Dragon Might Boxing Center.

"Damn it... Damn it!"

Kai grabbed his hair frantically. His eyes were crimson, and he looked ready to kill.

He had cast the net for three years, and when it was finally time to pull it back in, two unexpected factors appeared.

Nash and Theo.

They were two individuals who he did not dare lay a hand on either.

It was the first time Helena saw Kai so angry. She was too scared to speak.

Duncan's face was as pale as paper, and it was a long time before he slowly breathed in and tried consoling the man, "Kai, don't worry. We still have the Tiger vs Phoenix Competition!"

Nash really knew the Smiling Grim Reaper,

Duncan squeezed his chin with one hand and murmured, "Theo is likely the one who knows the Smiling Grim Reaper. It's not them who's targeting us but Theo. But why did Nash bet so much?"

Helena took over the conversation and said, "Isn't he Bianca's coach now? It's not unusual for him to support Bianca, but where did this trash get that money?"

Kai regained his composure and answered lightly, "He earned three billion from my family and then another billion from treating the warden."

Back at the ring, when Kai did not come down to present the award after a long time had passed, the host said enthusiastically again, "Mr. Kai is the heir of the wealthiest family in Jonford. It's only natural that he has a lot of work. I hope everyone understands!"

The moment he said that, Kai left the second floor with Helena and Duncan.

They did not even look at the arena as they made their way straight for the elevator.

A large number of media reporters followed them, but they were all stopped by Kai's bodyguards.

The elevator door opened, and Queenie came out eating a lollipop. She beamed when she saw Kai and asked, "Kai, are you done with the match?"

She had no interest in boxing and only came here today to see who won the Phoenix Crown.

Kai walked into the elevator expressionlessly while surrounded by a group of bodyguards as if he did not see Queenie.
