

CEO Bride 174

Chapter 174

More than a dozen doctors kept their heads low in silence.

Apart from those who were outside the villa, the lightly wounded bodyguards managed to scrape through with their lives.

The Lewises who were in the villa, however, had a large amount of toxins in their blood and were already suffering from severe poisoning on the way to the hospital.

Despite employing all sorts of resuscitation methods, they were unable to save their lives.

Governor Jade called for an emergency meeting using the hospital's office.

Nash also attended this meeting.

Mr. Dean was the one reporting on the casualties of the Lewis family members.

"Hubert's and Harrison's families are all safe! Herman is in a coma from severe injuries, and it's estimated he won't survive until tomorrow morning!

"All other members of the Lewis family have died!

"29 of the Lewises' hired bodyguards have also died!"

“This is outrageous!”

The two patrollers even drew their guns. It was clear they were serious now.

The people in the meeting room were shocked by the scene.

Henderson looked at Angelica, and his brows furrowed in anger. “Which team are you from? What are you doing?”

As he spoke, he glared fiercely at the two patrollers.

They could not even guard a door. Were they trying to make him lose face in front of the governor?

Angelica held up the plastic bag and said, “I have a report for the chief. My name is Angelica White, and I’m a member of the ninth team. I’m here to report an important situation!”

The two male patrollers were pale with fright from looking at the sealed bag.

Henderson was very angry now. He slammed the table and roared. “Can’t you see I’m in a meeting? Didn’t your team leader teach you any rules?”

Without waiting for Angelica to speak, he said to the two male team members, “What are you two doing? You can’t even guard a door?! Get her out now!”

The two male patrollers walked up to Angelica, one on each side, and held her arms.
