Chapter 1101

Theo's eyes narrowed as he shouted, "Four billion!"

Jay looked at Theo coldly. "Theo, are you sure you want to compete with the Kleins for this pill?"

The Kleins had suffered great losses among their martial artists.

While they had quite a few stage nine great-grandmasters, they were all stuck at a bottleneck.

The family's main purpose in participating in this auction was to purchase resources to help their family's martial artists cultivate. Jay was determined to obtain this Gold Essence Pill no matter what.

Theo took a deep breath and replied, "Mr. Klein, you're aware of my family's current state as well. If we don't stabilize our martial power soon, we'll likely be squeezed out of the top ten families."

Jay snorted coldly. "Then let's see who has more money!"

With that, he entered a bid of four and a half billion on the biddin device.

"The next item we're auctioning is a Dragon Phoenix Pendant! Its origin and quality are ominous. After being identified by the Profound

Oriental Realm experts of the four major Chambers of Commerce, it was determined that it doesn't belong to this world!"

A pendant appeared on the LCD screen, engraved with images of a dragon and a phoenix.

Nash's teacup suddenly shattered in his hand. This pendant was exactly the same as the token his master had given him when he left the mountain.

Herman should have given it to Hera after he received it.

"Mr. Calcraft, what's wrong?" Eva noticed Nash seemed somewhat agitated and could not help but look at the pendant on the display screen. A hint of astonishment flashed in her eyes.

Was that pendant not a personal accessory of Roxy's? Why would it be auctioned off?

"Starting bid, two billion. Each bid must not be less than 500 million!"

It had been so awkward that Lana wished she could find a hole to hide in. If she had known that would happen, she would not have attended this auction.

"I... I haven't figured out how to repay Mr. Calcraft yet!" Lana's face was as red as a tomato.

Sienna giggled. "Why not offer yourself to him?"

Lana rolled her eyes. "Mr. Calcraft already has a wife!"

If Nash did not have a wife and was willing to accept her, it would not be out of the question. It would tie a Mystique Loyalty Realm powerhouse to the Lowe family and her grandparents would surely be thrilled. Her family's status would also rise significantly in Capiton.

"Someone in Heaven Box Nine bids 3.5 billion!

Roxy's face turned cold. Since Nash dared to steal her storage ring, she would make sure he forked out everything he had-principal and interest included!

Finally, Nash added ten billion. In the next second, however, Heaven Box 15 followed suit with another ten billion.

"Someone in Heaven Box 15 bids 60 billion!"

"Someone in Heaven Box Nine bids 65 billion!"

Nash felt like giving up. Most of the people in the Heaven Boxes were from sects. If he provoked them, he might bring trouble upon himself.

In the secular world, Mystique Loyalty Realm powerhouses were revered by thousands.

However, they were nothing before those in the Profound Oriental Realm.

“Miss, it looks like the person in Heaven Box Nine won’t bid anymore,” the maid said softly.

Rozy replied, “Ask Elder Gold to lend him 60 billion with an interest of

The maid was slightly stunned, but then a smile appeared on her face.

“Hello, this is Nash. I’d like to borrow 60 billion.”

“Nash?” Sam’s tone carried a hint of surprise. “Is this the same Nash who Theo knows?”

Nash murmured in affirmation.

“I can do that, but the interest will be 10%.”

Nash smiled wryly. “Sorry for the trouble.”

With that, he immediately ended the call. After returning the phone to Eva, Nash looked at Bruce expressionlessly and said, “I don’t want the Dragon Phoenix Pendant anymore. Please give it to the person in Heaven Box 15. I’ll cover the five billion difference!”

The person in Box Room 15 had only bid 60 billion, while he bid an naturally had to make up for the five billion difference.

On the surface, Eva looked calm. She was, after all, the customer service manager at the Great Eastern Tower. She often dealt with influential figures from all walks of life. She had developed a strong mental fortitude. However, she found herself repeatedly challenged today.

Bruce was a supreme powerhouse feared even by the leaders of the four major Chambers of Commerce. He was treated as an esteemed guest by the Ten Families of Capiton. Despite that, he was now actually lowering his head and admitting his mistake to Nash.

“I appreciate your kindness. I also understand where you’re coming from. However, I don’t like owing favors. After the auction ends, I’ll definitely repay the interest,” Nash said respectfully.

Once an arrow was shot, it could not be retrieved. If Bruce had shown this attitude from the beginning, perhaps Nash would have been able to befriend him.

However, Bruce’s attitude only changed after he learned about his ability to refine fifth-grade pills. He valued only Nash’s alchemy sk

A QR code appeared on all the LCD screens at the venue. The guests took out their phones to scan it. Those in the Heaven Boxes could purchase items through the touchscreen LCDs directly.

After a moment, a countdown appeared on the screen.

"Ten!

"Nine!"

"One!"

When the countdown reached zero, everyone frantically tapped their phones. Even the elders from the reclusive sects in the Heaven Boxes were poking at the LCD screens crazily.

“What? Sold out in 0.8 seconds?”

“I failed to snatch up anything?”

The venue erupted into noisy complaints.

In Heaven Box One, a young woman in a robe grinned foolishly as she looked at the number of pills in her shopping cart. She had managed to snatch three Elixirs of Youth, six Gold Essence Pills, and ten Vitality Nourishment Pills.

Eva leaned toward Nash nervously. She had seen these people before. They looked to be from the Limitless Sword Sect, the largest sect among the reclusive sects.

"Senior, this young man seems even more extraordinary than you!" A beautiful woman in white shifted her gaze away from Nash and looked at her senior.

Nash was surprised. His Longevity Technique should conceal his aura. How did she detect his cultivation level?

With a ding, the elevator doors opened on the 98th floor. The man in white made a gesture of invitation. "After you, sir."

Nash did not hesitate and stepped out of the elevator. Just as he was about to return to his room, the man in white suddenly asked, "Would you care to join us in our room for a chat?"

"I'm not interested," Nash replied without looking back as he walke down the corridor.

"Who gave you the pendant?" Nash asked.

“Who do you think?” Roxy looked at Nash with a smirk.

Nash’s pupils contracted slightly. It seemed that what his master had told Roxy in the room was related to the Dragon Phoenix Pendant.

“This pendant was given to me by your master,” she replied casually. “

I need this pendant to locate the last piece. All four pieces of the pendant are needed to enter Dream City.”

She crossed her arms and added nonchalantly, “I hope to have the pendant so that I won’t have to run around.”

Nash hurriedly took out the Dragon Phoenix Pendant and tossed it to Roxy. He did not have time to search for the other pendants now.

Roxy caught the pendant and then turned around, leaving the room with her hands behind her back.

“50.5 billion, not bad.” Nash gritted his teeth in frustration. He tho Roxy was just simply inflating the price, but now it seemed like had gotten away with a fortune.

Essentially, she had swindled him out of 50 billion. However, he vowed to get it back, and with interest. He had put his life at risk for so many years and did not even earn that much.

Nash got dressed in silence, wearing the outfit Theo had prepared for him. He put his phone in his pocket.

He spent 3.5 billion just to get Sienna’s contact. How dare this
