

CEO Bride 165

Chapter 165

Hera was moved to tears. She held on to Nash's hand tightly, warm and fuzzy feelings washing over her.

The table soon became laden with wine and food.

The food prepared for this birthday celebration was the same standard as when Theo invited Nash to dinner.

Every dish ranged between eighteen thousand dollars and several hundred thousand dollars.

All the wines served were also from high-end, desired brands.

Sienna had invited a famous piano maestro to perform the birthday song.

She also poured drinks for everyone present.

Hera's classmates were in awe. It was a birthday celebration, but they felt they were bringing honor to their families.

After Hera, Skadi, and everyone else had eaten and drunk to their heart's content, they asked to take pictures with Sienna and the piano maestro.

Naturally, Sienna was not one to turn down such simple requests.

She returned to her room to change outfits and touch up her makeup.

maored in photography, and she took on the responsibility of taking pictures.

session went on for a

had begun posting and bragging on social media.

Royalty Room, hosted by A-list actress Sienna Lowe, and had the chance to watch a piano maestro grabbed everyone's attention.

o'clock that night...

show lit up the sky above

seen from almost everywhere in and Hera stood in the middle of the heart made from roses arranged on the grassy land opposite the Chateau Hotel. Hera snuggled into Nash's splendorous sight in the sky, Hera whispered, celebration allowed her to feel like she was forehead as he whispered, "Did you like it?"

No girl could resist something as

how are you going to do you want me to thank you?"
to lose her balance panic. "What... what corner of Nash's lips curled upward, and he leaned forward to her eyes fluttered shut and entire body stiffened, and
It was her first kiss.

Nash had kissed her for the first time, and she had not even had any time to prepare herself for it.

Nash did not seem like someone who knew much about kissing either. All he did was press his cool lips to Hera's warm ones.

He did not do anything else.

"Nash... Hera..."

Skadi walked over without warning.

When she saw how intimate the two were, she immediately stopped. "Ahem... Uh... Sorry for the disturbance!"

Hera came to her senses and shoved Nash away, blushing furiously as she turned away.

Nash gave Skadi a displeased look. "Is something wrong?"

Skadi said, "There's a large truck outside. I think it's a delivery for you!"

She was curious about what Nash could have bought that it needed to be delivered in such a large truck.

Nash stood and took Hera's hand. A smile appeared on his face. "Come on, let's go unwrap the present I bought for you!"