

CEO Bride 104

Chapter 104

This poison that caused deossification was ranked third among the top ten abnormal parasites.

Even if the King of Parasites were to come in person, he would be helpless.

If the afflicted was not the warden who overlooked the border, he would not even be bothered to come.

“J-Just do your best!”

Stellar did not dare pressure Nash and could only agree to all of his requests at the moment.

What was more, Nash was the Smiling Grim Reaper, so there was definitely no way Stellar would be able to put pressure on him either.

“I’m going back to get something. Brian, go and prepare 36 porcelain bowls, three pounds of tiger corpse oil, and three feet worth of cotton wicks. Colonel, please request the Martial Arts Association and the National Association of Priests to send experts above the grandmaster level here to guard the villa.”

Nash looked at Brian and Stellar solemnly.

Stellar was puzzled. “Why do we need to prepare all these?”

Nash did not bother entertaining him with an explanation and just walked out of the villa.

bed lifelessly, and was at a complete loss at what Nash

now. Please consider his words carefully, Colonel,” Brian his heart.

he went outside to make a sped toward Rex District in was more serious than that the warden would be fine when in reality, he was 50% sure. However, now, he was not even 10% would undoubtedly die today.

He had to use the Longhorn bug to retain whatever was traffic light to turn green at an intersection, Nash called you encounter a troublesome bug again?”

that

Cassie was few seconds of silence passed before she finally said, “You have

of

for me,

know any way to get rid deossification?" Elder now hangs by a thread," Nash explained in

"This poison ranks third among the top ten abnormal parasites. It's also the most vicious type as seen in the illustrated handbook. Once someone gets it, they're done for! Even your master shook his head when he heard of it." Elder Morkov said with a sigh.

Nash's heart sank. Reluctant to accept this, he asked, "Is there really no way?"

His query was met with a sincere reply, "There really isn't. There's nothing we can do."

Nash sighed. "Alright, I understand. Thank you, Elder Morkov,"

The light had still been red when an accident occurred ahead of him.

Nash ended the call. He then stepped on the accelerator and the Maserati took off across the intersection like a horse in the wild in the blink of an eye.

Governor Jade and Henderson had rushed over to the Zell Villa.

Stellar also received a call from the Lewis family. They informed him that word from their detective agency had revealed 30 of the killers sent by the Blood Leaderboard to have managed their stowaway successfully.

Stellar finally then understood why Nash had asked him to request the Martial Arts Association and the National Association of Priests to send their grandmaster-level experts over to guard the villa.

The governor and Henderson immediately contacted the National Association of Priests after he informed them of this.

Zakariah had also already notified the core members of the Martial Arts Association.