

CEO Bride 125

Chapter 125

“Wow, is that Ms. Lewis’ boyfriend? So tall and handsome! They’re truly a match made in heaven!”

“Tsk... What’s the use of being handsome? Can one survive on good looks alone? I think only sons from top-tier families are worthy of our Ms. Lewis!”

“All of you don’t even know about Mr. Calcraft’s background. Look at his aura. It’s not something ordinary men can have. Maybe he’s the son of some big family who simply came out to gain life experience?”

“Alright now, enough. Be safe on the road!”

Hera rolled her eyes at them and quickly walked toward Nash.

At the Lewis family estate, Maria had prepared a large table of food.

At the moment, Herman and Cain were playing chess.

Cain had already lost three rounds.

Herman thoughtfully said, “Cain, you seem to have been restless these past few days. Is it because of that shooting incident?”

“Huh?”

“Yeah... yes!”

Cain distractedly replied.

by the masked man that night, he had been worried that family estate had increased security by nearly a hundred more bodyguards, he still had trouble sleeping

Lauren was sitting on the sofa, assassination attempt before. These two cases must have been orchestrated by the poodle, was immediately unhappy. “Lauren, name names. Why are and now you’re saying that the same person is probably behind both cases. Isn’t this

“Are you just upset because I hit the

“Why you...”

“Enough!”

31

causing the chess pieces to start arguing the moment you see each the old man getting angry, the two finally shut their mouths.

happy in her heart. Although the old man had lost his memory, he was no longer however, almost plucked the little poodle let out a yelp that she released her chubby hand that was gripping the
this time, Helena came down exchanging sweet words with Hera also entered the villa from outside.

Grandpa, Uncle, good

Hera greeted sweetly.

“Uncle, Aunt, Ol’ Mr. Lewises, good evening!”

Nash followed suit in greeting.

Harrison and Lauren smiled in response.

Herman and Cain also nodded calmly.

As for them not greeting Hubert’s family, Herman had long gotten used to it.

Before regaining his memory, he did not want to get involved in too many issues between the two families.

He did not know who among them was actually deceiving him.

At the dinner table, Hera kept serving Nash food, her eyes filled with love and tenderness.

Helena watched while feeling both angry and hateful. Although her boyfriend was a hundred times better than Nash, Kai rarely spent time with her.

Being with Kai, she did not feel like she was in a relationship at all.

“Harri, how far has the collaboration with Drake Group progressed?”

When Herman mentioned Drake Group, his tone became much gentler.

Harrison quickly responded, “Drake Group’s 1.5 billion dollars deposit arrived today. The recruitment plans for the parent company and branches have been approved. We expect to start mass hiring tomorrow. In addition, we’ve decided to add at least 20 production lines to deliver the first batch of chips to Drake Group within two months!”