

CEO Bride 128

Chapter 128

"Alright, it's getting late. Go and get some rest!"

Haspard waved his hand without intending to converse much more with Geoffrey.

If the father would not spoil his own son, he, as the grandfather, absolutely had to.

Geoffrey helplessly shook his head and then left the old man's study.

Meanwhile, Haspard took out his phone to start making a call.

In the Lanes household, Howard was also sitting in his own study, sulking.

"Grandpa, that guy called Nash isn't so easy to deal with, right?"

Simon had his hands in his pockets, his face incredibly gloomy.

He was currently the leader of the ninth branch of the Green Bamboo Association.

With Crow around, he could completely ignore the affairs of Causeway Bay.

Crow was dead,

to avenge Crow but was stopped by his grandfather.

has extraordinary medical skills. He first healed Walter Watson's wife, then cured Philix King! The Lees, Zakariah, and the National Association of Priests all show him the utmost respect. His network has already exceeded my imagination...

feeling a sense of deep powerlessness welling up within the Ten Juggernauts? Perhaps

Green Bamboo Association

was fundamental foundation of the

the chief head of the association had the authority to mobilize these Ten Juggernauts.

fell silent for a moment before slowly saying, "It seems like that's the only way... I once took a knife day, Hera brought Nash to the company early in the morning.

entrance of the company, Hera noticed that the security guards in the security room had 50s, but now, they were replaced by two young men in head to look at Nash. "Did you do his head and said, "No... and I've never seen these two men guards saw the CEO and security manager outside and hurriedly came out to greet them.

frowned and asked, "What's

"Ms. Lewis, we were transferred here from the headquarters!"

"Why don't I know about this?"

Hera took out her phone and called her mother.

"Mom, why did you replace the security guards at my company?"

"Yes, I did. I replaced them to block you!"

"Block me?" Hera thought she had misheard.

"Your father and I discussed it. Today is your birthday, after all, so we want to give you the day off. If we had told you in advance, you definitely wouldn't have agreed, so we simply had the security guards block you outside!"

"But... I have several meetings today!"

"I've arranged everything for you, I'm heading to the company now. Gotta go!" Lauren quickly hung up the phone.

Hera shook her head helplessly, then walked straight toward the gate.

The security guards stretched out their hands to block Her. "Ms. Lewis, Ms. Mare said not to let you in today!"

"Get out of my way!"