Chapter 1231

Wendy stepped forward and pushed the man hard with her shoulder.

While she seemed slow and weak, the man stumbled a few steps back.

The man stared at Wendy in surprise and asked, "Wow, I never knew your moves could be this powerful."

Seeing that she managed to upset his balance, Wendy suddenly felt courageous. She returned the phone to the receptionist and said proudly, "That's because you're weak!"

"You insolent girl..."

The man sneered, lunged forward, and gave her a continuous rainfall of punches. His moves were swift as the wind, and it was not long before Wendy realized he was using the Eternal Spring Fist Technique.

Wendy dodged a punch aiming for her head while using her arm to parry a subsequent blow.

The man then kicked her in the groin, but Wendy lifted her leg, blocked the attack, and returned the kick.

The man jumped just in time to dodge her kick and started kicking furiously at her.

Wendy maintained her stance and blocked his attacks by intermittently changing the position of her hands.

The man gave her a last kick in the face before landing,

Crossing her hands, Wendy managed to stop his kick mid-air but was slammed to the ground soon after.

Smiling menacingly, the man retracted his foot and continued kicking furiously.

"Mel..." Wendy greeted Melody shyly.

Melody drove toward them and asked with a frown, "What happened to you?"

Melody could not believe that the young woman in front of her was the same young woman she met two days ago.

“Somebody wanted to kill me...” Wendy pouted and said with a sniffle.

Feeling sorry for her, Melody offered, “Why don’t you stay at my place for a few days? Nash’s here too. Nobody will dare to bully you with him around!”

Wendy nodded and said, “Thanks, Mel!”

Melody flashed her a smile, turned to Nash, and said, “I’ll be off, the! Call me if anything!”

“Will do. Call me if you’re in trouble too!”

“Okay. See you guys later!” Melody gazed at Nash and reluctantly drove off to work.

Nash led Wendy into the villa.

The moment they stepped in, Wendy noticed a smell. She asked, “ What’s this smell?”

Nash’s face fell as he quickly grabbed a bottle of air freshener and started spraying it all over, especially around the couch area. He used up at least half the bottle.

"Nash... I'm hungry..."

Wendy patted her stomach and whined, "I vomited everything out last night."

Nash pointed to the kitchen and said, "Make yourself at home. Go and find something to eat."

He then returned to texting. His fingers flew across the screen as he replied to Sienna's message: [You're coming to Xanthalos?]

Sienna replied instantly: [Yup! I'm there to film, and Theo said he wanted to visit you.]

Wendy suddenly said, "I don't know how to cook..."

She had always been pampered by her brother and seniors wher was living at the Cosmos Martial Arts Hall, so she had zero sur skills. That, of course, included cooking.

Nash chuckled and said, "Fine, I'll ask someone to bring you food. But seriously, Wendy, you need to learn to be independent. You can't just expect everything to be handed to you on a silver platter!"

Nash texted Eric and asked him to order some takeout for Wendy.

Wendy said again, "I-I want to take a shower!"

This time, Nash texted Felicity and told her about Wendy's situation.

Feeling sorry for her, Felicity readily agreed to help.

As soon as Nash finished his sentence, Eric arrived with the gang.

“Ooh, that’s a good-looking woman you’re hiding here!” Eric walked toward Nash with a takeout from the Empire Hotel while teasing him.

Nash rolled his eyes at Eric and replied, “Not everybody has a thing for young women like you, you know”

Eric grinned and placed the takeout on the table. He then said, “Eat more, girl, so that you’ll have some nice curves! Nash doesn’t like them flat!”

Wendy stared at Eric innocently.

She had to admit she had taken a liking to Eric. She found his personality rather refreshing.

However, that did not mean she agreed to his comments about body.

Chapter 1235

The arena served as a place for fight tournaments among the different martial arts halls under the Jonford Martial Arts Association.

Robert and a few staff members were held hostage in this building.

The building was swarming with over 30 members of the association and around 15 to 16 martial artists from the Freeman family. The Freemans were all dressed in yellow martial arts uniforms.

In one of the offices, a fatty dressed in a yellow martial arts uniform was casually drinking tea.

He was the master of a martial arts hall in the neighboring country, Hisara. He was also Robert's acquaintance. However, unlike Robert, he was an eighth-division great-grandmaster.

For that reason, he was assigned to be stationed at the headquarters by the Freemans when he reached Xanthalos yesterday.

Glancing at Robert, he said nonchalantly, "My good old friend, Robert, you're aware that all the Southern martial arts halls have already pledged their allegiance to the Southern Martial Alliance, right? Why are you being so stubborn? It won't get you anywhere!"

