Chapter 1251

Blaine had just left the private room when Isadora's phone rang again. It was a message from her father. Everyone perked up, eager to hear what her father had to say. Nash was no exception.

Today's dinner party was quite exciting, making him further realize how terrifying true business tycoons could be.

Isadora did not look at her phone. Instead, she poured herself a cup of hot water and took a sip. At that moment, the waiters started serving dishes one after another.

Nalarov slowly stood up, his dark eyes fixed on Isadora as he said, Isadora, I've noted today's bill. I hope you won't regret it!"

Apart from the Ten Families of Capiton, there were still seven or eight hidden tycoons in Drakonia's business circle. Any one of them casually controlled trillions of assets. The Sloan family from Henley. City was an existence even his father did not dare provoke.

Although he could resist the Sloan family's attacks in terms of business, he was afraid of pushing them and the Mioune family the northwest together. It would be detrimental to the entire Petr family. It was why he chose to shut down Normier Group.

Isadora looked up, her face full of displeasure. "What does it have to do with me? Go talk to my dad!"

Nalarov made a sound of acknowledgment and just left, his expression cold.

Violet could not believe it. “But..... But Drakonia practices monogamy, right?”

Chapter 1252

Hearing what Isadora said, everyone at the table fell into contemplative/silence. Melody was particularly moved, suddenly feeling a sense of enlightenment. Ever since she became involved with Nash, she had been earnestly playing the role of his girlfriend .

However, occasionally, when she quieted her mind, she would have random thoughts. At the end of the day, Nash and Hera were bound by their marital status while she was just the third party. She had had some reservations, but at this moment, those reservations seemed to disappear.

“Mr. Calcraft, I’m very interested in Southern Heavens

Pharmaceuticals. Is there an investment opportunity?” Isadora looked at Nash expectantly.

On the way to Xanthalos, she had her father investigate Nash. Her father’s assessment of Nash was that he was unfathomable. If could befriend him, one should, but if not, then one must absolu not offend him.

A company that prompted Isadora to take the initiative had to be an exceptional one.

"It's just a pharmaceutical company," Nash said.

Theo scoffed. "Of course, I know it's a pharmaceutical company. What I mean is, what kind of drugs does it mainly produce?"

After pondering for a moment, Nash cut straight to the point. "I've given Southern Heavens Pharmaceuticals over 30 prescriptions, including ones for beauty and skincare, cancer cell inhibition, height increase, weight loss, treatment for athlete's foot, kidney tonics, hair loss treatment, and so on..."

Violet suddenly laughed. "Nash, there are already so many of these types of drugs on the market. And your list is too mixed and messy. Are you sure you can handle it?"

"My prescriptions are all made with elixirs. They take effect in as as one day," Nash declared confidently.

"Take effect in one day? You're exaggerating." Violet shook her head, feeling disappointed in this scion of the Young family.

"What's there to boast about? It's like your uterine condition. With one needling session, I'll be able to cure you completely," Nash replied as he glanced at Violet lightly.

Nash turned around to see that Sienna had already changed into a sexy camisole. Her fair and tender shoulders were exposed, and the faint fragrance from her body tantalized Nash's senses.

"Are you sure you just want me to look over your condition?" Nash stared at Sienna with a half-smile. With her flushed complexion and ample vitality, she did not look sick at all.

Clutching her abdomen, Sienna put on an expression of pain. "My stomach doesn't feel too good. Can you please take a look?"

Nash shrugged. "If your stomach doesn't feel well, just drink some hot water."

Seeing that Nash was not falling for it, Sienna did not bother pretending anymore. She grabbed Nash's wrist and said, "Actually, I prepared a gift for you. If you come to my room, I'll give it to you. That gift wouldn't happen to be you, would it?" Nash gave her a knowing look.

Though Sienna was alluring, she was not that alluring that he would jump into bed with her.

"Oh, I really did prepare a gift for you. Please come with me!" Sienna pleaded, holding onto Nash's arm while acting coquettishly.

Nash could not help but laugh wryly. A woman's coquettishness was

It was a huge favor, and all he could offer in return was a promise.

Sienna smiled sweetly. “That’s right. When you become stronger, you can protect me... and my sisters, Hera and Melody.”

Nash accepted the box and pinched Sienna’s bouncy cheeks lightly, chuckling. “You have a shoot tomorrow, so get some proper rest today.”

With that, he turned and left with the box.

“Nash!” Sienna called out.

Nash paused, turning to look at her.

Blushing, Sienna said, “It’s nothing. You can go ahead.”

Nash smiled. He then opened the door and left.

Dejected, Sienna sat on the couch, patting her chest to calm her restless heart. She almost confessed to Nash just now. Suddenly, the doorbell rang, and Sienna’s eyes lit up. Could Nash return? Without even bothering to put on her shoes, she hurried over to open the door. “Nash-”

Violet was in disbelief. Why would Isadora apologize to Sienna? Sienna was clearly at fault. With Isadora's strength, there was no need for her to fear Sienna!

