

CEO Bride 115

Chapter 115

When Skadi opened the door, she was greeted by the sight of the corpse of one of the grandmasters from the Martial Arts Association.

“Mr. Cox...”

Tears streamed down Skadi’s face when she saw the familiar face.

She did not have time to wallow in her sadness though. She hurriedly yelled toward Stellar and the others, who were still outside, “Colonel, come into the mansion...”

Stellar shook his head, “No, I must stand guard outside!”

Henderson yelled, “Colonel, let’s hurry on in. We are no match for these people...”

Stellar said angrily, “I made a promise to Nash. Unless I’m dead, no one will be able to...”

Bang!

Skadi used the side of her palm to land a strike on Stellar’s neck.

She was a martial artist who had reached fourth-division inner energy after all.

It was pretty easy for her to knock an ordinary person out.

Henderson and Joseph picked Stellar up and dragged him back into the mansion together.

Grant hurried back into the mansion and immediately retrieved his phone to inform everyone in his family that they were not allowed to leave or enter the estate without explicit permission.

Skadi glanced out worriedly. There were anywhere between forty to fifty people in battle out there, but she had not seen any sign of her grandfather.

she saw a killer running toward where she stood.

Crack!

combat knife pierced through the sandalwood door and flew toward Skadi’s reflexes and immediately leaned backward. The blade brushed right nose.

his final sketch at that very moment. He turned and threw the brush he had been holding, and it pierced through his eyes as he let go of his combat knife and clapped both hands to his throat while stumbling backward, and he collapsed into a pile of water turned red by his

the thirty-six pieces of parchment paper to Brian. “Put one into need to be burnt?”

make sure they're fully immersed in

"Alright!"

paper into the offering bowls.

took bunches of copper coins strung with red string from his tote string were fifty inches long and had four copper inches long, and two copper coins

around

Brian finished putting the paper into the bowls, Nash also marked a magic circle around from his bag and took a sip before spraying the

from inter-connected pieces of coins, glowed like red-hot iron.

and earth,

reverse the world of the living and the mumbled the incantations as he used the heavenly sword to draw what he had sketched on the parchment slowly rose into the air, and the thirty-six offering bowls soon followed suit.

also floated in the air alongside the magic circle and offering bowls.

mouth hung open as

She had thought Nash was just putting on airs when he donned his robe.

She had not expected Nash to actually know how to cast such magic.

All of a sudden, Nash seemed extremely handsome to her!

'No, no...'

'He's Hera's boyfriend. I can't think such thoughts.'

Skadi shook her head and hurriedly stored such unrealistic thoughts in the back of her mind.

She quietly took her phone out so she could take a picture of Nash.

Brian's admiration for Nash became even more fervent.

Grant and Joseph could not stop gulping.

"AH!!!"

Skadi let out an abrupt scream.

Her phone landed on the ground with a thud.

Joseph jumped in shock and hurriedly asked, "What... What's the matter?"

Skadi's face had turned pale, and there was a dull look in her eyes.

It was as if her soul had left her body.

Nash shouted, "Everyone... close your eyes, and don't open them no matter what you hear!"