

CEO Bride 129

Chapter 129

Hera spoke with a cold expression.

“Ms. Lewis, please don’t make this difficult for us!”

“Yeah, Ms. Lewis. Ms. Mare has issued strict orders. If we let you in, we won’t receive a penny of our salary this month!”

The two security guards sounded like they were about to cry.

Hera held her forehead with one hand and said to Nash, “You pull them aside...”

Nash touched his nose, smiling as he said, “They’re having a hard time as well. Let’s just let it go!”

After all, Lauren and Harrison had already informed him about this matter.

Hera glared at Nash and said, “Did you all conspire this together?”

At that moment, Lauren drove up in a white Audi.

Dressed in a white professional outfit, she stepped out of the car and said, “You guys came here so early. You must’ve skipped breakfast, right?”

Harrison, with slicked-back hair and dark circles under his eyes, also got out of the car.

He handed a brand new LV bag to Hera. “This is the birthday gift I prepared for you!”

bag. “Oh my god, Dad! How masterful handcrafted decorations. It she had never thought of buying such cards from her bag. “These are the membership cards your father and I got from various shopping malls and entertainment venues in Jonford. You two to you. Make sure she has worry, Lauren. I’ll take good care of birthday has been postponed, you still bought me gifts. What guys go and have fun. Your mother and I need Lauren’s hand and headed toward the over to the Maserati, opened the door, and made a gentlemanly gesture, did you learn that was flushed, but she felt sweet

from you. Have you into the driver's seat. He started the engine and asked, "Where in front of the taxi and paid the driver, she walked over to the passenger seat of their car and said, "You guys are going out and you're

Nash's smile froze.

Skadi

going to be a third wheel?

was just about to call

of the car and joined Skadi in the back

Nash sighed in disappointment.

Hera had never been in a relationship or gone out on a date, so she did not pay attention to these things.

After she got into the passenger seat earlier, Hera really intended to call Skadi and ask her if she wanted to join them.

The two of them were flipping through Lauren's membership cards in the back seat.

Skadi took out one that had two boxers printed on it and said, "Didn't you want to watch a boxing match? This card is a diamond membership for the Dragon Might International Boxing Center. We can get tickets at a 70% discount!"

Hera looked at Nash cautiously. "Nash... Can we... go watch a boxing match?"

Nash made a face. "What's there to watch? It's just shadowboxing!"

Skadi excitedly said, "Today's the weekend, so there are several women's boxing matches!"

"International Boxing Competition... It won't hurt to watch..."

∪

Nash quietly entered Dragon Might Boxing Center into the navigation and then drove away.

As they passed by a breakfast chain store, Skadi took out a membership card, intending to take the two of them to eat breakfast first.

After breakfast, the three of them bought tickets and entered the Dragon Might Boxing Center.