

CEO Bride 181

Chapter 181

"We, Nash Calcraft and Hera Lewis, are ever grateful to have been allowed the chance to meet each other!" the young lad shouted loudly.

Nash and Hera repeated the words while facing the hospital bed.

"Due to special circumstances, I invite the bride and groom to pay their respects to Mr. Lewis! "We thank him for his love that's as vast as the ocean."

Hera could not stop crying. She closed her eyes and lowered her head humbly.

There was no expression on Nash's face. He followed Hera solemnly and lowered his head to the old man.

"Our gratitude to him is as heavy on our shoulders as a mountain!

"Finally, we wish him the greatest happiness!"

The old man was almost at the end of his life, which was also a blessing. No one thought it was improper.

When Harrison and his wife heard these words, tears instantly fell from their eyes.

The makeup on Hera's face had run with her tears.

and groom will face each other and say their vows. They will promise to stay together, die together, and faint smile appeared on the

and

the ring that Olivia stretched out her left hand.

on it

also slid the man's ring

and wish the bride and man clapped his hands and applauded. Everyone outside also started and groom but also to let Herman feel the atmosphere of a point, the simple wedding was over.

the same time, Herman slowly turned his gaze, everyone noticed that he was looking at a mother-and-son 50s, and she was Lewis's caretaker, Maria. The lived in a rented house outside every night, she escaped the disaster.

and her son found out about the tragedy that occurred at the Lewis family's residence, they rushed over with no delay.

tears streaking down her cheeks when she saw Herman, whom she had served

Adam took out the real estate certificate for Royal Bay Villa from his pocket and walked into the ward. He then said to Nash and Hera with a serious expression, "After the Lewis family's estate exploded, the chairman called me for the last time and asked me to give the villa in Royal Bay to you as a birthday present, Miss Hera!"

The villa in Royal Bay was originally meant to be sold, so the name on the real estate certificate had not been changed.

Herman had promised it as a gift to Hera to make things up to her.

Adam continued, "The chairman looked at me just now. He means for me to give Royal Bay Villa to you as your wedding gift."

This villa in Royal Bay was practically the entirety of Herman's assets.

It was not only Hera's birthday present but also her and Nash's wedding present.

Adam handed over the real estate certificate to Hera.

Hera accepted the real estate certificate with trembling hands, only for it to feel heavy in her grasp.

When Herman saw that the real estate certificate had been handed over to Hera, he slowly closed his eyes.

The line on the heart rate monitor next to him slowly became straight.

N