

CEO Bride 1304

Chapter 1304

The Empire Hotel was bustling with activity. On the eighth floor was the public hall, spacious enough to accommodate 30 tables.

However, Nash had instructed for only ten tables to be set up.

With so few guests in recent days, the hotel staff had been idle and did not prepare any extra food.

The sudden need for a banquet threw the entire hotel into a frenzy. Shanice almost wore out the intercom trying to coordinate everything.

Eight graceful hostesses stood on either side of the hotel entrance in dresses sporting high slits. Their shapely figures were eye-catching, their legs revealing pale, fair skin.

As three Rolls-Royces that cost millions pulled into the parking lot, Shanice, and the hostesses immediately snapped to attention. It was rare for the Empire Hotel to receive Rolls-Royce owners cars, led

Even if you praise him endlessly, I won't be swayed. I'm fond of the prodigy we got from Horton City. Irvine managed to achieve the grandmaster status at the age of 25! If it weren't for your call, I'd be attending his

Lulu Clarke, the wealthy daughter of the Clarke family in Cazadibe. At only marriage, she found no interest in ordinary men. In the entirety of Cazadine, Irvine Baker was the only one who managed might be remarkably talented, but compared to Mr. Calcraft, in the afternoon. Nash had faced the entire Southern Martial Alliance without hesitation. The King of Eastjon, the Lord of Henley, as well as the Murphys, had willingly bowed to and business families departed, everyone believed Nash

Nash left

experts. There was no further news from the Southern Martial footage of the area had been taken