

CEO Bride 177

Chapter 177

Henderson nodded and said, "I'll contact the relevant department tomorrow. With the cooperation of the armed department, capturing Sky Blade will be a piece of cake!"

Hearing this, Angelica quickly replied, "We currently don't have direct evidence proving the explosion is related to Sky Blade. If we start a war with them now, it'll only lead to more deaths!"

Others might not know the strength of Sky Blade, but she was fully aware. Sky Blade was equipped with illegal advanced technology and weaponry. If a battle broke out, there would undoubtedly be massive casualties.

Nash also spoke up, saying, "I wouldn't advise you to engage with Sky Blade before the truth is uncovered!"

The fighting power of mercenary groups was very formidable. With an array of advanced technology and weaponry, a hundred -man team could withstand a force of a thousand.

Jade said to Henderson, "Let's follow Mr. Calcraft's advice. You guys should quickly find out who the culprit of the bombing incident is and bring them to justice!"

Henderson nodded solemnly. "Governor, rest assured. We won't let any culprit go unpunished!"

After the meeting, Nash went to Harrison's hospital ward where he was resting.

Hera was the only one in the ward, sitting by her father's bedside.

Seeing Nash come in, Hera's tears began to flow again.

Nash walked over to Hera, held her in his arms, and gently comforted her by saying, "Hera, you have to accept this and move on."

this

had just celebrated her birthday, and everything

at

the Lewis family's relatives were knew that her grandfather would have a hard very hard for her to this is because of me... I've let the Lewises taken him out of Young Family Village, which led to the persecution by the Kleins.

predicament of the Lewises today was

"Cough, cough..."

lying on the sickbed,
of Nash, wiped her tears,
took a deep breath and asked,
ICU taking care of Grandpa!"
box? Where's your grandpa's box?"
asked with some urgency.
so hard

table by the window. "Grandpa's box is there, Harrison finally breathed a sigh of relief.
door and walked in.

Harrison tried to sit up, but Lauren added, "He wants to see Nash alone and doesn't want any of us to be there!"

Upon hearing this, Harrison lay back down.

Lauren looked at Nash and said, "It seems the old man has regained his memory. Go see him!"

Nash nodded and turned to leave.

Only then did Hera and Lauren notice a large burn on Nash's back.

Hubert walked out of the ICU.

Rooney immediately asked, "How's the old fart?"

Helena frowned and said, "My grandpa is on his last breath. Can't you show some respect?"

Rooney awkwardly scratched her head. "Alright, alright. You're right, my good daughter. He's still my father-in-law..."

Hubert sighed, saying, "Both directors said the old man won't make it till tomorrow morning. Even Nash can't do anything!"

Rooney was inwardly pleased but did not show it.

Hubert continued, "There's something else I have to tell you. The old man seems to have regained his memory, and he wants to see Nash..."

Rooney's eyebrows shot up, and she said anxiously, "Given the old man's regard for Nash, the old man's inheritance might fall into Harrison's hands!"

Helena lightly parted her lips and said, "Even at this critical moment, you're still thinking about Grandpa's inheritance. Once Kai and I are married, do you think we'll be short of those tens of millions?"