Robert's legs were tied, and his trigger points were locked, making him unable to move. As such, he remained still on the couch as he said, "Since ancient times, evil has never won. What you guys are doing is wrong! Mark my words, you'll get the punishment you deserve!"

"Now that's not a good thing to say, eh, Robert? How can you say we're evil? The Southern Martial Alliance only wants to combine martial arts halls so that all members have a common home! What's wrong with that?

“It’s okay, you did great!”

Nash helped Robert up and said, “I had a hunch you were being threatened when I picked up your call, so I understand your predicament. It’s not your fault!”

He then took out his phone and checked his WhatsApp group chat to see if the others were done.

Bertram was the first to inform the group.

He sent a ‘mission accomplished’ gif three minutes ago.

Ash also sent a text message one minute ago.

Nash texted: [Done on my side.]

Not long after, Carlos, Ayne, and Eric also reported in.

Nash then sent a voice message asking them to bring all the apprentices here.

After waiting a little longer, Nash noticed Felicity and Jaxon had not reported in.

Nash frowned slightly.

Did they run into unexpected trouble?

Jaxon was exceptionally skilled. He should not have any problem.

Nash's voice came from the other end of the phone.

"Who is this?"

Fury built up in Gabriel once more as he asked with gritted teeth.

Nash replied nonchalantly, "The name's Nash!"

Hearing Nash's name, Gabriel slammed the phone onto the table, got up from his seat, and yelled, "I'll kill you, you son of a bitch!"

He was talking to the man who murdered his son. As a father, Gabriel felt very guilty for not being able to avenge his son's death after all this time.

On top of that, Nash was deliberately provoking him. There was no way he could rein in his anger anymore.

Guessing the conversation, Harold asked, "He's coming to kill y

Gabriel replied, his face distorting with fury, "That's what he said."

Feeling his anger rising, Harold replied coldly, "Very well. We're not going anywhere anyway."

Harold decided a fight was inevitable at this point. Nash was bringing the fight to them, so if they were to refuse, they would no doubt be laughed at by the entire Southern Martial Alliance. There was no way the Freemans would allow this kind of humiliation.

Elisabeth was puzzled, but she followed Tina out of the office.

As soon as they were outside, Elisabeth asked eagerly, "Who is he?"

Austin replied, "Oh, come on. By the looks of it, who else can it be? I'm pretty sure he's Melody's first love!"

Elsabeth rolled her eyes at Austin and said, "I didn't ask you."

Elsabeth then looked at Tina for confirmation.

Tina replied awkwardly, "Well, I'm not sure because they never made their relationship public. If I remember correctly, they were deskmates at university.

"At that time, Blaine was head over heels with our chancellor's daughter, and word had it that he often borrowed money from Melody. I think they're just friends."

A hint of sadness flashed across Tina's eyes.

She had a crush on Blaine during her university years.

However, she felt she was not good enough for him back then, so she kept her feelings to herself.

Meanwhile, in the office, Blaine gazed at Melody like a lovestruck

Blaine’s face fell as he asked again, “Who’s your boyfriend?”

Melody replied with a smile, “He should be on the way here. You can hang around a little longer if you’d like to meet him.”

Nash came to the 18th floor as per Melody’s location link.

A banner with the words ‘Stone Group’ was hung at the entrance of the office studio.

Two black men dressed in black suits stood guard at the entrance They were around 190cm tall.

Nash sensed a kind of special energy emanating from them, so he deduced they were skilled martial artists from overseas.

He could not figure out who they were protecting. Deciding not to dwell upon it, he walked briskly into the office.

“Good afternoon, Mr. Calcraft,” Tina greeted Nash with a smile while filling a cup of water from the water dispenser.

Nash returned the smile and said, “Yeah, I’m here to see Melody!”

Tina shot him a weird look as she said, “Oh wow, perfect timing! She’s in her office.”

Slightly puzzled at her words, Nash decided to let it slide: He headed into the office.

Meanwhile, Blaine had just calmed himself down from the surprise he got when Melody told him she had a boyfriend. He reasoned it was perfectly normal for Melody to have a boyfriend, given she was

He knew it was not good to rush things. He would just take it slow.

Tina and Elisabeth, who were eavesdropping, immediately backed away from the door when they heard footsteps approaching. They even pretended to talk to each other as if they did not hear the conversation.

Seeing Nash's stoic expression, both of them knew instantly that something was up.

“Let’s go for lunch, guys!” Melody invited them for lunch.

She then wrapped her arm around Nash’s arm and asked, “Hey, are you... jealous?”
