

CEO Bride 106

Chapter 106

When Nash got the Longhorn bug, he rushed straight to the Zell household.

At the same time, he called Theo.

He probably would not have time to pick Hera up from work today so he wanted Theo to find someone reliable to protect her.

When Theo received the news, he called Olivia and Xeno to pick Hera up from work together.

It was convenient for Olivia to protect Hera while Xeno acted as their bodyguard.

Nash received another call from Brian when he ended the call with Theo.

“Grandmaster... help me...”

Brian’s terrified voice rang from the phone before the call was abruptly ended.

Nash tried to call him back but his phone was already switched off.

Screech!

Nash slammed on the brakes which caused him to grip the steering wheel tighter.

The car behind him blared his horn.

over when its windows rolled down. Coincidentally, it was Chief Jupiter Holt and Angelica in the car.

you in Jupiter asked politely.

think my friend is in danger...”

hearing it. “Pull over first, then we can help you!”

the side of the road while Jupiter and just now asking for help but the call was disconnected before I could Nash told them.

out his walkie-talkie and called for a fully equipped van before asking Nash location through his phone number.

frowned and looked

Calcraft, are you not help

cool when he was with Colonel Orwell

made him out a big sigh. "This had sealed off nine of Philix's pressure points.
could play dead for at most two hours.
the cardiovascular and cerebrovascular blood supply would be dying person

However, Philix's situation was different as his body contained Deossifying Poison. These types of parasitic bugs were vicious and they could devour the Longhorn bug.

Hence, Nash formulated two plans. The second plan was to use Heavenly Spirit Seal Spell to seal the Warden's soul.

The material he had Brian look for was the oil lamp that was needed for the spell.

Jupiter said with a serious expression, "Mr. Calcraft, please make a headstart on dealing with this situation, we will help you save this person!"

In this day and age, homicides were uncommon.

He believed that the person Mr. Calcraft was looking for was merely kidnapped.

Nash sighed, "Time is running out! We must save him within two hours!"

As soon as the technician heard what Nash had said, he looked at the date on the laptop and shouted, "Chief Holt, the person's GPS signal just disappeared three minutes ago around the Fourth Industrial Zone in the Northern Suburb!"

Jupiter responded immediately, "Block off the Fourth Industrial Zone!"

Angelica frowned and said, "Chief Holt, our people have been transferred to the Southern Suburb!"

Just this morning, Chief Henderson had personally ordered the transfer of all the inspectors in Jonford.

Jupiter said in a deep voice, "Go to the Northern Suburb first. I'll tell the Chief that we need people!"

The driver started the car and drove towards the Northern Suburb.

When Henderson heard that Jupiter needed people, he sternly asked, "If you need people why are you looking for me instead of Freddy?"