

CEO Bride 179

Chapter 179

The family was one of Jonford's Five Elites, a business titan.

Their assets were worth over ten billion.

With this deal completed, how could the boss not give out bonuses?

In the ICU unit, upon hearing that Nash was about to marry Hera, Herman was so moved that tears streamed from the corners of his eyes.

Faintly, through the tears, he seemed to see a blurry bright light.

"Grandpa, what exactly is Young Family Village?"

"Who were my parents?"

"Why did they offend the Kleins?"

"And why did the Kleins exterminate the entire Young Family Village?"

Nash took the chance to voice all the doubts in his heart.

Youngs were a family of grave robbers... They were an ancient family that was around since ancient times. Others often said

Olivia walked in with the stylist, who was dragging two huge suitcases.

After a brief glance at Nash, the stylist quickly found a fitting suit.

Nash simply said, "Let's have a traditional Somer wedding..."

The Youngs were a long-standing lineage that had been around for thousands of years and lived in seclusion in a mountain village.

When people from the Young family got married, they likely followed traditional Somer wedding ceremonies.

The stylist opened the other suitcase and took out a set of red traditional wedding clothes.

Olivia noticed that Herman's forehead veins were popping out on the sickbed and guessed that he was probably hanging on with his last breath.

She quickly ran to inform Hera to wear a traditional Somer wedding dress.

Just 30 seconds after Olivia left, the heart rate monitor sounded an alarm, and the curve on the screen flatlined.

The stylist frowned, deep regret spreading across his face.
