Chapter 1241

Tina walked beside him with a helpless look on her face.

Nash turned around and said, "We're going to pick someone up at the airport. You head to the Empire Hotel first. Just tell them you're my friend!"

After speaking, Nash sent a message to Shanice.

Elsabeth and Tina left in Austin's car.

Melody handed her car keys to Nash

"Are you letting me drive?"

Nash's expression darkened, looking a little unhappy.

Melody snorted. "Can I have you drive?"

Nash took the car keys and smiled bitterly. "I suspect that you

She smirked slightly. "You're right. Now that I've become your girlfriend, you should act like a boyfriend too!"

Melody sat in the passenger seat with her legs crossed. She was playing with her mobile phone.

"Sienna came to Xanthalos for filming... Do you know about Fox Demon Adventures?"

She closed the short video and opened her text inbox. When she saw Blaine's message, she deleted it directly.

Blaine made her feel weird today, so much so that she did not even want to keep their relationship as former classmates.

"No idea!"

Nash had fallen behind on his cultivation recently. He would not have time to pay attention to the entertainment industry.

"You won't be able to keep up with the times this way!"

Melody rolled her eyes at Nash.

Nash smiled disapprovingly. "Practitioners are already out of with the world. Changes in the times are nothing but passing cl

Chapter 1243

Only a group of bodyguards were left looking at each other.

In the Ultimate Royalty Room in the Empire Hotel, Shanice personally served Elsabeth and Tina.

Nash's friends were the most distinguished guests in the hotel.

Shanice dared not neglect her service.

Tina complained, “Shanice... How could you not tell me such a big thing happened at the Empire Hotel?!”

Although she owned a small company, the Empire Hotel’s prices were still a bit unacceptable to her. It had been half a year since she last visited the Empire Hotel.

At that time, Shanice was just a customer service clerk at the front- desk. Now, she had become the general manager.

“It just happened in the past two days. I feel like I’m still in a d and haven’t woken up!”

Shanice was extremely excited.

She hugged Enzo’s waist last night and asked herself if she was Shanice's reply once again caused a stir in the group.

Jessica: [Shanice, the audacity you have! Do you know who Blaine is? If not, I suggest you search Normier Group online.]

Rosen: [That's right. You're just a general manager. Even the owner of the Empire Hotel would have to kneel down and lick Blaine's feet.]

Regine: [I thought that Shanice would be wiser after becoming the general manager, but she's still as clueless as before. I don't know how she became the general manager.]

Jessica sent a vomiting emoji: [I know! Shanice most likely used her body to get to the top.]

Aileen: [Yeah, that's disgusting.]

Shanice saw the messages in the group. She was so angry that he whole body was shaking.

Tina could not help it anymore. She typed: [Are you done? Before Blaine appeared, all of you tried to flatter her. Now that Blaine is here, you come running to lick his feet. Could you be more shameless?]

A few snobs in the group continued to type and confront each other.

"Fabian, am I not your precious anymore? How could you do this to me for an outsider..." Violet said aggrievedly.

Fabian hung up the phone directly.

Violet immediately started crying. "Boo-hoo...Dora, my brother doesn't love me anymore!"

The woman sitting opposite wore a white floral dress. She had bright eyes and brighter teeth, a delicate nose, and red lips. She was picture-

Nash looked at Theo and asked, "Did you invite your friends over?"

Theo chuckled and said, "I called for additional support!"

Nash rolled his eyes at Theo. "You're making a mountain out of a molehill!"

He did not take Blaine seriously at all.

Blaine's company only had a market value of 300 billion. If he refined a batch of pills, that alone would cost more than 300 billion.

Melody held Nash's hand and said softly, "I've deleted his contact!"

In fact, she had already sent a voice message in the group chat just before they got in the car. She did that just to let Nash know.

Now, she emphasized it once more to express her determination.

Nash held Melody's delicate hands and chuckled. "Silly girl, don't have any trust between us at all?"

He could see the difference between Melody's attitude toward him and toward Blaine.

Melody did not see Blaine as her ex at all, so how could he be angry with her?

She then gave Nash the sweetest smile.

With that said, the phone in his pocket rang. He took out his phone and glanced at the number. Blaine’s lips curled into a playful smile. He turned on the loudspeaker to answer. “Master Nalarov!”

“Which room?” A cold voice came from the other end of the phone.

“Room 1 on the ninth floor!” Blaine replied respectfully.

Then, there was the busy tone. The call had ended.

Theo’s face was calm, but there was a flash of surprise in his eyes.

Melody frowned. Her small hand trembled slightly in Nash’s hand.

Nash squeezed Melody’s hand to calm her down. Suddenly, he was, interested to see who Master Nalarov was.

Less than three minutes later, there was a rush of footsteps out Hundreds of burly men in suits stood on both sides of the corrido presence like a wild beast charging forth filled the air.

Later, someone asked him why he quit the group. He only said that they were not worthy of being with him.

Blaine glanced at Gabriel timidly and thought to himself, 'Fortunately,

I had the foresight. Otherwise, I would've been crushed to pieces today.'

Shanice had gotten her team to set up another table.

Austin, Elisabeth, and Tina took their seats.

Elisabeth whispered, "Baby, who are they? Why does their presence feel so strong?"

Tine turned to look at Austin as well.

Like Elisabeth, she felt suffocated by these people's presence.

Austin made a quick introduction in a whisper, "The one next to Theo turned slightly and whispered in Sienna's ear.

Sienna pouted slightly, stood up, and went to receive the newcomers. She took the two of them to Tina's table.

Jupiter and Honey quietly obeyed. They knew everyone at that table.

Those men were the financial support of all financial support. Their capital groups could easily create top stars with their eyes closed.

"Sienna, did you bring us here for a learning experience?" Honey asked cautiously.

Sienna's pretty face turned red. "Initially, I just wanted you to come over for support, but the invitations got out of hand. I don't think you can handle the current situation!"

Jupiter took a deep breath. "You go over first. We can just watch f

Sienna returned to her seat next to Nash.

Tina was starstruck to see Jupiter. "Oh my god! A-Aren't you the King of Action, Jupiter Sandow?"

Her tone was calm but cold. Her deep-set eyes were like a dagger piercing Blaine's heart.

Blaine's hand holding the teacup trembled. "I... I didn't say anything!"

Violet decided to add fire to the fuel and said, "Didn't he just call you eye candy?"

Blaine felt the urge to curse. Who did this brat think she was, to get in the way while adults were speaking? If she had nothing nice to say, it was best to keep quiet!

Isadora's eyes flashed coldly. She looked at Maverick and asked, "Do you know him?"

Maverick nodded. "Blaine Lowe, chairman of Normier Group in Balaria!

"Oh."

Isadora took out her mobile phone, opened WhatsApp, pressed the voice message button, and said in a sickly sweet voice, "Daddy, the chairman of Normier Group from Balaria bullied me!"

Blaine's mind was filled with questions. He just called her eye candy. Was there a need for her to complain to her parents? Then again, what would happen even if she complained?