Isadora's apology was unexpected to even Nash, and he could not help but think more highly of her.

"I was also at fault. I apologize to you too. I'm sorry!" Sienna said softly

Nash breathed a sigh of relief. "Let's not make a mountain out of a molehill. We're all friends here. No need for arguments!"

Isadora nodded. "Mr. Calcraft is right. I really just brought Violet over for treatment!"

"You guys go back to your room first. I'll come over later to check on her," Nash replied indifferently. He was not very keen on treating

In Violet's room at the Empire Hotel, Isadora was sitting on the swing by the floor-to-ceiling window, gazing at the river. Violet was sitting on the couch, arms wrapped around a cushion. She was indignant.

“Dora, you’re the future queen of Henley City. Can’t you tap into that queenly aura of yours and get Nash under control?”

In Henley City, both sides of the law trembled in fear at the sight of Isadora. However, she was like a completely different person today, and Violet was confused.

Isadora smiled faintly. “Violet, do you know why your brother didn’t let you stay at Universal Group and instead sent you back to the country to look for Nash?”

Violet pursed her lips. “My brother worries about my safety and wants Nash to protect me. But I don’t need his protection. You can protect me too!”

The martial arts experts of the Sloan family in Henley City had the power to dominate the martial arts world if mobilized. She did not understand where Nash’s arrogance came from.

Isadora smiled and remained silent. She took out her phone, opened WhatsApp, and tapped on her father’s profile picture. She loaded the chatbox to send a message: [How’s Universal Group’s current situation?]

Isaac replied: [The Hughes family has acquired 30% of the shares. Fabian will likely be the chairman.]

Isadora was surprised and replied: [How did he manage to do that?]

Isaac: [Nash.]

Isaac replied: [Nash transferred the Universal Foundation to Fabian, who then pulled out all the shares of the foundation. Plus, with the support of the business families he’s connected with, his shareholding has

Violet and Isadora both looked at Nash in shock. In their eyes, he had just barely done anything. Isadora clearly could not believe her eyes. She sat beside Violet and asked, "Violet, how do you feel now?"

Violet rubbed her abdomen. "I feel good, like being cuddled by a soft baby."

At first, she doubted Nash's medical skills, but it seemed now that this man really knew what he was doing.

Isadora fixed her beautiful eyes on Nash. "Mr. Calcraft, I have a friend who suffers from an old problem. Could you treat him as well?"

After hesitating for a moment, Nash replied, "Tell me about the symptoms."

"He used to be a martial artist but later went astray in his cultivation. It resulted in his right arm being disabled and his muscles atrophying."

Isadora looked at Nash expectantly.

More than 20 middle-aged and elderly men in suits slowly emerged with printed documents in their hands.

Xeno stepped out of the driver’s seat and opened the door for Hera while Finn and Ken got out of another black Mercedes-Benz. Both men were impeccably dressed and followed Hera closely.

Not far away, there was a Rolls–Royce where Grant, Walter, and Olivia were in. The windows were rolled down, and the three of them looked at Hera with different expressions.

Olivia chuckled softly. “I never thought Hera would grow up so fast...”

“Grant and I deserve credit for that!” Walter boasted.

Olivia, puzzled, asked, “Don’t you both have daughters? Why didn’t you raise them according to the same standards?”

Grant solemnly replied, “They’re spoiled, but Hera is different. She’s endured so many hardships, and her family was also almost wiped out. Fortunately, she had Nash by her side, who helped her hide that toughness.

Eight MPVS from Southern Heavens Pharmaceuticals were parked in front of the east gate of the Jonford Sports Arena. Yasmin, Derek, Sydney, and Queenie were all frowning, engaged in a dispute with a group of people.

“We signed the lease contract seven days ago, and tomorrow is our press conference. Now you’re telling me you want to back out?” Sydney pointed at the person in charge of the arena angrily.

The person in charge, Dick Ackles, replied indifferently, “Hondur Pharmaceuticals is the leading company in the pharmaceutical industry in Jonford. Other pharmaceutical companies are eager to delay their product releases for their sake.

“Where do you get the courage to hold your event on the same day as Hondur Pharmaceuticals?”

Queenie sneered, “We’ll hold our event whenever we want. Is that a concern of yours? What we need to solve now is the venue for our event!”

Dick chuckled. “Sorry, we’ve already rented the entire arena to Hondur Pharmaceuticals. If you want to hold your event, wait until the day after tomorrow!”

“To hell with the day after tomorrow!” Derek swung a punch. He had been simmering with anger for a long time. Now, seeing the person in charge being in the wrong yet being so arrogant, he instantly boiled over.
