

CEO Bride 114

Chapter 114

Hera immediately replied, "What's the matter?"

Skadi's hands were trembling, and she decided to send Hera a voice message instead. "Your boyfriend is a golden amulet. master!"

"What's that?"

"I have no clue either, but I know it means he's incredibly powerful. Even Father Cillian of the Quiet Winds Church has to bow to him when they meet!"

"Really?"

"Yes! I saw it myself!"

When Zakariah saw his granddaughter happily talking to Hera, he could not help but smile sadly while dispelling his thoughts.

Stellar gazed at the warden, who was lying amidst the offering bowls, and wiped away tears of happiness.

Nash had been concentrating on the sketch he was making on the parchment paper when his grip on the brush suddenly faltered.

The red-colored ink immediately left a massive red dot on the parchment paper.

Brian asked hesitantly, "Grandmaster... why do you seem... uneasy?"

Stellar turned to look at Nash when he heard that.

"I sense a murderous aura!"

Nash balled up the parchment paper and threw it into the trash before retrieving a fresh piece of parchment paper.

on outside. I will not allow anyone his gun and headed outside once he finished had already turned pitch-black, seemingly readying itself for an even greater inside the mansion, Skadi. It's making sure Skadi was still inside before and Sheldon stood outside and discussed amongst themselves before knew if the warden could be brought back to life, and they did not want to lose their lives to the Blood

Boom, boom, boom!

while

droplets of rain poured from the
all the wires began sparking, plunging the Zell that flashed and illuminated the night sky made it possible to make out Swoosh!

in black suddenly emerged from amongst the straight-edged sword they held in an ordinary person, and there was no way he wrapping the white-colored hair that reached out and shoved in black flew backward when Cillian's palm came into contact with they disappeared into the rain.

"Terranova ninja techniques!"

whispered before pinching his fingers together.

parchment paper appeared on the sleeves of paper and

and welding various knives appeared on the walls and martial arts association's grandmasters and experts also

Additionally, the Quiet Winds Church's eighteen red-robed priests also grabbed their sabers and joined in.

However, these people dressed in black all had grandmaster-level skills.

A dozen martial arts grandmasters got their throats slit in the blink of an eye.

Stellar, Henderson, Grant, and Joseph's faces paled in shock.

Initially, they had thought they could ward off the killers since they had experts from the Martial Arts Association and Association of Priests.

They had not been expecting these killers to be so powerful.

"Kill anyone you see on sight!"

The leader of the Terranova ninjas spoke in a frosty voice.

The thirty killers immediately set out on a cold-blooded massacre.

Cillian and Lloyd dashed into the courtyard and managed to stop more than twenty killers.

Meanwhile, the remaining killers dashed toward Stellar and the rest.

One of them had a dagger, and it was merely inches away from sinking into Stellar's chest.

George dashed over and raised one of his legs to give the hand holding the dagger a ruthless kick.

Crack!

The kick broke the killer's wrist-bones into tiny pieces.

Janson sent two killers flying backward in one go using nothing but his bare hands.