the plaque the person who had the other plaque is nearby so I am going to take a look."

After a second, Ratric voice sounded again.

"Alright, inform me if you find anything regarding Kyle. Also, contact Gero and Elaze they are looking for Kyle as well."

With a hum, Han closed the communication device. His eyes narrowed looking at a distance and he started floating, heading straight toward the place where he sensed the presence of the other plaque.

Chapter 200 I am taking this man

Inside an old tavern with rustic wooden furniture, dimly lit by warm candlelight. The air was filled with the aroma of hearty food and the sound of chatter.

Among the crowd of many elves, a hooded man sat in a corner quietly sipping on his drink with a nonchalant face.

He gazed at the elves with a tipsy expression and a few strands of cyan hair peeked out from his hoodie.

'Tsk, I want to experiment on an elf but I can't stay here.'

Aoky grumbled inwardly and while he was sitting without any care the chatter in the tavern died down and silence enveloped the place.

He frowned and turned to look around for the reason.

'What happened?'

Aoky narrow eyes swept past the quiet elves and he noticed they were all looking at him. No, to be more precise they were looking above him.

A knock on the table jolted him awake and he stupidly looked in front of himself.

A brown-haired middle-aged man clad in a long-sleeved black robe stood in front of his table with a dark expression.

Aoky tensed up and his drunk mind cleared up a little when he wasn't able to sense the man's aura.

"Who are you?"

His voice sounded nervous and inwardly he was planning to flee.

Han scoffed at his behavior and gazed down at him.

'It took me a whole day just to enter this city, the security around the elf's border was too tight. Now, after so much struggle the only thing I found was a drunk man?'

He stepped forward and Aoky jumped out from his chair frightened but to his surprise instead of him the man grabbed the bag hanging on his chair.

"This... This bag is mine! Who the hell are you?"

Aoky stumbled and hurriedly tried to grab the bag but the brown-haired man shot him a glare.

After a few seconds, a storage ring flew out from the bag and Han looked at Aoky with a deadpan expression.

"Why is it with you?"

Aoky started sweating as he recalled how he had just casually grabbed the storage rings without checking their origin.

'Don't tell me it's belonged to those kids? Oh no, I am fucked! Who the heck is this man? Is he from the Royal Academy?'

His mind went into overdrive but slowly he started to step backward while grumbling whatever appeared in his mind.

"Of course it's mine! What the hell are you doing? Do you want to steal my stuff?"

Han didn't even listen to his excuses and kicked his stomach. Aoky felt like the air left his stomach all at once and he flew backward, crashing into the tavern wall.

The elves around them gasped with shock and panic. It wasn't rare to see a human in the elf's Kingdom but they didn't expect the human would fight in their territory.

Han sighed and pinched his brows with a serious expression. He didn't want to resort to violence but his opponent wasn't weak that's why it was better if he attacked first.

"I am taking this man. Please continue eating your food."

He grabbed the bag and dragged Aoky's body outside. After tying Aoky hands and feet he hurriedly found a Teleportation Array nearby and left.

Han traveled for another day with an anxious expression. On his way, he checked Aoky's belongings and a huge frown appeared on his face because he saw chains and some strange experimental tools. He even threatened the cyan-hair man to spill everything but Aoky stayed silent.

'I swear I am going to torture him very badly just let me reach the Academy.'

With a frustrated expression, he directly landed inside the Academy.

The moment he arrived, two familiar old men flew out from a building and headed straight toward him.

"Han?"

Ratric landed in front of him. Han nodded and tossed Aoky under his feet with a serious expression.

"Now tell me what happened to the kids?"

Ratric sighed and an old man appeared behind him.

"Alright I will, who is this?"

"I don't know, he had Kyle's storage rings."

Anger flashed through Ratric eyes as he looked back at the old man.

"I think he is among those individuals who kidnapped the kids. Levi dragged him to the investigation chamber. I want all the information regarding the ones who dare to attack my people."

With a nod, Elder Levi left with Aoky who cried out in panic. On the other hand, Han's expression froze when he heard the word 'Kidnapped'.

He looked at the principal with a face that wanted an explanation. Ratric sighed and started walking.

"Follow me."

Han nodded and followed behind him. While walking, the Principal told him everything. The more Han listened the more angry his expression became. In the end, he cursed.

Ratric gazes back at him.

"Don't worry the little beast is safe. Geroge and Elaze are looking around for Kyle but even after searching the whole forest they weren't able to find any clue."

Han took a deep breath and calmed down.

"If the life-saving Artifact I left for him was activated that means Kyle was heavily injured. The Artifact is good but it can't teleport him very far from his actual location."

Han pondered for a minute and turned around to look at the Principal.

"I will go and look for him as well."

Ratric nodded but then a frown appeared on his face.

"You only have a week. Afterward, you need to go back to the Central Continent. They are already enlarged due to your sudden disappearance. It's not that they don't have Array masters, they just want to find faults so they have an excuse to withdraw when the monster lords attacked."

An angry vein emerged on Han's forehead.

"Those bastards! Agh, I don't want to go but I know the consequences of my actions. Don't worry I will go back if I don't find that Kid."

Han flipped his sleeves ready to fly when Ratric stopped him.

"Give me the storage rings. Alec requested me to find his sword. I will return the rings to the kids."
